- FORT STORY TELLINGS -CAPE HENRY SHRINE

FORT STORY, request for the use of land around the Cape Henry Memorial Cross to improve the facilities for visitors was approved by the Army, Fort Story authorities announced February 1.

The National Park Service had requested the use of the land located on the Fort Story Military Reservation, for the construction of a 1,000 seat amphitheater, a landing apron, and some concrete sidewalks and a parking lot.

The permanent parking lot will only accommodate 28 automobiles, but — during the Cape Henry celebration on April 26 — additional parking space will be made available.

The National Park Service now owns only a quarter of an acre of ground around the Cape Henry Memorial Cross and plans for the development of a three or four acre site now that approval for the use of new land has been given.

Because Fort Story is an Army Transportation Corps installation, permission for the use of the land came from the Office of the Chief of Transportation in Washington, D. C. The Norfolk District Office of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers has accomplished the necessary paper work and legal description of the land and expected to mail the permit to the park service last week.

George F. Emery, assistant superintendent of the Colonial National Historical Park at Yorktown, said that bids for the $10,000 project will be invited this week.

Financed by the National Park Service and the Department of Interior, plans call for no building construction. Emery said the program entails construction of walks and a parking area and planting of some shrubbery.

The landing apron, he said, will be "something simple" and will be used primarily for the April 26 pilgrimage.

Emery said bids will be opened by the end of this month and work should begin near March 1. He estimated the job would take from 30 to 45 days.

Colonel George E. Woods, Jr., Fort Story commanding officer, has promised the post's cooperation.

HENDRICKSON SPEAKS

An officer who is described by Army officials at Fort Story as "Mr. BARC" addressed the 5th Naval District Intelligence Component reserve organization in Norfolk Monday.

Captain George E. Hendrickson, plans and training officer of Fort Story's 14th Transportation Battalion, has been with the BARCs since their first major test at Fort Story in mid-1953.

His topic was "U. S. Army BARCs and their Background."

According to Hendrickson, early tests on the BARCs proved so successful that 14 more of the giant 98-ton amphibious barges have been ordered. The craft, which are capable of hauling greater than their own weight in cargo on land and sea, may begin to arrive early this summer.

Hendrickson was chief test engineer at Fort Story's test station of the Army Transportation Research and Development Command when the first experimental BARC—the 1-X—arrived at the post. He accompanied the 1-X to France, for its first operational maneuver in early 1954. He accompanied the first BARCs to operate in the Far North.

Captain and Mrs. Hendrickson live on Horseshoe Drive in Virginia Beach. Captain Hendrickson received a battlefield commission in the South Pacific in 1945. He has attended the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Husband, Wife Awarded
Lead Roles in New Drama

Williamsburg, Va. — A husband and wife dramatic team has been awarded the husband-and-wife leading roles in "The Founders," Paul Green's new historic drama of the Jamestown settlement.

James Moffatt of Lexington, Va., has been selected to portray John Rolfe, and his wife, June, will play Pocahontas. It was Rolfe, who, by developing a new cure for tobacco, gave Virginia a much-needed stable commodity; the Indian maid saved the life of Captain John Smith. The marriage of Rolfe and Pocahontas in April, 1614, was the basis for a period of peaceful relations between the English settlers and the once hostile natives.

"The Founders," presented by the Jamestown Corporation, producers of "The Common Glory," will open May 13 in Williamsburg. The new outdoor drama by the Pulitzer prize winning author will be given as a feature of the 1957 Jamestown Festival in "The Cove," a new amphitheatre facing Lake Matoaka on the campus of the College of William and Mary. The eight-month-long celebration, from April 1 through November 30, will mark the 350th anniversary of the founding of the first permanent English settlement in America.

The Moffatts, who are both on the faculty of Southern Seminary and Junior College in Buena Vista, Va., have appeared in "The Common Glory." In 1951 James played the patriot Roger Sherman and in the following year he received acclaim for his stirring portrayal of the fiery Patrick Henry, a role he repeated successfully last summer. June has appeared in the summertime production for the past two seasons as a dancer.

Surf Queens Move Up AAU League Standings

The Virginia Beach Surf Queens and the Snow White Dairies won two games each last weekend against two invading Richmond teams. The two victories by the Surf Queens over Pearl Laundry and the Virginia Dairy girls lifted them from last to second place in the Women's State AAU Basketball League.

In the opener of a doubleheader on the Fort Story court, Saturday afternoon, the Surf Queens squeaked by the Pearl Laundry sextette in the last twenty seconds, on a quick jump shot from behind the foul line by Topey Dahn, with a 34-34 victory. Dahn with 11 points led the scoring for the Beach girls. Barbara Whitehead and Charlotte Marshall were right behind with 10 points each. Patsy Smith, who formerly played with the Richmond girls with 12 points. In the second game, Snow White the State Champion, routed Virginia Dairies 59-30 as Donna Doyle got 18 points. Bobo McCarter got 13 to pace the Dairy girls scoring.

On Saturday night in the Virginia Beach gym, Snow White set a new state scoring record by romping to a 71-38 victory over Pearl Laundry. The Surf Queens had established the old record with 65 points earlier in the season. Doyle again led Snow White with 18 points with Ann Thompson and Jean Holloman close behind with 14 and 13. Patsy Smith again led the Richmond wash-women with 19 points.

In the finale of the doubleheader, the Virginia Beach Surf Queens came from behind to turn back the Virginia Dairy girls 46-38 as Carol Kent went on a scoring spree for 30 points. This was the highest individual mark for the four league games played. Besides her 20 points, she was a thorn to her opponents all night, intercepting passes, rebounding and feeding to Topey Dahn who registered 14 points.

This weekend, the Surf Queens journey to Richmond to meet Vets-Vans and the Arvarettes in league play on Saturday. Snow White meets the Arvarettes in Richmond on Sunday afternoon.

SCANNING THE NEWS

THE result of the presidential election, Nov. 6th may very well be determined in the agricultural mid-west, the nation's breadbasket, with both presidential candidates bidding for the farm vote as the prize which may turn the victory one way or another.

President Eisenhower's strategy in selecting Peoria, Ill., for his major farm speech, rather than the annual plowing contest in Iowa, as originally scheduled, may backfire, or again it may prove to have been a smart move on his part. Only time will tell. There is no question but that the huge farm audience which gathered at the plowing contest to hear the president make a farm speech, was "let down" when the President announced that he would make his farm speech later, and his audience was given a speech on generalities. In selecting Peoria, the President chose a very rich farming community, a trading center for a prosperous and diversified farm area.

Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic standard bearer, chose to make his agricultural pitch in an open field, and in an area where drought, hail and insects, had added to the woes of the unhappy farmers on top of falling prices. Both candidates avoided specifics. Mr. Stevenson vigorously attacked the record of the Eisenhower administration, and Secretary Ezra Taft Benson on administration of the farm program, and the promises made by the President at Kasson, Minn., four years ago. Stevenson contended himself with promising 90% support of parity; that he would find a way to assure the farmers income parity as well as price parity; that he would work for a food stamp plan, a stepped-up school lunch program, a world food bank to get rid of food surpluses, and he attacked the administration on the soil bank program, declaring the administration was subsidizing the farmer in an election year and that the soil bank program was a Democratic program anyway. He failed to go into specifics on any of these programs, saying he would draw up a bill of particulars later in the campaign.

President Eisenhower at Peoria, declared he stood on his record, that farm prices were on the up-grade, that he was sure that farmers, as Americans, were interested in something beside farm prices; that farmers were making progress, but there were penalties to be paid for this progress. He spoke of a "free" Agriculture, and assailed Democratic "regimentation", but he hailed the soil bank program which requires and depends upon government controls. He placed blame for agricultural woes on Democrats and said that his administration inherited these woes; he claimed credit for what he termed the brighter side of the picture — increased value of land, higher farm assets, fewer farm mortgages. He blamed the Democrats for fall of farm prices after the Korean war, but at the same time blamed Democrats for persistence in keeping price supports on, which were preventing farm prices from falling sooner and further. Mr. Eisenhower also failed to be specific about a new farm program.

City-Owned Convention Hall Best

After more than a year of negotiations and after running into the proverbial "red tape," the Virginia Beach City Council has taken a wise move, we think, in passing a resolution that would abandon plans for a city convention hall that would be partially financed by State and Federal funds. Instead the city fathers would ask the taxpayer to vote on a bond issue that would insure construction of the convention hall and building's use would be entirely a matter of the City of Virginia Beach.

City officials have worked diligently with State and Federal authorities in attempting to secure a convention hall-armory type building, and eventually the project might have become a reality. However, there are many aspects that must be considered in such an undertaking.

It is believed by many that a wholly city financed convention hall will prove out best in the long run. We certainly share this view for many reasons.

Besides the delay caused by trying to save a few dollars in the construction of the building by securing State and Federal funds, use of the building at all times might have been restricted by the fact that the military would want to use the building. However, this was not the primary reason for abandoning the original plans. Since negotiations were started Federal funds for such projects were abruptly "frozen" by Washington.

If the city is able to construct the building with its own funds it can be made more suitable for conventions since it would not have to be adapted for possible use by the military.

We are in complete accord with the resolution adopted by the City Council at its last meeting. We should, and must proceed with plans for a convention hall which this resort city definitely needs to meet competition and maintain its economy.

County Needs Own Medical Examiner

We strongly urge that Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach have its own medical examiner, or coroner. At the present time the county and city is being represented by a medical examiner who also represents Norfolk County.

It is true that this situation has only existed a relatively short time with the recent resignation of Dr. H. F. Dormire from the position. However, we feel that a replacement should be secured as quickly as possible.

Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach have grown so much in recent years that the services of a full-time medical examiner for the beach and county is a necessity.

We feel certain that one will be appointed and we urge that this be done as quickly as is possible.

A Fine Public Servant Will Retire

The announcement last week that Mrs. Rosalene F. Simpson will retire as superintendent of the Princess Anne County Welfare Department effective March 15 concluding a public career filled with devotion and accomplishment is a distinct loss to the county and this area.

Mrs. Simpson has served in welfare work for many years and is regarded as an outstanding personality in that field. She has compiled a remarkable record as operating head of the Princess Anne County department since 1950. Prior to her appointment as superintendent of the County Welfare Department Mrs. Simpson served as a supervisor in the welfare department of the City of Norfolk.

Mrs. Simpson has been a tireless worker and has demonstrated a keen responsibility to her work. Under her leadership the Princess Anne County Welfare Department has been a shining example of efficiency and a model for other counties throughout the State to follow.

The high degree of effectiveness of the Princess Anne County Welfare Department during the past several years can be traced primarily to the outstanding leadership and organizational ability given it by Mrs. Simpson.

In addition to her time consuming work with the welfare department, Mrs. Simpson has always found time to devote to many other organizations and activities of a civic nature in her community.

Mrs. Simpson has indicated that her decision to retire has been prompted by her desire to "take it easy" and to relax a little. Of those presently engaged in public service here and in the county we know of no one who deserves a little relaxation more than Mrs. Simpson. Her public career has been a busy one and a career that she can look upon with pride and satisfaction.

We will sorely miss Mrs. Simpson in welfare work but it is nice to know that she will continue to lend a guiding hand in all matters that help to improve our community.

Interesting Gubernatorial Situation

Interesting developments centering around the Virginia gubernatorial election next November have occupied the political news in recent days and we feel it is worthy of note and comment.

Ever since Virginia Attorney General J. Lindsay Almond, Jr., announced his candidacy for the governor's office there has been widespread speculation as to a Republican opponent to face him at the polls in November. Most observers, especially members of the Republican Party, felt that soon after Mr. Almond's announcement State Senator Ted Dalton, of Radford, who is referred to at times as "Mr. Republican" in Virginia, would be the GOP man to face Almond.

No such development has transpired up to this writing, and this week a Richmond newspaper editor stated that he "assumed"

Almond would be the State's next governor since, in his opinion, Mr. Dalton was not enthusiastic about running or facing Mr. Almond in an election. The following day Mr. Dalton was quoted in a news release as agreeing with the newspaper editor's summation of the political situation.

Mr. Dalton was quoted as saying that there was plenty of time between now and November. However, as "Mr. Republican" and as the logical one to represent that party it would seem that Mr. Dalton should be more positive in his position. We do not agree that there is plenty of time between now and November. The situation should be cleared as quickly as possible and it would be wise if Mr. Dalton took a stand so that the people will be informed on this important political matter.

Paper work will be cut for veteran-patients with service-connected disabilities that require long-term outpatient treatment, and for the "home town" doctors who treat them under Veterans Administration authorization.

The simplified method involves individually selected long-term patients and their doctors. VA said. About 40,000 doctors and 637,000 veterans are participating in the program.

1. Doctors caring for the sected chronic patients will receive authorization from VA to continue treatment for periods up to one year, instead of having to submit a monthly request to continue treatment as at present.

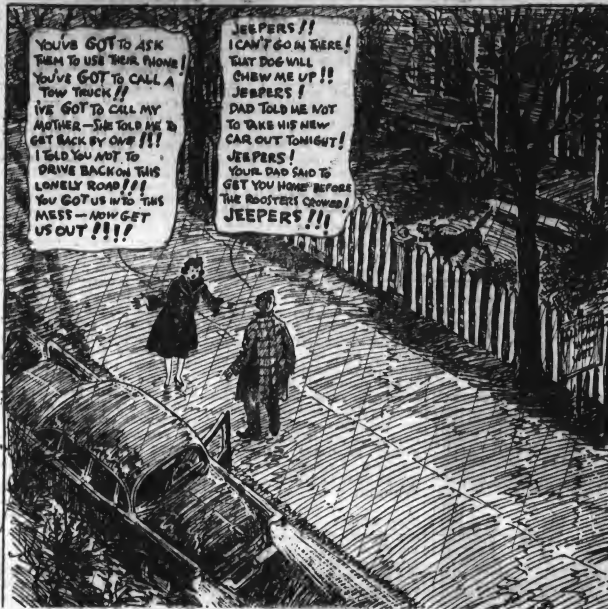

2. These doctors may submit reports to VA on the medical condition of patients at the end of three months instead of each month as at present. By cutting down on the frequency of reports, VA hopes doctors will have time to describe the medical condition of patients more fully.

3. These doctors may submit their monthly bills to a VA regional office on the individual doctor's letterhead stationery instead of on VA forms.

4. Certain veterans in the homeown program who must travel to cities near their homes to visit medical specialists will receive travel authorization to cover the entire authorized treatment period instead of monthly travel authorization as at present.

THE DARKEST NIGHT IN HISTORY

Economy in Administration

Figures released last week by the State Department of Education in Richmond revealed that Virginia Beach had the highest taxable wealth per school child than any city or county in the State of Virginia.

The figures showed that Virginia Beach topped the State in wealth with $54,522 per pupil with the City of Richmond second at a figure of $31,000.

At the same time figures released showed that Virginia Beach operated its school system at a cost of only $145 per pupil. This compares to $249 per pupil in Arlington County and $237 for each school child definitely that the Virginia Beach school system, despite the high figure in taxable wealth per pupil, is operated on a sound fiscal basis and with a low cost per pupil to the parent and the taxpayer.

The report bespeaks good administration on the part of school officials and this comparatively low cost of pupil education has been accomplished in times of expansion and growth never before experienced by this community.

Society for Cripples Hold Meeting

The Virginia Society for Crippled Children and adults will have an organizational meeting on February 14th at 8 p.m. in the Virginia Beach High School Library.

Walter C. Chapman, executive director of Virginia Society will be the speaker. The purpose of the Easter Seal is to assist medically - indigent crippled children and adults through a varied program of medical care treatment, education and recreation.

John A. Tucker Named Sports Man of Year

John A. Tucker, of Virginia Beach, was named "Man of the Year in Sports for 1956" as a highlight of the annual football jamboree of the Virginia Beach Sports Club held at the Oceana Naval Air Station.

Tucker was cited for his work in coaching the Surf Queens, a girls' basketball team which gained State and National fame in AAU meets.

The Virginia Beach sportsmen were guests of the Naval Air Station at Oceana, and Captain Henry Henderson Hale, commanding officer, welcomed the group.

Jack Lavelle, former Notre Dame grid star and a veteran scout for the New York football Giants, was the principal speaker.

Cynthia Malbon Hostess at Meet

The Cavalier Society of the Children of the American Revolution met at the home of Cynthia Malbon in Oceana on Sunday February 3rd at 3 o'clock with ten members present. The program was in honor of George Washington, Patriot and Father of Our Country. A revolutionary pistol used at the Battle of Yorktown, a silver spoon belonging to George Washington and a sample of Martha Washington's dress were exhibited at the meeting. Plans were made for the March meeting and for the program on American Indians which the C. A. R. will present at the meeting of the Princess Anne Chapter D. A. R. on March 18th.

Mrs. Winder Plans to Attend Alumnae Meeting

Mrs. Arthur J. Winder, 218-32nd Street, Virginia Beach, plans to attend the 34th annual Wellesley College Alumnae Council meeting on the campus in Wellesley, Mass., from February 7 through 9.

Some 300 Wellesley alumnae throughout the United States will comprise the Alumnae Council, representing classes, alumnae clubs and geographic fund committees. "In stride with Wellesley" is the theme of this year's meeting, planned to keep alumnae up-to-date on vital aspects of their college. Faculty, administrative officers and trustees will report on factors involved in the selection of students, on academic and building developments, and on the need for unrestricted gifts and for funds to increase faculty salaries.

In addition to taking part in workshop sessions, returning Wellesley graduates will have an opportunity to visit academic departments and to hear about student activities from undergraduate leaders.

Major speeches during the three-day Alumnae Council session will include a keynote address by Miss Margaret Chapp, second graduate of Wellesley to become its president, and a view of "Wellesley and Creative Arts" by Miss Santha Rama Rau, author who is an alumna of the college.

The importance of a liberal arts background for secondary school teaching will be discussed by a three-member panel consisting of Judson T. Shapiro, associate dean of the Harvard University Graduate School of Education; Mrs. Robert Ulrich, chairman of the department of Education at Wellesley; and Miss Catherine LaGuardia, member of the Wellesley Class of 1885 who is teaching in a secondary school.

Some people are like blotters—they soak up most everything, but always get it backwards.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From E. Sue Weiler, Clarkburg, W. Va.: I remember when we used to make sorghum molasses by grinding out the juice from cane stalks. We would take the cane mill down by the creek and set it up. A horse was hitched to a long beam and someone would ride the horse, usually a little type like myself, around and around all day grinding out cane juice. Don't know whether or not the horse ever got dizzy.

The boiler that the cane juice was cooked in was near the creek, too, and the skimmings were poured into the creek. How the fish ever survived is a mystery, for they were of the dirtiest green color until the syrup was nearly done. The finished product was fine enough and we put it in kegs for winter use on hot buckwheat cakes and also to make ginger bread. It sold for around fifty cents per gallon, now if one could purchase it at all, it would be four dollars a gallon.

The cane was always cut around the first of September before frost came.

From Lena Logue, Chandlerville, Illinois: I can remember when my mother knit all of the socks and mittens for my dad and brothers, and for me to wear to school in the winter, several years ago, as I am now 62.

I also remember when mother made apple butter in big iron kettles, a job that took all day. (Read contributions to this column to The Old Timer, Community Press Service, Box 28, Frankfort, Kentucky.)

Tax Burden Now $1,900 Per Family

Total government tax receipts in the U.S. are, for the first time in the country's history, reaching the $100 billion mark. This sum equals $1,900 for each American family.

Preliminary estimates by the Tax Foundation indicate a record-breaking collection of $99.8 billion. The $100 billion mark may be passed when a final figures are tabulated.

The early estimates calculated that the Federal government would collect $72 billion, the state governments nearly $15 billion, and local governments, $13 billion. The total was almost ten times as much as was collected by all levels of government only 20 years ago. At that time, the per family tax burden was an estimated $330.

Tax receipts were higher at all levels of government in fiscal 1946 than in the preceding year. At the Federal level they went up about $9 billion; at the state, about $2 billion, and only slightly less at the local level.

Evidence of the increased "take" at the Federal level are given in the figures for 1946. Federal tax receipts were $38 billion; by 1946 they had climbed to over $72 billion.

So far as we know local churches have not yet felt the results of any excessive contributions.

Bottled Beauty Aids May Be Dangerous to Many Fabrics

Beauty aids that come in bottles can often do more damage than good, according to American Institute of Laundering, research and educational center for the professional laundry industry.

Permanent wave solution, perfumes, colognes, deodorants, and nail polish often contain substances which are harmful to fabrics.

Stains from some permanent wave solutions, rinses and dries are almost impossible to remove when the garment is sent to be laundered. A. I. L. technicians suggest using old towels and wearing old garments during the application of a home permanent wave, since the solution has a tendency to destroy dyes as it dries in the fabric.

Perfumes and colognes lose some of their enchantment when they've caused spots. These liquids should never be applied directly to clothing. The alcohol content tends to bleed some dyes and stains are easily formed.

Many liquid deodorants, which are quite acid in nature, are likely to disintegrate fabrics with which they come in direct contact. Cotton, linen and rayon are especially susceptible to acid deterioration. To minimize or prevent this type of damage, users of deodorizing products should follow carefully the directions for use which appear on the containers, or use only deodorants that are harmless to fabrics. A number of deodorants bear the Certified Washable Seal, indicating that the product is harmless to fabrics.

Another feminine grooming preparation which may cause damage is nail polish. Women should avoid the home removal of nail polish stains, warns the A.I.L. Acetate fabric may be ruined by applying polish remover in an attempt to remove the stain. In addition, if the polish is not completely removed, the stains sometimes ignite or burn when heat is applied in pressing.

Since stains have a tendency to "set" the longer they stay in fabrics, the harder they are to remove. Textile experts advise that most ordinary stains should be rinsed at once with cool or warm water. New synthetic fabrics and their reactions make stain removal risky. Unknown stains and those which have been set over a period of time should be left for the commercial laundryman, who is an expert in textile maintenance.

She made her vocal debut in Berlin, later sang in London, Paris, Hamburg, Frankfurt, Dusseldorf, Koenigsberg, Danzig and Amsterdam.

Returning to the United States in 1906, she gave up her prestige as a singer and devoted her time to teaching.

GRAND CHAMPION STEER TO TOUR IN VIRGINIA

PS Troubadour, the 905-pound Northern calf that was crowned 1956 grand champion steer over all breeds at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago, will visit Virginia in March and April.

His first appearance in Virginia will be at VPI in Blacksburg, March 5 and 6. He then will go to Charlottesville, March 8, and Culpeper, March 9, for 4-H club and FFA roundups.

The 900,000 steer will return to Virginia in April to be exhibited at: Richmond, April 9 and 10; Louisa, April 11; Manassas, April 12; Leesburg, April 13; Staunton, April 24; and Newport News, April 25. Four-H club and FFA members will have special festivities at each place.

The steer also will be at the Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester, May 1-4, and will end his career in a blaze of glory as prime steaks and roasts on the menu at the Greenbrier at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

The Greenbrier was the successful bidder when the steer was auctioned after the International Exposition. An all-time record bid of $20.50 a pound was made. PS Troubadour was bred at Acadia Farms, Northfield, Ohio, Shorthorn showplace of Cyrus Eaton, board chairman of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, and was raised at Pennsylvania State College. As he fits a celebrity, the champion will travel in his own private C & O railroad car, outfitted with a portable pen, plywood bulkheads, display panels and feed bins.

Further details of his appearances in Virginia will be announced later.

MILK PRODUCTION SETS NEW RECORDS

Dairy cows in the United States produced 15 percent more milk in December, 1956, than the average amount produced for that month from 1945-54. Production increased 6 percent from November—more than the expected 4 percent.

Dr. W. S. Griffith, assistant dairy specialist at VPI, says in Virginia total milk production for December was 181,000,000 pounds, about the same as in the preceding month. However, it was an increase of 17,000,000 pounds over the production one year ago, and 27,000,000 pounds more than the average for December 1945-54.

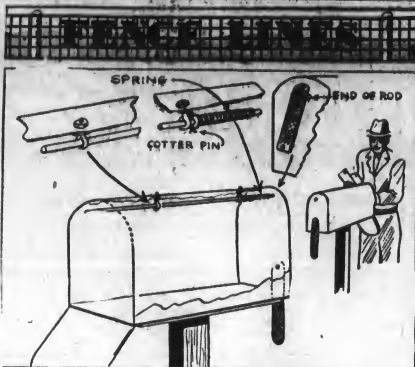

Total milk production for 1956 in the United States was 126,952,000,000 pounds 3 percent more than in the preceding year.

Wisconsin continues to be the number one dairy state with a December production of 1,305,000,000 pounds. The next ranking states and their production are: Minnesota, 764,000,000 pounds; California, 557,000,000 pounds; Pennsylvania, 488,000,000 pounds; and Iowa, 464,000,000 pounds.

LIVESTOCK FIELD DAY PLANNED AT HOLLAND

Tours, demonstrations, and discussions of animal husbandry research will be featured at the first annual livestock field day for farmers at the Tidewater branch of VPI Agricultural Experiment Station at Holland, February 14. H. Marshall Clark, superintendent of the station, will be chairman of the program. Discussions of livestock management and feeding tests, and of diseases and parasites of swine, and demonstrations of swine types, carcass grades, and live grading will be among the features of the program.

State Farmers Sign for Soil Bank

Commencing this week Virginia farmers will be signing agreements under the Soil Bank's 1957 Acreage Reserve program for corn, cotton and tobacco, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) State Committee reports.

The sign-up of tobacco and cotton acreage will continue through March 1, whereas the corn deadline is a week later, March 8.

ASC State Administrative Officer, W. T. Powers, explained from his Richmond office that county ASC Committees have been instructed to consider applicants for the 1957 Acreage Reserve on the three named crops in the order in which applications are received, but no agreement may be accepted prior to January 28.

"Under the 1957 Acreage Reserve program, Virginia farmers have an opportunity to earn over five million dollars in Soil Bank payments," Powers said. "We are very anxious that farmers take full advantage of this opportunity for farm income and at the same time share in the national effort to reduce supplies of burdensome farm surpluses."

Powers noted that the basis for as well as the rates of payment, as well as the rate of payment, varies by commodities and by farms. He invited farmers who are interested in the program to visit their county ASC office to obtain firsthand details as to how the program will apply to each farm and for each crop.

THE SECRET

In another moment he will be getting up and walking toward you, eager to tell the secret of his calmness and strength. Will you listen? He has solved many problems, overcome much grief and temptation, been able to meet the conditions of every-day living, all because through the Church he has come in contact with the Source of all power. In the Church he has found companionship. Its worship services have brought faith, peace and serenity. Its activities have furnished an outlet for his creative abilities and energy. The Church has been a part of his life from boyhood. Through its various departments the needs of his life have been met. He has enjoyed the fellowship there and, looking back, he is able to trace his own growth.

Have you learned his secret? Wouldn't you like to know it? What the Church has done for him it can do for you. If you are young, it will help meet your problems. If you are older, it will bring satisfaction and peace.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Whether in a young Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

MEDITERRANEAN (FIFTH)
Nolan A. Howard, pipe fitter first class, USN, of 502 26th St., Virginia Beach, Va., is serving aboard the tank landing ship USS Washoe County with the 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean.

The Washoe County carries cargo and personnel wherever they are needed.

Because of her shallow draft the Washoe County can reach ports inaccessible to ships of comparable size.

Besides her present duties, the ship can land fully equipped combat troops and vehicles on enemy shores.

Every man in Alcatraz was once a boy...

No man who ever lived was born to be bad — not Cain or Capone, not Herod or Hitler, not vagrant, liar or thief, not addict or morals offender, not gambler, forger or killer. Physical weaknesses can be inherited, but not moral ones; to suggest otherwise is to absolve from blame any man who ever violated the laws of his land or his Creator.

It's been said with great truth that there's no such thing as a bad boy — and yet every man in Alcatraz was once a boy.

What is it, then, that turns a good boy into a bad man?

In a sense, it's his legs. As they lengthen, they begin to take him farther and farther from home. They separate him from whatever degree of discipline and guidance he's known, and put him increasingly "on his own." For the first time since his first breath of life, they begin to expose him to the temptations, fears and frustrations he'll encounter until his last one.

A boy's body grows faster than his mind. If he can find decent environment away from home, if he can be given something worthwhile to occupy his time until his brain catches up with his body, there's a far greater chance that a good boy will become a good man.

That's the philosophy of Scouting. During the past 47 years, the Boy Scouts of America have laid hold of millions of our boys at this crucial, crossroads stage of their lives, and by developing courage and moral stamina have made it easier, for the rest of their lives, for them to resist the things they know are wrong. Scouting gives a boy an honorable and worthwhile objective, and teaches him how to cooperate as well as how to compete in achieving it. It makes him realize that within himself he has the power of accomplishment, and builds his self-respect. It gives him a chance to be recognized by others for the time and effort he puts into achievement. It starts him off with a pledge which no other ambition can surpass — "On my honor, I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country..."

No parent, no minister, no teacher can ever be sure that their influence on a boy unfailingly will make him a good man. In walking to manhood with a boy, all any adult can do is the same thing the Boy Scout pledges — his best. But millions of parents rest easier, day and night, because they know that in the Boy Scouts of America they have a strong ally also doing its skillful best to help their boys become good men.

Marine Reserves to Activate Platoon at Beach

It was announced by Lt. Col. L. L. Rostov, USMCR, Commanding Officer of the 1st Depot Supply Battalion, Organized Marine Corps Reserve that the Reserve Battalion will activate a Marine Reserve Platoon in Virginia Beach. Lt. Col. Rostov stated that this action was taken as a convenience measure for young men between 17 - 18½ who reside in Virginia Beach and in the county area and who find travel to and from Norfolk too difficult to be conducive to regular drill attendance. "There are many young men in this age group," said Colonel Rostov, "who would welcome the opportunity of reducing their military obligation by membership in the Marine Corps Reserve, but who are unable to attend drills at out training center in Norfolk. For these men we are bringing the Marine Corps Reserve to them."

Lt. Col. Rostov added that the Marine Corps Reserve now has two programs available for enlistment. Briefly they are: 1. Enlistment for 6 months active duty upon completion of high school and 7½ years as a member of the Marine Reserve here at home and 2. Two years of active duty at a time chosen by the individual reservist and membership in the local unit for a period of four years. Colonel Rostov said, "current Marine Corps Reserve enlistment policies remain in effect and recent developments relative to the overall Reserve program have no bearing on the Marine Corps Reserve at this time."

The first meeting of all interested parties will take place on 12 February 1957 at 7:30 PM in the Community House, 17th Street and Arctic in Virginia Beach. Colonel Rostov pointed out that not only young men between the ages of 17 - 18½ are invited to be present but also those between 18-17 who would like to receive some advance information concerning the Reserve Forces laws are most welcome. "In addition," said Rostov, "we would most heartily welcome all parents who are interested or concerned with the future of their sons and all others who may wish to become informed relative to the Marine Corps Reserve."

It was also announced that in line with the above, Major Thomas J. Bell Jr., USMCR, a member of the Inspector-Instructor staff of the local Marine Reserve, will be present at Princess Anne High School on 7 February 1957 and will be available at Virginia Beach High School on 8 February 1957 to further outline plans for the new Marine Reserve Platoon to interested young men.

Lt. Col. Rostov further stated that it is the policy of the Marine Corps to help young men further their education as far as possible and at all times encourages them to continue their schooling as much as they possibly can. Rostov said, "the Marine Corps has programs leading to officer training for eligible young men which can be worked in conjunction with Reserve training."

"The Mayor of Virginia Beach has been most cooperative in our new venture," said Lt. Col. Rostov, "and we of the Marine Corps Reserve are deeply appreciative of the spirit of cooperation and good feeling with which we were welcomed to Virginia Beach."

Pointers for Pig Profits

Failure to get the most out of every pound of feed is one reason for unsatisfactory pig profits. High baby pig mortality is another.

Much of the baby pig loss, come spring, can be traced to an inadequate feeding program during the gestation period. The kind and amount of feed the bred sow or gilt receives has a direct bearing on the size and vigor of the new born pigs, and the ability of the sow to produce an abundant supply of milk.

The successful pork producer knows that the bigger the pigs are at birth, the greater will be their chance for survival.

Along with the gestation period, the suckling and post-weaning periods are the most exacting in nutritive requirements. A well fortified ration for the lactating sow and nursing pigs will provide for early and fast growth.

Creep feeding makes it possible to provide rations rich in proteins, vitamins and minerals. During the suckling and post-weaning periods, complete feeds are needed most. By providing the right combination of nutrients, less total feed will be required per hundred pounds of pork produced. As pigs progress, rations can be adjusted by reducing the protein and increasing the carbohydrates.

The manufacturer's feeding directions are insurance that the full performance of the feed can be realized. Before feeds are placed on the market, their values have been carefully tested. This makes feed lot experimentation by the pork producer unnecessary. However, good feed and proper rations use are only two aspects of profitable pig production.

Keep farrowing pens and creep feeder areas clean and sanitary. Pigs free from lice and internal parasites make the most efficient gain. Ear mark letters for identification in selecting future breeding stock. Immunize all pigs against hog cholera prior to weaning. Do not attempt treatment for any disease condition until a correct diagnosis has been made. Consult your veterinarian.

Fast growth will be retarded when animals are overcrowded, ventilation poor or feeding and watering space inadequate.

A sound feeding program together with good management makes a profitable combination for any swine raising project, according to the Agricultural Service Division of the Union Bag-Camp Paper Corporation, makers of multiwall bags for feed.

Safety ExPert Speaks at Meeting Of Women's Clubs in Suffolk

High school driver education was described as one of the long-range answers to the traffic accident problem by a safety expert at a meeting of women's club representatives from this area. The meeting, held in the Main Street Methodist Church of Suffolk, Va., was sponsored by the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs as a part of their 1957 program to reduce traffic accidents.

Attending from here was Mrs. Linus Williams of the Woman's Club of Princess Anne County. Mrs. Randall W. Everett of Arlington, State Safety Chairman for the Federation, presided.

Joseph I. Taylor, Public Safety Supervisor for Nationwide Insurance, told the group that study after study has shown that young people who have been trained to drive in competent high school driver education courses have only about half as many accidents and less than half as many traffic violations as do those who are untrained. He said that more schools should establish such courses and that more parents should insist that their children have this training. Taylor also presented a film, newly produced by Nationwide Insurance, which described a typical driver education course.

Henry Hambrecht of the State Board of Education, making a status report on driver education in Virginia, said that public interest in and support for driver education has been steadily growing. Many schools have added these courses during the past year and many upgraded the courses already being offered so they would meet standards established by the State Board of Education. "These standards must be met," he added, "before students who have completed the courses can get the rate credit on their auto insurance premiums that is available to them."

A part of the afternoon session of the meeting was devoted to a discussion of the question, "What can women's clubs do to stimulate community interest in driver education?"

THE STARS

LOOK for a temporary drop in theatre-going what with all the best movies of the last decade now running on late television. . . . The films are good with top-rate actors as opposed to the beat-up "B" movies with equally "B" actors that have been the usual TV fare until this late fall. . . . However, the honeymoon is bound to end for out of the 100 odd films purchased from MGM only a possible 50 are "must" fare. . . . Must admit it's comfortable to curl up to an evening and see an outstanding film of only five to ten years ago, especially since that was the advent of TV when most people stayed home to watch wrestling and missed most of these good movies.

In order to keep up with TV, Hollywood must go all out to make movies "better than ever" and they seem to be answering the challenge with such fare as "War and Peace," "Friendly Persuasion," "Ten Commandments," "Written on the Wind" and many, many others. . . . As long as this wave of excellent movies continues, the box office won't need to worry about television.

Speaking of television, there was a strange lack of good Christmas music this holiday season. . . . The Carols weren't in order until the actual week of Christmas, a sharp contrast to the old radio days when they started "White Christmas" going right after Thanksgiving. . . . On the other hand there were a great many very plays that were almost embarrassing in their hackneyed dialog read in stilted tones by actors that will never see the big time. . . . All in all, with the exception of Santa Maria's live show and the marvelous presentation of Handel's "Messiah," it was a sad Christmas television-wise.

Seventeen members of Explorer Post 61, of Virginia Beach, had the privilege of seeing King Saud, at the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, last weekend. This was one of the highlights of their trip to Annapolis.

King Saud was present at the basketball game between Duke and Navy, which the Explorers were attending.

Cloudy weather and low visibility hindered their sight-seeing on a Navy R4D transport going up to Baltimore. Upon arrival at Friendship Airport, Baltimore, they were met by a Navy bus which took them over to Annapolis.

They ate in the Marine's mess hall and slept in a small wooden scout cabin in the near-by woods.

During their sight-seeing tour they saw Bancroft Hall, the Museum, and the Crypt, where the body of John Paul Jones lies.

They attended the Midshipmen's Chapel on Sunday Morning.

On their flight back from Baltimore, they had to fly by way of Charlottesville and Waverly, Virginia, because of the bad weather between Baltimore and Norfolk.

Each member of the Post had a chance to go forward into the pilot's cabin and ask him questions about the operation of the

M. M. Parker To Speak on Strawberries

All people who grow strawberries should see and hear the illustrated lecture to be given by Mr. M. M. Parker, Asst. Director of the Virginia Truck Experiment Station, Thursday night February 7 at 7:30 in the Agriculture Department of Princess Anne High School. All phases of Strawberry Production will be discussed and the latest findings of research in this field made known. If you grow strawberries on your farm on a commercial scale, or just a few in your garden for home use, it will pay you to come find out the latest information on this subject at this free lecture. This is one of a series of classes for adults under the direction of Mr. S. Blair Myers, Agriculture Teacher at Princess Anne High School.

Farmers should always remember that no system of relief takes the place of common sense and hard work.

BY RICHARD RANDOLPH STEVENS
I guess a person would ordinarily think a resort town would be exceptionally dead in the winter time—especially a summer resort like Virginia Beach. It really is a rather extraordinary thing that so many things can go on at such a slack season.

Take just for an example—the other day Mrs. Ruth Massey, Director of the Beach Little Theatre, was lamenting the fact that some of her actors were not present for a rehearsal of "The Night of January Sixteenth," when a thespian pointed out, "I Guess They're All Over At The Folies Rehearsal."

Speaking of the folies—all in all it's a pretty good show. Overheard some comparisons of it with past shows the other day, and it's standing up pretty well. A lot of effort goes into something like that—unfortunately the responsibility for that effort sometimes falls on too few people.

Once in another community I knew a group who put this sort of thing on regularly. Got so good some top critics and scouts started taking note of it. Finally one of the dancers got a call for professional work and went on the stage. That was when the director got a phone message from the dancers' father:

"Whatta idea makin' Rosey work like this all time for your lousy dance recital?"

Seems Rosey had forgotten to tell her dad she was on her way to Las Vegas to make her fame and fortune—and after she'd been gone for three weeks he finally missed her.

While we're on the subject of fortune—see where Virginia's Top Legal Counsel, Lindsay Almond, has nixed the playing of a gambling game called Kentucky Derby. It was a horse racing game built into a slot machine and paid off in cash. Isn't that a little unusual? A horse racing game of any kind that pays off?

Well—so much for now. I reckon I better make a hasty retreat before secret agent X-2 catches me pecking on this typewriter.

Liberty becomes license when every man thinks he has a right to do as he pleases, regardless of how the voting goes.

Bacon Rolls

Peanut butter and bacon his team up to make a flavor hit in Bacon Rolls.

Long a favorite combination, crumbled bacon and crunch-style peanut butter meet in new fashion in Bacon Rolls. The rolls are made from a beaten yeast, batter that requires no kneading.

You'll find the "sweet and meat" combination of Bacon Rolls makes an ideal pick-up for a light supper of an omelet or soufflé, hot vegetable, crisp salad and coffee.

The batter for Bacon Rolls is made with enriched flour to give three B vitamins and food iron. After the batter rises for an hour it is stirred down and spread in a greased, eight-inch square baking pan. Crumbled bacon is sprinkled over the top in rows, dividing the batter into 16 two-inch rolls. Pressing the bacon to the bottom of the pan firmly separates the rolls and gives a "bacony" taste all the way through.

When you haven't time for making yeast rolls at home you can still give your family a variety of tasty, enriched breads. Choose them from the wide selection at your bakery or food store.

Bacon Rolls

1 package yeast, compressed or dry
¾ cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
¾ cup milk
¾ cup brown sugar

Soften yeast in water. Scald milk. Add brown sugar and salt and cool to lukewarm. Add 1 cup flour and peanut butter and beat until batter is smooth. Add softened yeast and egg. Mix well. Add enough more flour to make a thick batter. Beat thoroughly. Cover and let rise in warm place until bubbly (about 1 hr.). When light, stir down. Fry bacon until crisp.

1 teaspoon salt
2 cups sifted enriched flour (about)
¾ cup crunch-style peanut butter
1 egg
2 slices bacon

Drain on absorbent paper and crumble lightly. Spread batter into greased 8-inch square pan. Sprinkle crumbled bacon in rows over batter dividing into 16 2-inch squares. With floured fingers, press bacon through batter to bottom of pan. Let rise until doubled (about 30 minutes). Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 25 minutes. Makes 16 rolls.

Here's another suggestion using Peanut Butter—sounds like a real favorite for the youngster especially.

Peanut Butter Cake

1 package Instant Swans Down Yellow Cake Mix
1 cup water
2 eggs, unbeaten
½ cup peanut butter
Grape Jelly

Four Minute Frosting
Empty cake mix into large bowl. Add remaining ingredients. Beat 3 minutes until smooth and creamy.

Pour batter into two round 9-inch layer pans, which have been lined on bottoms with paper. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Cool and remove from pans.

Spread grape jelly between layers and frost top and sides of cake with Four Minute Frosting.

Four Minute Frosting: Combine 1 unbeaten egg white with ¾ cup sugar, dash of salt, 3 tablespoons water, and 1 teaspoon light corn syrup in top of double boiler or in small bowl. Beat with sturdy egg beater or electric beater about 1 minute, or until thoroughly mixed. Cook over rapidly boiling water—beating constantly with egg beater or at high speed of electric beater 4 minutes or until frosting stands up in stiff peaks when beater is raised. (Stir frosting up from bottom and sides of pan occasionally with rubber scraper, spatula, or spoon.) Remove from boiling water. Add ¼ teaspoon vanilla and beat 1 minute, or until thick enough to spread.

Note: For a smoother frosting, wash down sides of pan with fork wrapped in a damp cloth before and during cooking and beating, to prevent crystallization.

MIX TRICKS: Here is a slick way to cut a layer cake and get away from the usual wedge shape pieces. Cut cake in quarters, then cut each quarter in slices. You should get about 3 good size slices and a tiny end piece that's just right for quick nibbling.

Now for two main dish suggestions & then a dessert.

Vegetable-Beef Casserole

¾ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons fat
1 lb. ground beef
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon chili powder (optional)
1½ teaspoons salt
2 cups cubed cooked potatoes
1½ cups drained cooked string beans (10-oz. can) 1½ cups whole kernel corn (12-oz. can)

1 cup tomato juice or ½ cup tomato juice plus ½ cup liquid drained from beans
2 medium size tomatoes, sliced
1 teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons grated cheese

1. Cook onion in fat until almost tender. Add meat and brown. Stir in pepper, chili powder (if desired) and one teaspoon of the salt. Place in greased two-quart PYREX Casserole.

2. Arrange potatoes, string beans and corn on top meat, sprinkling with remaining salt. Pour on tomato juice or combined tomato juice and bean liquid.

3. Place sliced tomatoes on top.

Duffers Cage Loop To Be Organized--Lail

PRINCESS ANNE. Are you grouchy when you get up in the mornings, tired when you come home at night, restless because of the same daily routine? One of the many things you need is physical activity. If you reside in Princess Anne County here is your chance to enjoy yourself and get a certain amount of physical activity each week.

Jim Lail, Recreation Director said that he had been approached by several men in different communities who would like to play basketball but felt that they couldn't keep up with the fast pace set by the young men playing in the County Senior Cage Loop.

The County Recreation Department would like to organize a basketball league for men thirty years of age and over. This league will be called the DUFFER'S LEAGUE and the teams participating would play once a week. The games would be played according to high school rules except the quarters will be six minutes in length. No practice will be permitted by teams playing in this league.

Groups or organizations desiring to organize and enter a team in this league are urged to contact the Recreation Office by phoning LO 5-0831, Princess Anne 2611 ext. 26 or Virginia Beach 860.

A meeting will be held Wednesday night, January 30th at 8 p.m. in the Trial and Justice Courtroom located on the second floor of the Volunteer Fire Department in Princess Anne. Team representatives must be present. Games will be played during the months of February and March.

Blessed is that rare person, who having to say, abstains from presenting worthy evidence of the fact.

Crispy American Chop Suey
½ lb. ground lean beef
2 tablespoons shortening

WORDS & THOUGHTS

OH THANK YOU SIR, YOU'RE VERY GENEROUS!

BUT LET'S FACE IT!

Polio Benefit Dance Success

The community center at Chesapeake Beach was the scene of a most successful dance, sponsored by the Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach for the benefit of the Polio Drive. The club is proud to announce that through donations of those who came, the Princess Anne Polio Campaign is richer by $300.

WTAR-TV provided enticements for the floor show. Ray Shouse was a most gracious master of ceremonies, and LeVerne Watson as "Cousin Tibble" was a hilarious success with the crowd. Miss Lynnette Twiford, lovely Miss Norfolk of 1956, increased the Polio Benefit by $25.00, with her wonderful modern boogie blues dancing. To see her dance the crowd generously tossed their money on the floor. Polly Lewis, brought down the house with her singing of "Can't Help Lovin' That Man of Mine." "Boots" Bennett accompanied Polly, and later played the piano to the delight of everyone. To round out the show, Cap'n Jim Megintley added his inevitable dancing. Jim recently celebrated his 72nd birthday, and showed his youth by dancing every jitterbug number the entire evening. Both "Tibble" and Cap'n Jim were ably assisted by "Turk" Reith and his guitar. "Turk" is on the "Variety Show" of WTAR-TV. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gaylord received a boutonniere and lovely orchid by winning the Walts Contest. The Jitterbug Contest was won by Mr. and Mrs. Henry De Selice, who were awarded — what else? Elvis Presley records.

They set up the chairs and tables, and made cleaning up after the dance real fun for the ladies.

Mrs. Webbon announced at the dance, that a Coffee and Brunch will be served at the Community House on Tuesday, January 29, by The Woman's Club. A silver offering will be taken at the door, proceeds to go also to the Polio Fund.

At its regular January meeting the Tidewater Lost Chord Club laid plans for instruction in esophageal speech for those who have lost their larynx, or voice box, because of cancer.

Dr. Neil Callahan, surgeon, and Mr. Marvin Sachs, speech therapist, together with Mrs. Celeste Hachey, Secretary of the Club will meet with interested individuals to complete the program. A preliminary evaluation session will determine in the case of each person the best method, whether private or class lessons, to be followed.

It is hoped that all laryngectomized persons living in Tidewater Virginia and Eastern North Carolina will participate in the program. There will be no charge to any person, whether a member of the Club or not, and information can be obtained by writing the American Cancer Society, 714

Commonwealth Now Using New Instrument for Mineral Detection

Man cannot see below the surface of the ground, but the Commonwealth of Virginia is now using an electronic instrument which can detect the presence of mineral deposits hundreds of feet down.

Raymond V. Long, Director, Virginia Department of Conservation and Development, reports that its Division of Mineral Resources, anticipating the need for geophysical studies of potentially important iron-bearing areas in the state, recently added its first magnetometer to its ore-searching equipment.

Geologists of the Division, Long stated, are now planning preliminary magnetometer surveys of several of the iron-bearing districts

HENRY SHACKLETON, 12 Endview Avenue, Lynbrook, New York, solved a problem common to many. The problem? Usually he couldn't remember the name of a man after meeting him. He was embarrassed practically every day for Henry was a salesman of electrical appliances and frequently a customer would make two or more calls before he bought an appliance that ran into fifty dollars or more.

He questioned his friends and found that most of them had the same difficulty. But most of them didn't sell appliances. Finally, a friend told him how he had conquered the poor memory trait. Here are the rules he gave to Henry, which worked wonders and virtually doubled his monthly sales.

- 1-When you meet a person whom it will be to your advantage to recognize later, look at him (or her) study his features and while doing so, silently repeat his name.
- 2-Make a mental note of what you talk about, looking at him closely all of the time.
- 3-The moment you part, write down his name, and visualize his features.
- 4-Afterwards go about your affairs visualizing the man and recall his interests.
- 5-At the end of the day, peruse your notebook, connect each of the names you have entered with a visual image of his features.

"I did just that," says Henry Shackleton, "and I now seldom fail to recognize anyone to whom I have applied this memory formula. In addition to making sales for me, it has greatly increased the number of my personal friendships."

1956 Production Announced By Norfolk Plant

NORFOLK, VA. — Ford Division's Norfolk Assembly Plant produced 86,534 cars and trucks during 1956. G. L. Lemoine, plant manager, announced today.

The year's payroll for the Norfolk Ford plant totaled $8,598,962.32 for an average throughout the year of more than 1,700 employees.

Of the grand production total, 67,024 were passenger cars and 19,510 were trucks. Highest production for a single month was in November, when 9,857 units came off the Norfolk line. Lowest was 3,354 units in September, when the plant closed down in mid-month for change over to 1957 models.

Mr. Lemoine also said that the Norfolk plant spent $1,684,400.00 in Virginia for supplies and services from Virginia business firms. This figure does not include any freight charges for transportation of auto parts into the plant or haul-away of completed vehicles.

During the past year, several improvements were made at the Norfolk Ford plant. A new two-toning paint system was installed, and two inspection buildings erected. These add approximately 6,000 square feet to the total manufacturing space, Mr. Lemoine said.

January production is continuing at a high over-time rate, with a total of 6,717 cars and 1,060 trucks scheduled for the month.

Employment at the year end was 1,705 persons, of which 211 are salaried employees and 1,494 hourly production workers.

HANOVER TOMATO FARM RAISES BETTER PLANTS-ELECTRICALLY

"NOW I CONTROL the temperature," says George B. Barker of Hanover County, examining new electric hotbed that replaces an old manure type. The new 38 x 6 foot bed cost only $130 to build and used about 900 kilowatt hours during the five-week growing season, reports this progressive tomato and pepper grower.

UNIFORM GROWTH of tomato plants wins admiration of Mr. Barker's father and VEPCO Rural Engineer, Frank Soucek, who helped plan the installation. With thermostatically-controlled heating cable, the Barkers say, "A lot less time is required to care for the beds. You couldn't regulate the heat of the old manure bed."

PS Troubadour, the $66-pound Shorthorn calf that was crowned 1956 grand champion steer over all breeds at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago, will visit Virginia in March and April.

His first appearance in Virginia will be at VPI in Blacksburg, March 5 and 6. He then will go to Charlottesville, March 8, and Culpeper, March 9, for 4-H club and SWA roundups.

ful bidder when the steer was auctioned after the International Exposition. An all-time record bid of $20,500 a pound was made. PS Troubadour was bred at Acadia Farms, Northfield, Ohio. Shorthorn showplace of Cyrus Eaton, board chairman of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, and was calved at Pennsylvania State College. As befits a celebrity, the champion will travel in his own private C & O railroad car, outfitted with a portable pen, plywood bulkheads, display panels and feed bins.

MILK PRODUCTION SETS NEW RECORDS

Dairy cows in the United States produced 15 percent more milk in December, 1956, than the average amount produced for that month from 1945-54. Production increased 6 percent from November—more than the expected 4 percent.

Dr. W. S. Griffith, assistant dairy specialist at VPI, says in Virginia total milk production for December was 161,000,000 pounds, about the same as in the preceding month. However, it was an increase of 17,000,000 pounds over the production one year ago, and 27,000,000 pounds more than the average for December 1945-54.

Total milk production for 1956 in the United States was 126,952,000,000 pounds 3 percent more than in the preceding year.

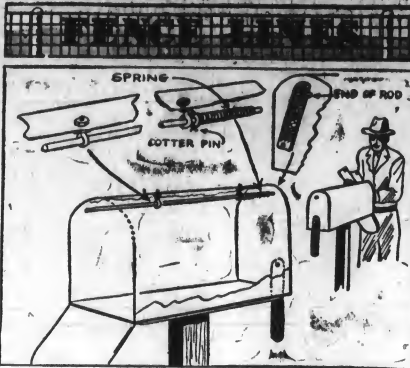

Wisconsin continues to be the number one dairy state with a December production of 1,305,000,000 pounds. The next ranking states and their production are: Minnesota, 764,000,000 pounds; California, 557,000,000 pounds; Pennsylvania, 488,000,000 pounds; and Iowa, 464,000,000 pounds.

LIVESTOCK FIELD DAY PLANNED AT HOLLAND

Tours, demonstrations, and discussions of animal husbandry research will be featured at the first annual livestock field day for farmers at the Tidewater branch of VPI Agricultural Experiment Station at Holland, February 14.

H. Marshall Clark, superintendent of the station, will be chairman of the program. Discussions of livestock management and feeding tests, and of diseases and parasites of swine; and demonstrations of swine types, carcass grades, and liveweight grading will be among the features of the program.

Wesley King, chief hog grader, Virginia Division of Markets, will take part on the program. Members of the VPI staff to take part are G. W. Litton, Horace R. Thomas, Dr. C. C. Brooks, Dr. S. L. Kallison, C. C. Mast, Dr. R. F. Kelly, and R. M. Godsey.

State Farmers Sign for Soil Bank

Commencing this week Virginia farmers will be signing agreements under the Soil Bank's 1957 Acreage Reserve program for corn, cotton and tobacco. The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) State Committee reports.

The sign-up of tobacco and cotton acreage will continue through March 1, whereas the corn deadline is a week later, March 8.

ASC State Administrative Officer, W. T. Powers, explained from his Richmond office that county ASC Committees have been instructed to consider applicants for the 1957 Acreage Reserve on the three named crops in the order in which applications are received, but no agreement may be accepted prior to January 28.

"Under the 1957 Acreage Reserve program, Virginia farmers have an opportunity to earn over five million dollars in Soil Bank payments," Powers said. "We are very anxious that farmers take full advantage of this opportunity for farm income and at the same time share in the national effort to reduce supplies of burdensome farm surpluses."

Powers noted that the basis for as well as the rates of payment, as well as the rate of payment, varies by commodities and by farms. He invited farmers who are interested in the program to visit their county ASC office to obtain firsthand details as to how the program will apply to each farm and for each crop.

THE SECRET

In another moment he will be getting up and walking toward you, eager to tell the secret of his calmness and strength. Will you listen? He has solved many problems, overcome much grief and temptation, been able to meet the conditions of every-day living, all because through the Church he has come in contact with the Source of all power. In the Church he has found companionship. Its worship services have brought faith, peace and serenity. Its activities have furnished an outlet for his creative abilities and energy. The Church has been a part of his life from boyhood. Through its various departments the needs of his life have been met. He has enjoyed the fellowship there and, looking back, he is able to trace his own growth.

Have you learned his secret? Wouldn't you like to know it? What the Church has done for him it can do for you. If you are young, it will help meet your problems. If you are older, it will bring satisfaction and peace.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Schools Top Figure In County Insurance Coverage

Figures released Wednesday on insurance carried by Princess Anne County on its vast school system reveals that great building progress has been made by the county school system in the last several years and as a result insurance carried on school buildings heads the list of insurance carried by the county.

The figures show that school buildings are insured in the amount of $7,816,650 and that various agencies participate in writing this insurance business. Broken down the insurance is handled by these firms: Smith, Gustafson and Terry, $2,475,670; Kellam-Eaton Insurance Company, $2,443,300; Don Meadows, $443,300; Whit G. Sussoma, $550,000; Starr Cromwell, $443,300; Jarvis & Kitchin, $509,040; Rufus Parks, $509,040; Swindell Pollack, $443,300; John Tallafiero, $100,000.

Figures also showed that Swindell Pollack carried the insurance on the county's sanitation department equipment and workmen's compensation. Premiums on this total $5,052.13. Kellam-Eaton Insurance Company has the most coverage on police department cars with a premium of $2,581.13. Insurance carried on the buildings and contents at the courthouse amounted to $802,140. Of this amount John Tallafiero carried $50,856; Smith, Gustafson and Terry, $80,000; Swindell Pollack, $80,000; W. Ward Whitehurst, $50,000; Kellam-Eaton Insurance Company (fiscal agents), $341,284. The total premium on this entire $802,140 is $1,355.20 per year showing a low fire insurance rate on the county's buildings.

There is also a temporary coverage of $8,500 insurance carried on buildings at the Pungo Airfield and public liability on which the premium for three years amounts to $126.65 carried by Kellam-Eaton Insurance Company.

The figures would indicate the safety of the modern buildings that have been constructed by the county and they also give evidence of good fire protection equipment and organizations in the county.

George Tepo, New Coach At Va. Beach High

George Tepo, a graduate of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, is the new football coach at the Virginia Beach High School. He was announced Wednesday. He will succeed Fred Isaacs, who resigned the position recently.

The new head football mentor comes to Virginia Beach highly recommended and after two successful years as head coach at Marion, Virginia, high school.

Tepo holds BS and MS degrees from Virginia Tech. He starred on the football team. After graduation he served as an assistant coach on the staff of Head Coach Frank Mosley at VPI. Mosley was high in his recommendation of Tepo for the Virginia Beach position.

A native of Pennsylvania, Tepo saw military service during World War Two and had a fine at professional football playing with the New York Giants of the National Professional League.

Before going to Marion two years ago, Tepo coached at Panama City, Florida. He is 36 years old, married and has one child.

Marion High School is a Group One school, according to local school officials, and Tepo has compiled a fine record at that school. He comes here highly recommended by Smith County officials, the home county of Marion.

Tepo will have his work cut out for him in taking over the reins from Isaacs as head man of the Seabawks. In his four years here Isaacs has established a winning record that can not be matched by any high school coach in Tidewater Virginia football history.

Fitzgerald Elected

John E. Fitzgerald, Virginia Beach laundryman, was elected president of the Fraternal Order of Police Associates at a meeting held last Friday night. He succeeds Richard G. Brydges, who had served for two years.

William P. Kellam was elected vice-president and William M. Snider, secretary-treasurer. Albin R. Malthe and Rhoe W. Adams were elected trustees of the group.

Beach Regains Lot From State

A block square tract of land here, bounded by 19th and 20th streets and Pacific and Arctic Avenues again belongs to the city.

City Manager W. Russell Haddock said this week that he had received a deed for the property from the state.

The city several months ago deeded the property to the state as the first move towards having a National Guard armory located here. Later, however, the city council decided to drop plans for the armory and to erect a municipal-owned convention hall instead.

For that reason the state was requested to return the deed for the city-owned property and they did.

Applications Being Received For Assistant Supt. Of Schools

The Virginia Beach City School Board has created the position of Assistant Superintendent of Schools and is currently receiving applications for the new position. It was announced Wednesday by Dr. W. L. Taylor, School Board Chairman, and Frank W. Cox, divisional superintendent of Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach City schools.

Creation of the new position in the city's school system was made in the form of a resolution passed by the City School Board. The assistant superintendent of schools will devote full time to the schools of the City of Virginia Beach.

In a joint statement released by Dr. Taylor and Cox Wednesday they said: "We feel this creation of the new position is a forward step for the city school system and it will make for a more effective operation of schools."

The resolution read as follows: "BE IT RESOLVED that the School Board of the City of Virginia Beach does hereby create the position of Assistant Superintendent of Schools who shall devote full time to the schools of the City of Virginia Beach; to procure for and recommend to the School Board the personnel

Esther Wynne To Lecture

"The Book of Revelation and You" will be the theme of a lecture Sunday afternoon by Esther Wynne, director of the national prayer groups of the Association for Research and Enlightenment, Virginia Beach.

Miss Wynne is known throughout the country as a lecturer, having made a number of lectures tours that included the outstanding cities of the nation. She was director in the compilation of "A Search for God," Books one and two, based on the psychic readings of Edgar Cayce. Under her leadership the number of prayer groups sponsored by the A. R. E. in this country has grown to 10,000.

In addition, Miss Wynne has compiled a study book dealing with The Book of Revelation and its interpretation in the Edgar Cayce readings.

The lecture Sunday will be open to the public, and is one in a series this month on the theme of the Bible. It will begin at 4 o'clock and will be held in the A.R.E. headquarters building, 67th and Atlantic Avenue.

Mosquito Control Meeting Here

The tenth annual Virginia Mosquito Control Association meeting will be held at the Cavalier Hotel on Thursday, February 21. It has been announced.

The program lists several outstanding speakers including Leslie D. Beadle, who has had considerable field experience with the U. S. Public Health Service.

Another speaker on the program will be Champ P. Hearne, State Safety Engineer. The meeting is open to the public.

Applications Being Received For Assistant Supt. Of Schools

to operate the schools, including teachers, and look after the maintenance of school grounds and properties; to generally supervise the entire school system of the City as directed by the School Board, working with and cooperating with the Superintendent of Schools;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this position shall become effective July 1, 1957 and the School Board will immediately give consideration to any applicant in order that it might be filled not later than April 15, 1957.

Superintendent Cox also announced that he hoped to have a recommendation to make to the school board at its March meeting concerning someone to fill the newly created position.

Cox also stated that the city position will be comparable to that in the county system which has been filled by M. P. Strickler. Both of the positions will carry the title of assistant superintendent and will work directly under Cox.

Members of the City School Board, in addition to Dr. Taylor, are Kenneth L. Jarr, vice-chairman; Mrs. Mary Bond Ray, W. Hugh Kitchin and A. R. Walton.

No Evidence to Justify Criminal Indictments

Tunnel Fight

NORFOLK — Three professional men, two of them engineers and the other a college faculty member, will spearhead the Tide-water Virginia Development Council's fight against diversion of the proposed Chesapeake Bay bridge-tunnel route to an east-west direction.

R. L. Woodward Jr., TVDC president, in announcing the composition of the committee, appointment of which was authorized by the executive board last Friday, said a collateral movement to obtain the support of the 14 political subdivisions making up the council is making progress.

His appointees on the bridge-tunnel committee are:

James A. Rives, an associate with the architectural-engineering firm of Lublin McGaughy and Associates.

Dr. E. N. H. King, head of the department of business administration at the College of William and Mary in Norfolk.

Paul S. Dulaney, director of the Portsmouth City Planning Commission.

A six-member grand jury reported to Princess Anne Circuit Court Judge Floyd E. Kellam Tuesday that it could find no evidence to justify criminal indictments arising out of its investigation into lunch shortages in the accounts of the County Court.

The jury had probed the fund shortage over a period of several weeks after a State Auditor's report revealed a shortage of $2,620.01 in the Court's accounts.

The grand jury did say, after investigating the circumstances surrounding the shortage uncovered by state auditors since January 24, that the Court lacked "a proper accounting system" and that because of inadequate space in the court office there was an opportunity for "sneak thievery of the court's cash," particularly on court days.

The report, signed by all six members of the Grand Jury, is as follows:

"We, the Grand Jury, pursuant to your directive of January 24, 1957, have made careful enquiry into the matter of the shortage of funds of the Princess Anne County Court, reported by the Auditor of Public Accounts for the Commonwealth of Virginia, in his report dated January 10, 1957, and submit our findings as follows:

1. For the 17 months period from July 1, 1955, to November 30, 1956, the Court handled funds totaling $180,594.64. During this period there occurred a shortage of $2,620.01. The shortage reflected on the face of the court's records of its accounts. There was no evidence of any attempt to falsify the records.

2. The court's accounts and records are carried in the name of J. David Reed Jr., Trial Justice and Judge of the Princess Anne County Court, which is with the accounting firm of J. E. Underwood, Inc., accountants of Public Accounts.

3. In addition to Judge Reed, the clerk of the Court, Mr. Paul V. Wyatt, and the Deputy Clerk, Mrs. Roberta Spence Bryan and Mrs. Pauline Johnson, had the authority to handle funds.

4. Judge Reed entrusted the collection, depositing, disbursement and accounting of the court's funds entirely to the clerk. Disbursements were made by check prepared by the clerk and signed by Judge Reed.

5. There was not in effect a proper accounting system whereby the condition of the court's accounts could be determined from day to day nor did the procedure for handling the court's funds make it possible to place the accountability for the funds in any one person.

6. The office space where the court's business was transacted was inadequate and open to the public. Particularly during court sessions, too many people had access to the office and there was opportunity for sneak thievery of the court's cash.

7. If proper procedures had been used, any shortage could have been promptly discovered and there would have been a better opportunity of detecting the responsible party or parties. It is clear to the grand jury that neither Judge Reed nor Wyatt took steps, which appeared to us to have been necessary, to provide proper safeguard for handling the court's funds.

8. Our information indicates that a new procedure of book-keeping and handling of the court's cash receipts as recommended by the auditor of public accounts has been adopted and is now in use. This system affords a daily check of cash receipts into the placing of responsibility on the clerk of the court after the turnovers of cash are made to him by the deputy clerk at the close of each day's business.

9. Judge Reed and all of the clerks voluntarily appeared before the grand jury and testified. We are informed that all were cooperative with the auditors and investigators assigned to the matter.

10. We have not found evidence to justify any criminal indictment arising out of the shortage of funds.

The report was signed by W. G. DeFord, foreman; L. H. Branning, William P. Dodson, Harvey C. Gimbert, Samuel G. Jones and R. A. Murden.

Law Needs Co-Operation

"Law enforcement is not a game policeman play alone. We need the help of all the people." These words were spoken by Norfolk Deputy Police Chief Claude J. Staylor, Jr., last Friday night in addressing a joint meeting of the Fraternal Order of Police, Lodge Seven, and the Fraternal Order of Police Associates in the Charcoal Room here.

Staylor was one of two speakers who addressed the third annual meeting of the two groups. He was followed by Rear Admiral Howard A. Yeager, USN, Commander of the Amphibious Training Command, Atlantic Fleet.

Brotherhood Week

"Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity." These words uttered by the psalmist thousands of years ago have a great meaning for us in this time of peace.

What wonderful peace and harmony live brotherly love create a harmonious community. When communities live in brotherhood they form a harmonious nation. When nations live in unity they bring universal brotherhood and genuine peace.

During Brotherhood Week we call the dwellers of our community to go to their respective houses of worship and offer thanks to the Almighty for the numerous blessings bestowed upon us. Let us become imbued with the spirit of brotherhood and let us translate the words of the psalmist into our everyday living and we shall be granted by God a happy and peaceful life. Amen.

WASHINGTON Quiz

Q—Why is it necessary to fill out questionnaires on private incomes in order to obtain pensions due to dependents of deceased veterans?

A—Because the law says that disability and death pensions are subject to annual income limitations. In most cases annual income must not exceed $1,400 for those without dependents, and $2,700 for those with dependents.

Q—How many 4-H club members took part in the International Farm Youth Exchange with other countries this year?

A—During 1956 a total of 125 young farm folks went abroad for three-month periods to 40 countries under this program. 181 young farmers from other countries came to this country.

Q—Is it true that Heavy Industry will seek an increased depreciation allowance for tax purposes?

A—It is possible that this is true. United States Steel, for instance, recently issued a statement saying: "The problem of heavy industry where large amounts of money are required for equipment, lies in the need for a revision of the depreciation allowances under the tax laws. Need for such revision again is rooted in growing inflation . . ."

Q—Did President Eisenhower actually lose farm votes in the 1952 election?

A—A survey by the U. S. News and World Report indicates that he did. The U. S. News actually counted farm votes, instead of looking at totals in so-called Rural Counties, where often farmers are out-voted by the non-farm vote. The magazine's survey indicated that the farm vote for Congress showed a greater trend away from Republican candidates, however, than from Mr. Eisenhower. The survey in 10 midwestern agricultural Congressional districts showed the President's loss in 1952 as compared to 1952 ranged from 3% to 17%. Whereas the Congressional vote in the same districts showed a loss in the GOP vote ranging from 6% to 31%.

Science Students Visit Vepco Generating Plant

Science students from a number of Virginia and North Carolina high schools today toured five electric generating plants of Virginia Electric and Power Company. The tours were Vepco's participation in a national program celebrating the birthday of Thomas Alva Edison 110 years ago on February 11.

Vepco power plants visited by the students and their teachers are located at Chesterfield, Portsmouth, Fossom Point (near Quantico), Bremer Bluff (southeast of Charlottesville) and Roanoke Rapids, N. C.

More than 600 students embarked from their schools on buses chartered by Vepco and were luncheon guests of the company following the conducted tours.

The youngsters who went on the tours were chosen by school officials from classes in physics, higher mathematics and related subjects. They are the potential engineers, scientists, physicists and other highly trained specialists upon whom the electric industry of the atomic future will depend.

The shortage of such scientifically trained personnel in this country, compared with the numbers being trained by potential aggressors, is receiving much attention by the nation's leaders.

Vepco officials feel that the tours are a graphic medium of pointing the way to challenging electrical careers, as well as a fitting observance of Edison's birthday.

Tunnel Route Question Premature, BUT.

Although we believe the controversy raging over the routing of the proposed multi-million dollar Chesapeake Bay bridge-tunnel is somewhat premature, we cannot close our eyes to the fight which is developing, by proponents of an east-west route and those who favor a north-south routing of the bridge-tunnel link.

We feel that the final say as to the routing of the bridge-tunnel should await the result of an engineering survey now underway and that any recommendations that may be included in that report should be carefully considered.

We believe that the case being presented by those favoring an east-west routing was pretty well defined by a spokesman for that group, who is quoted as saying that "the first thing we want to do is stop the north-south plan, then we will decide the route." These may not be the exact words of the quotation attributed to the spokesman, but it fairly well gives the key to the plan of those favoring an east-west crossing as against the north-south route.

The north-south route is recommended by many and was endorsed by the 14 political units making up the Tidewater Virginia Development Council last week. This route would cross the Bay between Cape Charles on the Eastern Shore and a point in Princess Anne County.

It is understood that preliminary surveys show that a north-south route is financially feasible whereas there is much doubt as to the economic feasibility of an east-west crossing.

We believe that those who are favoring an east-west route are putting area and local political pressure ahead of all other factors. This type of thinking could very well cause a serious delay in building a bridge-tunnel and such factors should be put aside for the good of all concerned.

The north-south route is financially sound, we believe, and bonds for such a project could be easily amortized. This does not seem to be the case with the other suggested route. The great majority of Virginians and others would best be served with a north-south bridge-tunnel across Chesapeake Bay. We should all get behind this project.

Respect For Individuality

As Brotherhood Week (Feb. 17 - 24) approaches we feel impelled to restate a fundamental premise of which too many persons seem to lose sight: Brotherhood is not a matter of ignoring or trying to erase the differences that exist among people. To the contrary, brotherhood can flourish only when people are aware of their differences, learn to discern and understand them, and are proud of them.

The vague and rather condescending attitude we call tolerance has little to do with brotherhood. Tolerance means only to put up with something, to suffer it out of benevolence or courtesy. Brotherhood is founded on much firmer ground than that. It is founded on fact and on right — on the fact that people are different from one another and have every right to be so.

The equal rights and equal opportunities we seek to accord to all of our citizens are based on respect for every person's worth and his individuality, including whatever makes him different from another. This respect for individuality and for differences does not in any way contradict the idea of America being a "melting pot." It enriches it by recognizing and preserving the basic ingredients.

There is much talk these days about "common core" religion by rather thoughtless people who think that brotherhood means we should combine our similarities and forget the differences. People who advocate this obviously miss the whole point. For, as individuals and as groups we cherish our differences. They are an integral part of us, and to rob us of them would be to kill us by dismemberment.

The National Conference of Christians and Jews, which annually sponsors the Brotherhood Week observance, champions the rights of people to be as different and to believe and worship as differently as they wish. "It acknowledges," according to its statement of policy, "the freedom of the Catholic or the Jew or the Protestant to hold that his faith is the only true faith." And it strives for brotherhood "not on the basis of removing religious differences" but by urging all men "diligently to seek the truth and to follow their consciences."

This is the sort of respect through which brotherhood flourishes. And Brotherhood Week also serves as a timely reminder of the wisdom of our forefathers who recognized the extremely intimate and personal nature of religion. They deliberately provided safeguards to keep the teaching of religion out of our public schools in the belief that religious instructions are the specific task of parents and of those persons who are properly qualified and trained in that very special and personal field of education.—By R. H. Ridder, Jr., Duluth, Minn. News-Tribune

Colder Winters?

The recent wave of below-normal temperatures in the United States brings to mind the question whether winters are getting colder. It will be remembered that most of the weather experts were saying — until a few years ago — that winter weather was not as severe as it was a few decades ago.

In the last two years, several weather experts have said that we are now moving to colder weather and that the winters in the future will be colder. The January cold wave indicates that the experts following this line now have some evidence to back up their case.

It should be remembered, though, that severe cold weather did not arrive until rather late this year and that 1956 was a relatively mild year, even well into December. Those who claim that the winters are warmer today than they formerly were cite as proof the fact that the growing line of many plants and trees is continually moving further northward. This proves, they say, that our weather is getting warmer.

They also cite the falling back of the ice masses at the Poles, pointing out that this ice is melting back a little more each year. The experts on this side are always backed up by elderly people who claim that winters a few decades ago were much colder than they are now.

But what some elderly citizens do not realize is that heating conditions, when they were young, were not nearly as efficient as they are today and they felt the cold much more. In other words, it seemed colder a few decades ago than it seems today, although the weather might not have been actually colder.

In our opinion, the trend is still toward warmer winters, although one cannot judge the trend by one, two or three years, but must look at the graph over a period of decades. Looking at the weather from this scientific angle, there seems to be no proof yet that we are returning to colder winters.

RELUCTANT AWAKENING

Is Your Home Dangerous

We have called attention from time to time to the danger that lurks in the average American home, pointing out that statistics show that about half of all the accidental deaths in the nation are due to mishaps within the home.

One survey of a large city reveals that more than half of such deaths are caused by falls. Analysis reveals that nearly half of the falls occurred on the same level, more than one-third of them on stairs and about one-sixth from one level to a lower level.

The safety experts suggest that the number of accidents caused by tripping over objects and rugs on floors is of such size as to suggest caution in every home. Moreover, the need for well-lighted stairways is important and everyone should exercise care and patience in using stairs.

We call these facts to the attention of the residents of Princess Anne County in the hope that we may help prevent accidents in the home. It will take only a few minutes to look over your home and eliminate some of the accident hazards. Parents who do this may save their children from suffering, and themselves from unnecessary medical expenses. In addition, they may save their own lives.

Food, Clothing, Medical Expenses

What are the minimum amounts you can spend for such necessities as food, clothing and medical care, and still get by in some comfort and with a commonly accepted standard of living? Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine, lists some of them in a copyrighted article in its February issue.

Food costs vary with age and sex. A baby, for example, can be fed for $2.77 a week, whereas a man who does heavy work sets a minimum of about $7.37 worth of food a week. As one would expect, the costliest human being to feed is a boy between the ages of 16 and 20. Minimum expense, $7.50 a week. Women in the 21-44 age group can be fed adequately for $6.69 a week.

Clothing costs range from $30 a year for an infant, to $293 a year for a girl between 16 and 20 who is employed. Older employed women can get by on $190 a year, while the housewife's minimum is $122 a year. The minimum budget for employed men is $110 a year. Medical expense minimums range from $156 a year for a family of two to $384 a year for a family of six. This cost includes premiums or health and hospitalization plans.

Art Association Plans Boardwalk Art Show

An organizational meeting to formulate plans and announce committee chairman was held Monday Evening, February 12 at the Bay Colony residence of Mrs. T. F. James, General Chairman of the 1957 Boardwalk Art Show.

Mrs. Ames and her co-chairman, Mrs. H. B. Price, Jr., started the evening's discussions with reports of the enthusiastic response to last year's Boardwalk Art Show. It is a notable fact that as listed in the Directory of Open Exhibitions published by the Artists Equity Association the 1956 Boardwalk Art Show at Virginia Beach nationally stood in fifth place for total sales made.

Mr. Russell Haichet, City Manager, has lauded the Art Association for their splendid contribution to the cultural life of Virginia Beach stating that the 1956 Boardwalk Art Show created as much or more interest than any other event in the Golden Jubilee program. He expressed hope that the Virginia Beach Art Association would make the Boardwalk Art Show an annual event.

This Open Exhibit welcomes the entry of all media of arts and crafts. All work, including molds for ceramics must be original. Request for space must be received before July 1, 1957. Inquiries should be addressed to Virginia Beach Art Association, Virginia Beach, Va. A registration fee of 1.00 per artist will be charged plus a 10% commission on sales made. Any money above expenses will go to the Art-Center Building Fund.

Prize will be awarded. There will be a $50.00 cash award for "Best in Show"; $25.00 for "Most Popular and Honorable Mentions." It is hoped that the 1957 Show will draw entrants statewide and also out-of-state through publicity and increased interest.

- FORT STORY TELLINGS -

SOLDIER OF THE MONTH

A Vermont Yankee whose hobby is cooking Southern-fried chicken has been named Soldier of the Month for February at Fort Story.

Sergeant First Class Richard E. Parsons of the 344th Amphibious Truck Company was recently honored by this Cape Henry post. The Soldier of the Month is named because of his outstanding appearance and performance of duty.

Sergeant Parsons, who entered the Army 17 years ago this month, now resides at 410 Norfolk Avenue in Virginia Beach, with his wife, Thelma, and their six children: Janice Marie, 14, a student at Virginia Beach High School; Richard E., III, 10, George Robert, 9, and Vicki Carol, 6, students at W. T. Cooke Elementary School; and Dana Lee, 8, and Kathi Jean, 2½ months old.

The 36-year-old Parsons is a native of Vermont and had lived and worked in that state and New Hampshire until he entered the service in 1940. He has seldom been north of the Mason-Dixon since. He met and married his wife while assigned to Camp Blanding, Florida, where he took his basic training. His duty within the Continental United States has been in the states of Florida, Mississippi, and Virginia. He first came to Fort Story in 1948, leaving in 1953, and returned in November of 1955.

A dedicated hobbyist, Sergeant Parsons occupies a great deal of his spare time with cooking. His specialty, he says, is Southern-fried chicken, for which he uses a formula of his own invention. Tours of duty in various parts of the world have added to his knowledge of foods and how to prepare them. Not all of his time abroad has been spent investigating cooking, however.

Sergeant Parsons was aboard the U. S. S. President Coolidge, at that time the largest troop transport in the Pacific, when it hit a mine and went down off the coast of New Hebrides during World War II. The men aboard had been enroute to Guadalcanal to assist the First Marine Division. Although most of the ship's personnel and passengers were able to swim ashore, a great deal of equipment was lost and another unit was ordered to the bloody Guadalcanal fighting. Sergeant Parsons' unit was re-equipped and entered the fighting again later.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Parsons of RFD 1, Charlestown, New Hampshire, Parsons holds the Good Conduct Medal with three knots, American Defense, American Theater, Asiatic-Pacific with two stars, Philippine Liberation with one star, German Occupation and National Defense ribbons.

Nicknamed "the home of the trucks that swim," Fort Story is a tiny Transportation Corps post on the tip of historic Cape Henry which conducts all of the Army's initial amphibious truck training.

FORT STORY TELLINGS

ARMY TRAINING TEST

The Headquarters Company of the Fourteenth Transportation Battalion completes an Army Training Test today.

The exercise, which began Tuesday morning, February 12, involved both Fort Story and nearby Camp Pendleton. Army Training Tests are administered to units at this Cape Henry post to help them remain in a state of readiness in case mobilization should ever prove necessary.

The Fourteenth, commanded by Major Alfred R. Campbell, is one of three such units at Fort Story. Nicknamed "the home of the trucks that swim," this post conducts all the Army's initial amphibious truck training.

RETIREMENT

A Fort Story soldier who served almost three-fourths of his career in the Tidewater area has just retired after more than 24 years of active Federal service.

Army Sergeant First Class George I. Guthrie began his military career by enlisting in the Infantry on May 1, 1915 in Suffolk. During World War I, he served in France with the 29th Division and was discharged upon returning to the United States in February of 1919.

In May, 1922, Guthrie reenlisted at Fort Monroe where he remained for three years. He enlisted again there and was transferred to Fort Story where he served 10 years and then returned to civilian life.

Following World War II, Guthrie enlisted again in 1947, this time at Fort Eustis, and was assigned to Fort Jackson, South Carolina. Upon completion of training there, he returned to Fort Story and served at the Cape Henry post until May of 1953. His next duty station was Bremerhaven, Germany. In April, 1953, Sergeant First Class Guthrie returned to the United States and was again assigned to Fort Story. He holds the Good Conduct Medal, World War I Victory Medal, Army of Occupation Medal (Germany) and National Defense Service Medal.

LVT TRAINING

Just over 100 men have started training in the operations and maintenance of the LVT (Landing Vehicle Tracked) at Fort Story. The 18-ton vehicles, capable of carrying approximately 9,000 pounds of cargo, will again be utilized in operations of Project 572-West.

Project 572-West is one of two projects for the resupply of areas of the DEW (Distant Early Warning)—Line net of radar installations near the Arctic Circle. The 1957 operations will mark the third consecutive year Army Transportation Corps troops, in cooperation with the Military Sea Transport Service, have moved supplies and equipment to these vital sites. Tracked vehicles are necessary in the Project 572-West area because the terrain is unfit for conventional wheeled cargo carriers.

Nearly 130 drivers and mechanics are scheduled to take the nine-week course of instruction under the direction of the 612th Transportation Company. The 612th is commanded by First Lieutenant Charles McCutcheon.

SPEAKERS

Captain H. W. Mills of the Consolidated Property Division at Fort Story spoke before the Virginia Beach Sports Club at 1 p. m. on 12 February in the Paramount Restaurant.

Captain Mills' subject was "Hunting Experiences in the Arctic." During the two years he was stationed in Alaska, he served as Deputy Enforcement Officer for the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and, while stationed in Greenland, he spent considerable time in photographing and studying the migratory waterfowl breeding grounds.

On the following day, First Lieutenant Robert White discussed "Army Transportation Corps Amphibious Operations" with the Portsmouth Cosmopolitan Club. The meeting was held at 1 p. m. in the Portsmouth YMCA.

Lieutenant White was the first commander of the BARC (Barge Amphibious, Resupply, Cargo) unit at Fort Story and in charge of the only one of the gigantic amphibians which has operated within the Arctic Circle.

VISITOR

Brigadier General Mecht Tokcan, Chief of Transportation for the General Staff of the Turkish Army visited Fort Story recently. Following a briefing by the post's plans and training officer, he viewed a Superduty which has been kept on the post after the conclusion of recent tests on the new vehicles. The General then took a ride in a regular DUKW to view the operations of the mammoth BARC's and Landing Craft Retriever. Also included in his one-day tour was an inspection of some of the training methods used on this Transportation Corps post, particularly the newly-constructed landship, a mock ship which allows cargo handling units to practice their work on dry land.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Smith Jr. and daughters, Laura Winn and Frances Baldwin of Charlottesville, spent the week-end with Mr. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Smith Sr., in Cavalier Park, Virginia Beach.

IT'S AMAZING!

International Naval Review June 12

NORFOLK — Admiral Jerauld Wright, USN, Commander in Chief, U. S. Atlantic Fleet, announced today that more than 80 ships of the world's navies are expected to take part in an International Naval Review in Hampton Roads on Wednesday, June 12.

The last international review for which the United States was host took place in Hampton Roads on April 26, 1907, in connection with the Jamestown Tercentennial. Six guest countries sent representatives at that time for review by President Theodore Roosevelt.

The State Department has invited 27 countries to send warships to the Hampton Roads area for the week of June 8-17, which has been designated "Fleet Week."

Approximately 50 Atlantic Fleet ships, which are scheduled to participate, include 30 ships which will subsequently carry Naval Academy and NROTC midshipmen on their annual training cruises. Among these will be the two battleships, IOWA and WISCONSIN; two heavy cruisers, MACON and ALBANY; two guided-missile cruisers, BOSTON and CANNON; the tactical command ship, NORTHAMPTON; 20 destroyers and three fleet oilers. Also participating will be aircraft carriers, submarines, amphibious ships and others, the names of which will be announced at a later date.

A full-scale naval review, with Admiral Wright, Commander in Chief U. S. Atlantic Fleet, in overall command, is scheduled for the afternoon of June 12, with June 13 as an alternate date. The ships will be anchored in two columns from Hampton Roads to Fort Story, a distance of about 14 miles.

A ship with reviewing dignitaries embarked will pass through the long review formation. It will get underway from the Naval Base, proceed to Cape Henry, then retrace its course back to the Naval Base.

The review formation will be visible from such vantage points as Old Point Comfort, Fort Monroe, the U. S. Naval Base, Willoughby Spit, Little Creek and the various beaches along Lynnhaven Roads.

VIOLET SOCIETY TO MEET

The Princess Anne African Violet Society will meet at the home of Mrs. H. F. Ames, Trantwood Shores, on Thursday, February 21 at 2 p. m. Co-hostess will be Mrs. Mildred Lachman. Guest speaker will be Mrs. C. W. Dicks. Members come and bring guest.

From the South Pasadena Review, South Pasadena, California: Tens of thousands of Britons have had enough. Reports from the "light little isle" say that the immigration problem should be solved by the nation by the Sea. The nation has started the greatest wave of emigration in Britain's history. Most people want to go to Canada.

As many as 3,000 in one day have made application to the Canadian immigration office in London. The Australian headquarters is getting about one-third that number daily and the New Zealand and Rhodesia about 400 per day. Specifically, the boost in gas prices to 88 cents a gallon has made travel by car almost prohibitive. Added to that is the prospect that basic income taxes may go up to 47½%. Business taxes in some lines have become so prohibitive that no one will risk launching an enterprise in those lines. The story of most emigrants is that opportunity has all but disappeared in Britain. They want to get out to the New World where they hope to gain the rewards denied them at home. It is estimated that as many as 100,000 Britons will enter Canada in 1957. That's three times the number in 1955.

From The Barnsboro Star, Barnsboro, Pennsylvania: Words of wisdom from a former president of the United States have come home to roost. It is unfortunate that his timely warning was not heeded when they were given 18 years ago, hence we would not have the precarious peace we know today.

The ex-president's words of advice: "The gargantuan jest of all history would be if we should give aid to Stalin in the war (against Hitler). If we do, the result will be the spread of communism over the world."

"I urge that we stand aside while these two monsters exhaust each other. If we stand aside the time will come when we can, by our own strength, bring lasting peace to the world."

Former President Herbert Hoover spoke these words on June 28, 1941, after saying that Britain now was safe from German invasion due to Hitler's diversion attack upon Russia.

Recently he spoke at the dedication of a new boys club in Chicago and said he has no regrets for the stand he took in 1940 opposing United States involvement in World War II.

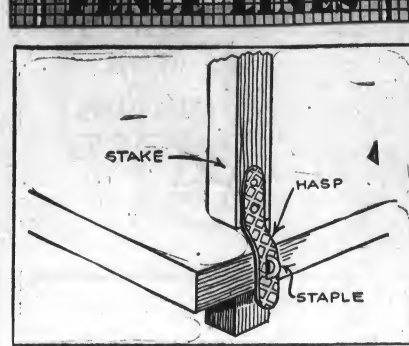

With the downfall of Hitler, Mussolini and the empire of Japan, the United States stands now as the only bulwark against the spread of Communism.

EASY DOES IT

APPLE OR PEACH crisp is a dessert to make with an oven dinner to bake right along with the main dish. Place the prepared, sweetened fruit in a buttered casserole, cover with a crumbly topping of flour, sugar, butter and cinnamon. Bake about 25 minutes in a moderately hot oven.

THIS WEEK'S RECIPE

Bean-Barley Soup (Serves 6)

1 cup dried lima beans
6 cups cold water
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 slices onion
1 small carrot
3 tablespoons barley
1 cup evaporated milk
2 tablespoons butter

Soak beans in water overnight. Add salt and pepper and cook in water until almost tender. Cut onion and carrot and add to beans with barley; cook until soft. Add milk and butter just before serving.

flower, celery sticks, olives, spiced peaches and cranberry-apple relish.

Date and nut bread or orange-prune bread can take the place of a dessert if you frost them while warm with a trickle of confectioners' sugar icing.

Chopped broccoli should be cooked until barely tender. Serve with salted buttered almonds and browned butter for a note of elegance.

Cream of chicken soup will be more interesting if you add a bit of raw onion juice while heating it or some of the instant onion flakes.

INCOME TAX FACTS No. 4

Claim All Exemptions for Yourself and Dependents

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. These articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants, and the Virginia Society of Certified Public Accountants in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

Many people overpay their taxes because they cheat themselves on their personal exemptions.

Here is how to count your exemptions (each one takes $600 off your taxable income):

One exemption for yourself, two if you are 65 or over, two if you are blind, three if you are both 65 and blind. The same applies to your husband or wife.

If your husband or wife died during 1956 you can still file a joint return claiming the exemptions, including those for age or blindness, to which the deceased would have been entitled at the time of death.

Who Qualifies

One exemption of $600 can be taken for each person who fits the definition of a dependent. This $600 is not doubled for age or blindness, however, as in the case of your personal exemption.

To count for an exemption, the dependent must:

- (1) Have less than $600 gross income for 1956 (except that this does not apply to your child if he is under 19 or is a full-time student).
- (2) Have received more than half of his support from you, unless you file a Multiple Support Agreement (see below).
- (3) Not file a joint return.
- (4) Be either a citizen of the U.S. or a resident of the U.S., Canada, Mexico, Canal Zone, Panama and in some cases, a service-man's child living in the Philippines.
- (5) Live with you (absence while attending school does not interfere) or be a close relative as defined in the instruction book or be a cousin receiving institutional care for mental or physical disability who had lived with you before going to the institution.

Multiple Support Agreements

If you shared with others in the support of a dependent, but none of you provided more than half of the support, you may still be able to arrange among you for one of the group to have the $600 exemption. You might agree, for example, to take turns in having the exemption from year to year.

The one who claims the exemption must have contributed more than 10 percent of the support, and he must be a member of a group who altogether provided more than half support, and that person must have been entitled to claim the exemption of providing more than half support.

Children and Disabled Dependents

There is a deduction of as much as $600 for each child under 12 while the breadwinner works. This child-care deduction is available to mothers, widows, divorced and legally separated persons, who are allowed to deduct expenses paid to someone other than a dependent for the care of a son, daughter, stepson or stepdaughter under the age limit. This regulation also applies to any dependent of any age who is mentally or physically incapacitated.

A working wife is entitled to this deduction if her husband is physically or mentally incapable of providing support. Where the husband is not disabled, the working wife may also take the child-care deduction only if a joint return is filed, and the $600 must be reduced by the amount of the couple's gross income exceeds $4500. It should be kept in mind that you can't take the child-care deduction if you take the standard 10 percent deduction.

Flank Steak Goes Modern

New most vogue! Boiled, braised flank steak has its flavor complemented by a tasty bread stuffing.

Flank steak is especially favored for its rich beef flavor. Being a boneless, less-tender cut of meat, it is first scored to make it more tender. The meat can be pounded instead of scored. This meat cut is very tender when braised, comments Edna Stagg, well known home economist in the meat industry.

Flank Steak, Creole Style
1 large beef flank steak
1 pound pork sausage
1 cup moist bread crumbs
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped onions
1 bay leaf
1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes

1/2 cup chopped green pepper, if desired
1 cup water
3 tablespoons flour
Pound or lightly score flank steak on both sides. Combine sausage, bread crumbs and parsley and mix well. Spread sausage mixture on flank steak and roll as a jelly roll. Tie steak with string and brown in lard. Pour off drippings. Add salt, onions, bay leaves, tomatoes and green pepper. Cover and cook slowly 1 1/2 to 2 hours or until tender. Remove steak and bay leaves, pour off excess fat, add water to cooking liquid and thicken for gravy. Yield: 6 servings.

The MIXING BOWL..

IT'S Fun TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

For the very latest in food fads and foibles... for practical, down-to-earth recipes that please both palate and pocketbook, read the "Mixing Bowl" by Lucile Clark each Thursday in the Sun-News.

The American Baking Industry invites you to join them in celebrating a breakfast program. "A Good Breakfast Means A Good Day."

Certainly you have heard many times that everyone should eat a good breakfast. And by all good reasoning - breakfast is the meal that should be given special planning.

There's no substitute for a good breakfast. The most nutritious, packed lunch in the world won't compensate for a skipped morning meal. And the best - balanced dinner won't carry you through in peak form until the following noon. It's been proved: People who eat a good breakfast work better, think better, react faster, and are altogether pleasanter, happier people.

To break bad breakfast habits, our eating patterns are very much our eating patterns are very much a matter of habit and with just a little self-discipline - we can adjust & improve them.

If you are eating 50 - 60 or even 70 per cent of the day's food at dinnertime, then try this experiment: Eat a little more at lunch, a little less at dinner. Go easy on high - calorie desserts, etc.; then make yourself eat your "good breakfast," hungry or not. Keep this up for a week or 10 days, and you'll find you are looking forward to breakfast & are automatically eating less for dinner.

Do take time for breakfast. Aren't several hours of feeling happily energetic worth getting up 15 minutes earlier?

Start everyone in your family off with fuel for the morning's activities. Breakfast can have as much variety as other meals.

Breakfast can even be fun-time-maybe the family would enjoy discussing the day's up-coming festivities & plans. Plan - some real breakfast treats - surprises & the like - and then not a single member would dare miss breakfast.

Quick Cranberry Up-side-Down Muffins or if you don't mind getting up a little earlier Cranberry Pinwheels will be mighty good. Both have a perky - tart-sweet flavor - just right for morning tastes, & the scarlet fresh cranberries fit right into the gay-cheery mood you hope to get your family started off with - nice to have when your having company, too.

Don't forget to freeze a few packages of cranberries for future use - while they're still plentiful. All you have to do is put the unopened window boxes or cellophane bags of fresh berries right in your freezer, then you want to make cranberry muffins or any other cranberry dish, you'll have a supply on hand, to use either frozen or defrosted.

Quick Cranberry Up-side-down Muffins

1 cup fresh cranberries
1/4 cup orange marmalade
2 cups biscuit mix
1/2 cup milk
3 tablespoons sugar
1 egg
Leave cranberries whole - or chop if desired. Combine cranberries & marmalade - Drop a tablespoon of fruit mixture into each of 12 greased large muffin pans. Combine remaining ingredients and stir together until dry ingredients are dampened. Fill muffin cups about 3/4 full. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400°) 25 minutes, or until done. Loosen & turn out while warm. Makes 12 muffins.

Cranberry Pinwheels

1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup canned crushed pineapple
1 cup fresh cranberries
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons water
2 cups biscuit mix
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 cup milk
1 tablespoon melted butter
In a saucepan combine sugar, pineapple & cranberries. Cook & stir until berries pop about 10 minutes. Blend cornstarch with water & stir into hot fruit mixture & stir to thicken. Cool. Combine biscuit mix, sugar, milk & melted butter. Mix well - Turn out on lightly floured surface & kneed gently. Pat or roll out into a rectangle approximately 12x8 inch. Spread with cooled filling, dot with some extra butter & roll up from long side. Cut into slices & place cut side down on lightly greased cookie tin. Bake in a hot oven (425°) about 15 minutes - makes 8-12 pinwheels - depending on the thickness desired.

Here are some suggestions that I hope will help you when planning breakfast for your family.

Fruit
Orange Juice, Applesauce, Peaches, Grapefruit, Pears, Mixed Fruit, Orange slices, Grapefruit Juice, Tomato Juice, Stewed Prunes and Orange C.

Mission School Under Way at Scott Memorial

The first session of the Church School of Mission at Scott Memorial Methodist Church was held last Sunday, following a Family Fellowship Supper in which families of the Oceana Church participated. The Mission Study, using the text, High Hours of Methodism, was directed by the Rev. P. H. Strieby, pastor of the church.

This course, to consist of three sessions on successive Sunday nights, is part of the emphasis now being placed upon the subject of "Missions and Church Extension" in Scott Memorial. The period of special emphasis is to culminate in a special offering for missionary purposes of the church's annual budget. These offerings include $250 for Palmore School in Japan, $50 for the Methodist College in Alaska, $407 for building new churches in the Virginia Conference, and $100 for missionary activity within the Norfolk District.

The Scott Memorial Church is experiencing increased attendance at its worship services during the current emphasis on church attendance to continue until Easter Sunday. A cordial invitation is extended to the people of the Oceana community and nearby residential areas to attend the Church School at 9:50 and the Morning Worship Service each Sunday at 11 a. m. New families and service personnel are especially invited.

INTEREST INCREASES IN AROMATIC TOBACCO

What about aromatic tobacco? That's an oft-asked question in some Virginia farm circles these days, and here are some facts as outlined by tobacco specialists at VPI:

Aromatic, or Turkish, tobacco is grown under contract with a buying company. Prices range from 40c to $1.25 per pound, depending on the quality. The prices per grade are shown in the contract and growers know before the crop is planted what their price per pound for the different grades will be.

Growers who do the best job of producing aromatic tobacco make average yields of from 800 to 1,200 pounds per acre, with an average price of 90c per pound. However, some growers produce some tobacco that is worthless and for which they are not paid.

The bales are weighed and graded by company representatives. The tobacco is not sold at auction and there are no auctions or warehouse fees. Growers' checks are received about a week after tobacco is delivered.

Aromatic tobacco must be grown on soil of low fertility. Generally 300 to 400 pounds of fertilizer per acre is enough. When grown on fertile soil the leaves become large and are worthless because they have no aroma. Approximately 60,000 to 70,000 plants are required to plant one acre. Rows must not be more than 30 inches apart and disease plants must not be more than 4 to 5 inches apart in the row. Barn curing units currently in use cost $450 for a unit that will cure tobacco from one acre, costs $260. These are all burning units with a system of fans and ducts for circulating the air.

The leaves are primed as they ripen over a period of 7 or 8 weeks. Cured leaves are baled and stored on the farm until October or November.

Production of aromatic tobacco is not encouraged throughout the state as there is not enough technical assistance available to farmers. During 1957 demonstrations will be conducted on several farms in Pittsylvania and Franklin counties. Limited supervisory assistance will be available in Buchanan, Carroll, Grayson, Lee, Scott, and Smith counties.

District home demonstration club meetings will be held: April 30, Pittsylvania county; May 2, Virginia State College; and May 3, King & Queen county.

Other events include: junior agricultural exposition, May 3, Virginia State College; state agricultural advisory board award program, farm of John H. Maclin, Sr., Warfield, state 4-H short course, June 2-4, Virginia State College; annual farm and home conference, July 6-11, Virginia State College; garden lovers' short course, July 16-18, Virginia State College; and state 4-H wildlife and conservation conference, August 6-8, Virginia State College.

JOBS OUTLINED FOR GRAPE GROWERS

When warm winter days come along it's a good time to work in the vineyard, says John M. Ames, associate entomologist at VPI. He says pruning old or diseased canes and mowing infested wood will do much to improve the vigor of grapevines and reduce insect and disease trouble.

All pruned wood, dried-up berries, dead leaves, and rubbish should be collected and burned to reduce trouble next season. Sanitation will help, and a dormant spray of lime-sulfur will kill fungus spores that may affect the crop.

If many scale insects are present, a spray of 3 percent oil emulsion or miscible oil will be effective on insects, but will not kill black rot disease spores. Use one spray or the other, but not both. Using both sprays will injure the vines. Spray when the temperature is about 40° or higher before the buds begin growing.

If you plan to use an all-purpose home fruit spray several times during the growing season, the dormant spray can be omitted, except where scale infestation or black rot is severe.

INSECTS INFLUENCE HOUSE FURNISHINGS

Insects have had a lot to do with houses and furnishings, says

John M. Ames, associate entomologist at VPI.

He says we might still be sleeping on the floor, as early man did, had it not been for the insects and rodents that used the same floor for a runway. The prevalence of insects in the ancient East led to the use of canopies, baldachins, and mosquito netting. Beds grew heavy and ornate. From tops or testers attached to posters or ceilings, beds were draped in heavy folds to keep out the dreaded night air—the "bad air" from which malaria got its name. With the discovery of the transmission of malaria and yellow fever by mosquitoes, the draping of mosquito netting over beds became more necessary than ever before.

Advertisements of the first iron beds recommended them as free of insects that sometimes infested wooden bedsteads. The bed legs were often placed in cups filled with kerosene that kept bed bugs from attacking the sleepers. As we have learned to control these pests, beds have become less complicated, often without a head or footboard.

The hair mattress and feather bed are gone largely because they once invited moth and carpet beetle attack.

The portieres that hung in Grandmother's house, between the "front parlor" and "back parlor," were made of strings of beads, strips of tapestry, or of pressed rosewood, beads, and discouraged the passage of flies and other insects. They are still used in many tropical countries.

A hundred years ago, kitchen and dining table legs were often placed in cups filled with kerosene and wrapped with tape impregnated with arsenic to keep ants off the table. A cloth spread over a table that had been set kept flies off until meal time. On southern plantations little colored boys "minded" the flies. But other inventions replaced such customs, and dining room and kitchen ceilings boasted dangling strips of sticky fly paper, augmented by sheets of paper in the windows. The kitchen "safe," with its perforated metal doors, was intended to protect food from insects and rodents.

Today there seems to be a trend away from wall-to-wall carpeting, largely because carpeting tacked down around the edges is too hard to clean and makes a protected haven for fabric pests.

Moths liked the edible black horsehair upholstery of Abraham Lincoln's time, and the later mohair, woolen and other animal fabrics commonly used in upholstery and draperies. The swing now is to cotton or new synthetic fabrics which are not attractive to such pests.

In the tropics, metal furniture is replacing wood furniture—especially in offices—because of its freedom from termite attack. Modern, simple-lined furniture is easier to keep clean, and therefore easier to keep free of insects.

THE GREAT OUTDOORS

NOVELISTS and short story writers have long taken advantage of the broad appeal of the words, "The Great Outdoors." It makes a wonderful-sounding phrase for the jacket of any book that devotes a chapter or two to a camping trip in the Adirondacks or a chase of the robbers through the Everglades.

The reasons behind the appeal of "The Great Outdoors" are "born out in the fact that approximately 30 million Americans are hunters and fishermen, and an untold additional number are bird watchers, butterfly chasers and just plain nature lovers; altogether representing a sizable hunk of our national population and, according to the records, this is a nice segment of the population to do business with. Figures for a recent year showed hunting and fishing alone to be a six billion dollar business — which made it 50% greater than the annual sales of all drug stores and 130% greater than the sales of household appliances, radio and TV sets combined.

At the above rate, the average fisherman spent $310 and the average hunter $309 and according to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service figures for the same year, this meant that the average angler spent $4 for his trout while Joe Nimrod spent $1.35 for his rabbit and as high as $300 for a moose. Would you pay so much if these items sold at the corner store? You wouldn't spend half the amount — but neither would the true sportsman. He wouldn't spend one-third the amount. Not at the corner store. He buys the thrill of the chase and the challenge of pitting his wits against the wily ways of his quarry. He pays for the privilege of getting "outside."

Molasses Cookies Pass Family Test

Families are perhaps the most critical judges of Mom's baked products, and rightfully so. New baked products are always given a careful test by the family members but this Molasses Cookie recipe is sure to rate a perfect score from the judges in your home.

To produce delicate textured cakes, flaky pastries and crisp, crunchy cookies is a feather in any homemaker's hat.

Fortunate indeed is the homemaker who uses lard in preparing all her baked products and deep-fat frying recipes.

Lard is not only economical but it also gives the homemaker a helping hand, because, according to Reba Slaggs, well known home economist, lard has the greatest shortening value of any cooking fat.

Molasses Cookies

- 2 cups sifted enriched flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons soda
- 1 teaspoon ginger
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 cup lard
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/4 cup molasses
- Granulated sugar

Sift together flour, salt, soda, ginger, and cinnamon. Cream lard and sugar. Beat in egg and molasses. Add sifted dry ingredients to creamed mixture. Shape into balls, using a rounded tablespoon of dough for each.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Veal Blade Steak

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It comes from the blade section and resembles the blade roast except for the thickness. It contains the blade bone and backbone. Fat is interspersed in the meat and covers the outer surface.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. It is cooked slowly by braising. Veal blade steaks cut 1/4 to 1/2 inch thick require 45 to 60 minutes for cooking. A steak cut less than 1/4 inch thick may be panfried.

Dip in granulated sugar. Broil on a cookie sheet and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: 4 dozen cookies.

Bayside Lions Hold Slight Lead In County Loop

PRINCESS ANNE—The Bayside
LIONS after five weeks of league play in the Ocean County Basketball League are in first place by a one-game margin. The LIONS with two more victories this past week tighten their hold on first place with nine victories against one defeat. The first half championship was decided last night when the LIONS met the Western Auto FLYERS at the Virginia Beach Gymnasium. The outcome was not known when the paper went to press. However, the FLY-ERS had won seven and lost two and a victory over the LIONS would throw the first half into a three-way deadlock between Kempville, Western Auto and Bayside.

SARAH AND THE SEA

By June Reed Ruff

SARAH was a small woman, delicately boned, and as thin as winter shadows. She had dark eyes that harbored secret dreams, small, keen ears that listened to incoherent sounds.

The years had been kind to Sarah, her dark brown hair showed only a wisp of gray, and the tiny lines around her eyes and mouth only added to her look of innocence. In many ways,
Sarah, was innocent, for her home was off the beaten track and she heard little of the world's perversions.

A wood fire blazed brightly on the stone hearth, by its light Sarah's nimble fingers restored the worn heel of a heavy woolen sock.
"The wind is wild tonight," she mentioned, jabbing the heavy steel darning needle through the sock, with ease born of long practice.
The dim, comfortable room still echoed the inviting aroma of supper's stew and hot biscuits. Sarah bit the thread free of the finished darn, then paused to listen to the roaring-breaker sounds outside of the cabin. She awarded the window an apprehensive glance, knowing that beyond the cabin's and roof, gray clouds were gathering like mouldy dough, obscuring the frozen moon.

She angled her head slightly to look at Aaron. There was security in his angular, weather-etched face. For a moment, Sarah wondered how he would look at the helm of a ship, his lean, muscular arms challenging the thrashing might of the sea, to hold his storm-tossed vessel on course.
Aaron was a good man. The years of their marriage had been pleasant, in spite of hard work, and the heartbreaking disappointment they shared when they learned Sarah could never bear a child. In a way, Aaron seemed to thrive on the incessant toil, perhaps it helped him to forget he would never have a son. But there was no escape for Sarah, in work or anything else. Her heart was like an empty cradle, a constant, aching reminder of her barrenness.

Children were meant to harbor
a woman's dreams, and to soak up her endless tenderness, like small thirsty blotters. A woman is born to mother a child, with wisdom and emotional depth only a child can bring into being. And if there is no child, when the dream of life is hopelessly dead, if a woman is to live without bitterness she must find another dream. Even an insignificant dream is better than no dream at all.

She gathered up the mended sock and replaced thread and needle in her neat darning basket. Maybe tomorrow would be a good day to walk along the beach in search of curious marine creatures, and bright sea shells washed in by the raging tide.
In her mind's eye, Sarah could see the wide sky heartbreakingly blue against scattered white wisps of storm clouds, while the sun glimmered sparkling jewels in the platinum sand, and it's own reflection in the amazing green water.

Sarah rose and walked to the window to peer out at the blind, black night. Her dream of the sea was a small dream, but it comforted her and she cherished it, although she knew that tomorrow she would rise and gaze out on a familiar white world, where morning sounds would be muted by the weight of new snow. There would be the protesting creak and crack of pine boughs shattering the frozen stillness to fling their icy burdens earthward, while sustere, silver-shedded peaks ringed the valley like a crown.
Tomorrow would be just another day on the small, isolated mountain farm. But somewhere far away, the sea Sarah had never seen would thrash against an alien shore, scattering small secrets from its dark depths upon the sunlit sand.

Whip. Your food editor attended and enjoyed every minute of show and luncheon, too.

This mix is a convenience product currently being introduced in food stores here. The homemaker adds ½ cup of cold milk to the contents of the package and beats briefly to get 2 cups of fluffy dessert topping which is both inexpensive and low-calorie.

Four of the country's big name hat designers were shown the most popular ways to use the new dessert topping and were inspired to create hats to match. During the fashion show models brought in glamor reproductions of various desserts and wore the hat corresponding to each.

First came a three-foot high parfait accompanied by Mr. John's party parfait hat of layer on layer of chocolate, raspberry and vanilla-colored tulle topped by a fluff of white to resemble Dream Whip.

This was followed by a wedge of apricot chiffon pie topped with the new mix. Adelle of Emma looked at the color combination and pleaded a neat little wedge-shaped urban of apricot and white organza to match. It was Walter Fiorrell who made the dramatic strawberry shortcake hat draping white fall over a biscuit-blossom base to correspond with the mounds of Dream Whip used on the king-size dessert. The hat was decorated with clusters of the red strawberries.

Peggy Kohl, Product Publicist of General Foods Kitchens was our hostess and when the dessert was served after a delicious luncheon, you can be sure, it was topped with Dream Whip — especially ordered for us by Peggy. It was a delight to meet Sure—you know why—because I'm one of the calorie-conscious. Are you? It's truly a marvel to the hostess who has to prepare festive desserts in a hurry. It tastes rich and wonderful. It's really a DREAM of a topping — Low in cost and in calorie-count. Good news! I'll say it is. Good taste, too!

NEWS FOR VETERANS

PROVING DATE OF BIRTH

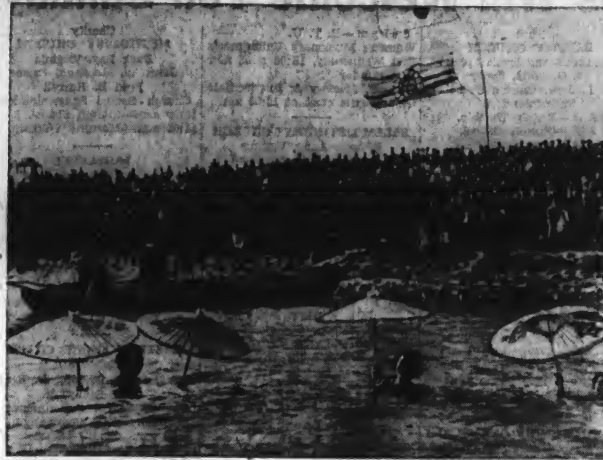

Some of our senior veterans ready for Social Security benefits find themselves up against it to prove their ages because Virginia did not have a central agency prior to 1912 where birth and death records were filed.

When a veteran cannot produce a birth certificate the Social Security Administration will accept any valid documents which show age or date of birth, such as old insurance policies, school records, or discharges from the armed forces. The older the document, the more acceptable it is. If a discharge has been lost or destroyed, or the person failed to record it in the county or city clerk's office, any veterans' service officer will help obtain a Certificate in Lieu of Lost Discharge from the War or Navy Department. Air Force discharges usually are too recent to be of help.

MEDICARE IDENTIFICATION
As a means of identifying the dependents of active duty servicemen under the vast new Department of Defense medical care program, a new card will soon be issued by the branches of the services. On and after July 1, 1957 this card will serve as verification of entitlement and will be presented to the civilian or service hospital where treatment is sought. In the interim the old card and such other identification procedures required by the medical facility will serve, but the patient is required when entering the hospital to apply on a special form with which Virginia hospitals have been supplied.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER TO HOLD CHICKEN SUPPER
The Virginia Beach Chapter 75 of the Eastern Star will have a fried chicken and oyster supper at the Masonic Lodge on Thursday, February 21. Supper will be served from five until 8 p. m.

Tickets for the meal are available at $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children.

Creeds Intermediate Girl Scouts Meet

The Intermediate Girl Scouts of Creeds Troop 268 met at the school in the Home Economics Room.

There were 18 girls, five adult leaders and one visitor present. We began our meeting with the flag ceremony, the color guards being Annette Murden, Patsy Saunders, Carolyn Halstead and Linda Grimstead.

We are busy working on our Second Class Rank. We have been doing bookbinding and using these books for a nature program. We have learned new songs and folk dances. We also have been dramatizing our laws and short stories.

Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, R.N., taught us about health and safety. Mrs. Adella Dudley taught us music and folk dancing and sports and games. We had as our guest speaker, Mrs. Little Cartwright, who came to our community from Honolulu. She told us many interesting things about her homeland.

About the feast in May, the dress, about the schools, religion, the dances and many other customs of Hawaii. It was like being on a trip with Mrs. Cartwright. This was a part of our International Friendship, which we were working on in Second Class Rank.

Mrs. Elizabeth White's patrol served us cookies and pineapple juice, these were to make our guests more welcome as she had told us about pineapple being packed in Hawaii.

The patrols then went to their corners to plan for a cook-out for the coming week. We now have four patrols in our troop. Several girls then worked on their books on nature and began their plans to begin work on more badges.

The girls present were Carolyn Halstead, Linda Grimstead, Patsy Saunders, Annette Murden, Patsy Taylor, June Kay Robinson, Margaret Dudley, Mollie White, Gayle Bright, Susan Taylor, Jane Bonney, Nita Capps, Nancy Ackles, Vickie Dudley, Carol Morrisson.

Mary Ellen Etheridge, Elaine Murphy and Alice Fay Malhouse. Our leaders present were Mrs. Herbert Dudley, Mrs. J. Bryan Dudley, Mrs. Norman Taylor, Mrs. Fred White and Mrs. Harvey Grimstead.

We enjoy our meetings so much it seems as though our time is never long enough. Our girls formed a horseshoe and repeated their Girl Scout Prayer and sang Taps and said goodbye scouts and another one of our programs came to a close. Each of us are looking forward to next week when we have a cook-out and our program outside.

From the Fort Umqua Courier, Reedsport, Oregon: It's Adlai and Estes against Ike and Dick. It's the OUTS against the INS, so far as the presidency and the vice presidency are concerned. It's the Eisenhower administration which is on trial before the voters, but the record is confused by the fact that the Democrats, most of the way, have had effective control of the Congress. For the accomplishments and failures of the last four years, neither party can be assigned all the blame or all the credit.

Not for many, many years have the issues been so vague. The Democrats have expended a vast amount of convention time and oratory and platform verbiage to create an impression of crisis, at home and abroad. But for Mr. Average American this "crisis" does not exist. Mr. Average American is reasonably prosperous—in spite of living costs which have hit an all time peak; he feels reasonably secure in his job, despite intimations of depression or recession. There are the usual rumors of wars—but Mr. Nasser and the Reds are a long way off; our Armed Forces are on guard in nearly every part of the world—the slaughter in Korea has stopped and our sons are not bleeding for defense.

We are now well into the ERA of ANXIETY which was predicted when the first atom bomb was unveiled.

We are enjoying peace but it is the uneasy peace of the armed camp where a single mistake could precipitate disaster.

We are enjoying a prosperity which is precarious because we have mortgaged the future as well as the past.

"How can the issues of this campaign be dramatized?"

This is a campaign in which, so far, there is no focal point for fear or hate. In the mid-thirties there was always the sharply defined choice between the New Deal and "reaction." Today most of the Republicans are more advanced in their social thinking than some of the Democrats' early cohorts. Under Harry Truman, corruption became a clearly defined issue but the corruption has been cleaned up. The Democrats have made a great effort to build the so-called "give-aways" into "scandals," but they have failed to find any "deep freeness" or "mink coats."

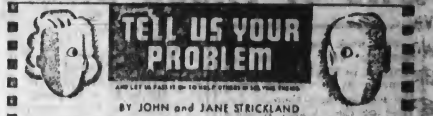

One of the many orators of the Democrat convention (and our memory says it was Stevenson himself) suggested that we must accept as settled most of the issues of other years and turn toward the future and the problems it presents. With this we can agree.

We are enjoying a prosperity which is precarious because we have mortgaged the future as well as the past.

TELL US YOUR PROBLEM
BY JOHN and JANE STRICKLAND

SANDRA DORRINGTON, Underecliff Avenue, Edgewater, New Jersey, had been married ten years when she left her marriage was about to break up. Why she didn't know. Naturally, she became very unhappy, morose, even disagreeable. Her husband was reacting in much the same way. But she felt that he had the advantage; he could get away from it all for hours every day, which hours he stretched to include most of the early evenings. That was all right with her, for she hated the sight of him when he did come home.

But like many married couples of their age, neither of them could afford to think of a separation. There were three children to be reared, fed, clothed and educated, not to mention her husband's mother who had to live with them. (Sandra says she wants to give credit here to one mother-in-law; this one did all she possibly could to make life more bearable for all the family.)

Since there was but one thing to do—bear it, she made up her mind to do just that; but she made another decision: never to let anyone become important enough to her to ruin her life, or even to make her discontented and disagreeable.

The morning after she made this last resolve, she got up in a pleasant mood (although it was forced). During the day her pleasantness became more real. She did everything that day with the thought of keeping happy and making her family happier.

This went on for many days, then for what at the time seemed an unaccountable reason, her husband became, first affable, then downright agreeable. That made it easier for her to hold to her resolve. Also, she noted that the children were more manageable. After a couple of months, she says no one would have known them for the same family.

Now she is again very fond of her husband and, he definitely shows his old-time affection for her.

Conservation Reserve Extends Deadline

The deadline for signing Soil Bank Conservation Reserve contracts to begin in 1957 is being extended to April 15 from the original closing date of March 15, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced.

This action is being taken because of the current heavy work load in County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee offices, W. T. Powers, ASC State Administrative Officer, said. In addition to Conservation Reserve contracts, agreements are now being signed on spring-planted "basic" crops for the 1957 Soil Bank Acreage Reserve program, he explained. Under the 1957 Acreage Reserve, farmers have until March 1 to sign agreements putting cotton allotment land in the program and until March 1 for agreements covering corn. It is not contemplated that these dates will be extended.

The Conservation Reserve is the long-range program of the Soil Bank. Under it, farmers may sign to divert general crop land from the production of crops to soil and water conservation uses, tree planting, and wildlife protection for periods of 3, 5, or 10 years. On the 5 and 10 year contracts, payments up to 80 percent of the cost of establishing a conservation practice may be made to participants.

$725,000 Bond Issue Will Be Asked by City Council

A bond issue of almost three-quarters of a million dollars will be asked of Virginia Beach voters as a result of action taken Monday by the City Council when it decided to ask for $725,000 rather than half that amount.

Originally Council had planned to ask for money to construct a convention hall, but now proposes to combine this work with improvements and a health center into one bond issue.

The bond issue would be submitted to the voters on a date to be set by Judge Floyd E. Kellam of Princess Anne Circuit Court. The convention hall would cost in the neighborhood of $360,000.

PRINCESS ANNE — A use permit for midget car racing was authorized by the Board of Supervisors Monday on a two and one-half acre tract just off Virginia Beach Boulevard between the Moose Lodge and White Oaks Cabins.

The tract was rezoned from multiple residence to general commercial use on application of Thelma Gilbert. The race track operating permit was issued with restrictions as to closing time at night.

The supervisors said such a restriction—probably an 11 p.m. closing time—should be made a part of the permit lest noise bring on complaints.

County Planner Mason Gammage said the Planning Commission had considered the noise factor, but was given the understanding that the sized vehicles which are used on a "Micro Race Track" do not make excessive noise.

Some 10 other Planning Commission recommendations considered by the Supervisors included: Granting of a use permit to Birmingham Enterprises Inc. for the operation of the Norfolk municipally owned Stumpy Lake Golf Course.

Permit to J. H. Reeves for operation of a used car lot at the intersection of Avenue B and Military Highway.

Rezoned from duplex residential to general commercial the northeast corner of Cherry place and Page Avenue, on Shore Drive, to allow a gasoline service station operation.

Permit to Clyde Abagom to operate a gasoline supply station on the South side of Atlantic Avenue between Pine and Bayberry Streets.

An additional $230,000 will be required for widening Pacific Avenue and for a health center. Reassessment of the city's real property, and repair and improvement of Balto Avenue and Holly Road would require the balance.

A five-man committee was named to confer with Princess Anne County authorities on the proposed bond issue for which a state charter was recently procured. In addition to Councilman Frank Tarrall, Mayor Frank Dusch and the following to serve: Dr. John Crawford, Dr. W. L. Taylor, B. M. Stanton and Hunter C. Phelan.

Use Permit Granted for Midget Auto Racing In Princess Anne use 175 feet on Georgia avenue, 175 feet on Florida avenue and 250 feet on Cleveland street in Euclid Place. The change from residential suburban zoning was sought by William Sutton.

The supervisors also appropriated $250 for completion of a beautification project being undertaken on Laskin road by the Virginia Beach Council of Garden Clubs.

JUNIOR ASSEMBLY

The Junior Assembly will hold a dance on Friday night at the American Legion club, according to spokesman for the social group.

The dance is scheduled to begin at 8:30 p.m. and will end at 11:30 p.m.

County Board of Supervisors Favor North-South Tunnel Route

State Workshop Held By Cancer Society

On Tuesday, February 19th, the Virginia Division of the American Cancer Society held an all day Public Education Workshop at the Hotel Jefferson in Richmond.

Mr. B. W. Woodahl, Executive Director of the Virginia Division, presided over the meeting. Guests from the Society's National Headquarters in New York were Mr. Daniel Schwartz, Assistant Director of the Public Education Section, and Mr. Fred Wilcox, National Representative. Others attending the meeting were many Public Education volunteers and representatives of local units.

The Princess Anne Unit President, Margaret P. Tompkins, was represented by Baxter Sparks, Executive Secretary of the Unit.

Little Theatre Presents

Something unique in theatricals will be featured when the Virginia Beach Little Theatre presents "Night of January 16th" in the high school auditorium on Monday and Tuesday evening, February 25 and 26, and in the Princess Anne Court House on Wednesday evening, February 27. Curtain time for all performances is 8:30.

This is the first play in which the audience takes an integral part in its development and conclusion. As persons enter the auditorium they may leave their names as candidates for jury duty, and this jury, selected from the audience, will be given the problem of deciding the guilt or innocence of the defendant. Both men and women are eligible for jury duty. Between acts the jurors are led off the stage to a deliberation room and just before the ending of the third act they retire for the last time to render a verdict. They vote a short discussion and a majority vote is taken as decisive for this trial.

Audiences generally leave the theatre after performances of "Night of January 16th" debating the correctness of the verdict. The play is built in such a way that the evidence of the defendant's guilt or innocence is evenly balanced and the decision will have to be based on the juror's own feelings toward the case.

Supporting Jane LaGiglia as the defendant, Lon Backman as prosecuting attorney and Sam Lelidman as defense attorney, is an array of Little Theatre performers including Bruce McGuire, Jack Garrison, G. Richard Minnick, Billie Atwill, Allen Tyler, David Allred, Ann McNamara, Anne Henry, Bill Britton, Neil Thomas, Jack Postel, Del Northrup, Helen Ertman, Vivian Alberts, Louise Jesse, Judith Spindle and Rosemary Minnick.

The Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors has joined the long list of political subdivisions and civic organizations favoring a north-south tunnel route across Chesapeake Bay by adopting a resolution at its regular meeting last Monday at Princess Anne.

The resolution, by unanimous vote, called on the Chesapeake Bay Ferry District Commission to establish the proposed multi-million dollar link "between Northampton County on the north and Princess Anne County on the south."

The board voted that the people of the Eastern Shore "have long been desirous of having a direct means of travel between Northampton and Princess Anne." It added that the Supervisors:

"Seek to satisfy the needs of the people of Eastern Shore and promote the general welfare of residents of Princess Anne, the residents of the state, and the traveling public in general."

When the voting on the resolution had been completed, former Suffolk Mayor R. L. Woodward Jr., now president of the Tidewater Virginia Development Council, said "fallacy in thinking" is shown in organized efforts to divert the bridge-tunnel.

The diversion tactics were launched recently by a group on the Lower Peninsula who want the project to be an east-west crossing. Under the plan the project would link the Eastern Shore with the Virginia mainland somewhere north of Newport News and Warwick.

Woodward said the TVDC was quick to recognize the dangers in organized efforts to divert the project.

Woodward said the TVDC can best protect themselves from such working together.

He told the Supervisors the east-west route forces have completely disregarded basic factors in their diversion tactics.

Woodward said the Little Creek-Kiptopeke ferry crossing was established by private enterprise as a north-south route which would best serve the traveling public.

He said it had proven from the outset to be a profitable undertaking, and was such when purchased by the state-created Chesapeake Bay District Commission.

He said that in contrast to the successful north-south ferry route, private enterprise had tried an east-west service (Cape Charles to Old Point) and it was abandoned as a financial failure.

Endorsement of the north-south bay crossing by Princess Anne is another of several already undertaken by local governments as a result of the diversion move on the Lower Peninsula. Portsmouth and Norfolk County have taken official stands for the north-south route. The Norfolk City Council adopted a resolution at its weekly session Tuesday afternoon.

Bullfighting Motif For Art Assn.

An Eighth art — that of bullfighting — has been originated to commemorate the second annual Costume Ball sponsored by the Virginia Beach Art Association in Friday, February 22, 9 P.M., in the Cavalier Room of the Cavalier Club.

Ray Kipper and his orchestra of Toredors will play for dancing, with an exciting floor show of many bullfighting motifs in a series of colorful Latin Dances arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Lynn J. Be of Arthur Murray Studios. Judges of Costumes are Mrs. Kay Doughtie Gowell, talented feature writer; Commander Wynne V. Whidden; and Mr. Joel Cardon, of Tidewater Viewpoints and Dean of Tidewater armaments. Costume prizes will be awarded to Best Female Costume, Best Male Costume, Best Couple, and Funniest Costume. Costumes may be artistic or Latin American, which leaves one an unlimited range of possibilities in choice of dress.

The Virginia Beach Art Association describes this wide appreciation for the initiation of a successfully executed cultural program. A Costume Ball show that was established last year and attended by thousands of people.

Proceeds from this second Annual Artists and Models Costume Ball will be used to further swell the Building Fund of the Art Center — a dream with a plan for reality, which will be the Virginia Beach Art Center for exhibitions, art and craft classes, and for the perpetuation of all cultural activities.

WIDE, WONDERFUL WORLD

BY FRANKLIN J. MEINE
Editor, The American Peoples Encyclopedia

A LIMERICK, as most people know, is a humorous verse form supposed to have originated about 1700 in the barrack room ditties of soldiers of Limerick, Ireland, returned from duty in France. As made popular by Edward Lear in his "Book of Nonsense," published in 1846, the limerick consists of five lines, rhymed a-b-b-b-a. The third and fourth lines have two metrical feet, and the others three. Perhaps the best known of all modern limericks, according to the American Peoples Encyclopedia, is the anonymous "Young Lady of Niger."

There was a young lady of Niger
Who smiled as she rode on a tiger;
They returned from the ride
With the lady inside,
And the smile on the face of the tiger.

However, the people of Limerick haven't devoted much of their time to verse. They find it more profitable to care for the great herds of cattle and the flocks of sheep and goats, and to growing potatoes and oats.

Rates Back Navy Offers

Like the chain reaction of new concepts of warship building set off by the now famous atomic-powered navy submarine NATU-ILUS, the Navy Recruiting Services' own little "bomb" is having its own chain reaction.

The bomb burst with the announcement last November of a plan offering many Navy veterans their service-time rate back, quick cash, immediate leave and choice of coats. The loudest "Explosion" was the fact that many rates were available for re-occupancy even if the veteran had been out up to two years. In certain few critical ratings exceptions to the two year limitation have been made. Many Navy veterans took advantage of this unusual offer, so much so, that the Navy encouraged by the success of the plan, offers more rate-backs.

The latest Navy occupations affected are: (for veterans discharged less than one year) Signalman Second and Third Class, Chief Sonarman and Chief Interior Communicationsman, (telephone system.)

For the Navy veteran discharged less than two years there is Chief Aviation Electrician's Mate and Chief Aviation Fire Control Technician.

And for the record this private little chain reaction is proving to be just as profitable to the Navy and the veterans as nuclear power is proving to be to the world. Contact your Navy Recruiter for all details on "more rates-back and the reenlistment programs."

Mrs. Hatchett's kitchen phone lets her talk to friends, keep an eye on the children at the same time.

Mrs. Hatchett finds her telephone saves $30 and 34 hours in just two weeks

MRS. CORIN F. HATCHETT, of 7 Acorn Ave., Hampton, kept a record of all outgoing and incoming telephone calls at her house for two weeks.

She found that her telephone saved her and her family more than $30 in transportation costs—enough to pay for months of telephone service! Time saved was surprising, too—more than 34 hours that would have been spent on errands or in driving to see friends.

One phone call alone saved Mrs. Hatchett a day-long trip out of town. Learning that a relative was hospitalized in another city, Mrs. Hatchett reached for her telephone—and in a few minutes found out how he was. Without a telephone, she would have spent a whole day traveling to the hospital and home again—plus $11.20 the trip would have cost.

In so many ways, every day, the telephone saves you time, trouble and money. It makes modern living easier, more pleasant. More and more Virginia families are finding that telephone service is one of their biggest bargains.

EDITORIAL SPEAKING

The announcement this week by the special committee of the Virginia Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce that Mr. R. Lee Page had been selected "First Citizen of Virginia Beach for 1956" came as no surprise to many persons who are familiar with the outstanding contributions this gentleman has made to his community and for his fellow man.

Although the award is made annually and is based primarily on accomplishments of the recipient during the past year there has hardly been a year in the life of Mr. Page in Virginia Beach that has not been filled with accomplishments and work for the betterment and improvement of his community.

As might be expected, the selection of Mr. Page for this award has met with favor among all persons of this community who are personally aware of the fine work this gentleman has done. Even those who do not know Mr. Page they have indirectly and directly benefitted from his unselfish giving of his time and effort to their community.

Mr. Page joins a growing list of those who have been honored with this award. We believe that Mr. Page's qualifications covers a longer span of years and his enthusiasm seems to increase with each passing year.

We congratulate R. Lee Page as "First Citizen of Virginia Beach for 1956" and we give thanks for citizens of Mr. Page's type and those other first citizens who have preceded him as recipients of this award.

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING

Road to Miltown

(Wall Street Journal)

Our Mr. Penn tells us that the new Cadillac Eldorado Brougham will come on the market soon equipped with four horns, like built-in outriders with flourishing trumpets. This puts it one up on other GM cars that now offer three horns if you're not satisfied with the two that come as standard equipment. Chrysler, too, is stepping up the national decibel count. Its horns will become more powerful instead of more numerous.

A great many cities have laws against indiscriminate horn-toting, and some smart ones ban the nuisances altogether. All sorts of tests, we hear, indicate that aside from the satisfaction afforded angry drivers a loud auto horn blast doesn't do much good. One school of thought holds that auto horns make everybody jumpy but the man in front of the car. He is usually frightened by the noise into immobility—sometimes permanently.

Why, then, this insistence by Detroit for more and louder auto horns? The reason Mr. Penn also says is quite simple. Engineers who think cars should be quiet have locked horns.

Engine horsepower is on the increase, road speeds are on the increase, even when you've got the car radio turned off. Since everything is so noisy, the insulation engineers have been busy increasing auto insulation so as to decrease the amount of outside noise that can come inside the car. This makes the occupants happier.

But the horn engineers reason that since a man can't hear a car horn as well as he should for his own safety when the windows are rolled up, the thing to do is to make the horn loud enough to hear.

We hate to tell you, but we think the next step of the insulation engineers will be to shut out that added noise and not even Mr. Colbert and Mr. Curtice can expect the horn engineers to take this lying down.

Frankly we don't see how the auto manufacturers can have things loud and quiet on the roads at one and the same time. And we haven't the slightest idea where all this is going to lead. Unless it's to the drugged tranquility of Miltown which, so far as we can see, is just over the hill a ways even for the pedestrians.

—Please tell me what salary the Vice President gets, and whether he is furnished a home by the Federal Government?

A—The salary of the Vice-President is $30,000 on which he must pay income tax. He is allowed $10,000 annually for expenses. The government does not furnish a home for the vice-president. Vice President Nixon recently bought a 21-room house in Washington for which he reportedly paid $75,000, and which Mr. Nixon said "will enable me to meet some of the smaller social commitments." Rep. Stuyvesant, New York, has a bill in the House which would provide the Government furnish the vice-president an official residence, and President Eisenhower also urged that one be provided in his budget message. However this would not effect the incumbent vice-president.

Q—Is there any way to measure cost of the last political campaign? A—If you mean for national officers, no. The law limits the national committees of each political party to $3 million. However the expenses of various other committees set up for the purpose of aiding the various candidates at the national level, including congressional candidates spent an estimated $10,000,000 at the national level. There is at present no limit to the number of committees which may be organized and can spend $3 million each in addition to the two regular national committees.

Q—What is the relationship of the State Department to the United Nations? A—The United Nations is a public international organization in which the United States participates through the State Department. The official head of the State Department delegation is Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mary E. Osborn, Pleasant View, Kentucky: I remember when the L & N Railroad was finished and we went down from Wolf Creek to Pleasant View to see the trains go by. My little brother, George Moses, was four at the time. When the train slowed to pick up a carload of lumber from Jim Jones' saw and grist mill, the smoke began to roll up in big black clouds and the noise of the train puffing sent George running. He would fall in the sand, then get up and run the other way.

Later on, Aunt Lizzie Witt came to see us and we had a big laugh at George. She said if we would go home with her, she would take us for a ride on the train.

She took me and my little brother home with her. Our tickets cost 5 cents each from Pleasant View to Williamsburg, Ky. She spent Saturday and Sunday showing us the town and all the stores and new things in Williamsburg. But we never forgot our first train ride.

Alf Clark later put up a big store in Pleasant View, selling dry goods, hardware and groceries. He also bought produce from the farmers. In exchange, we bought dishes, pots and pans and fine dry goods. Everybody had plenty of everything and at that time Pleasant View was called the "center of the world."

MR. CLYDE T. ELLIS, General Manager of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, comes out of the Federal treasury.

"We do not believe," Mr. Ellis said, "that it was the intent of Congress for consumers and taxpayers to pay the cost of their own misinformation."

Mr. Ellis grants the right of privately owned public service monopolies to use such propaganda advertisements to place their views on current issues before the public, provided the owners do it at their own expense.

"But," he continued, "we are convinced that remedial legislation is today necessary to close the door to the use of ratepayer's money collected to pay the cost of a public service for their own private purpose."

Mr. Ellis declared the Rural Electric system, owned by farmers are directly interested in these propaganda expenditures for two reasons.

1—Nearly two-thirds of the rural electricies are purchasing their wholesale power requirements from the privately owned public utilities, for which they paid $50,449,112 in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1955.

2—Nearly one-third of the rural electricies are purchasing all or part of their wholesale power requirements from Federal wholesale power agencies under laws attacked by these ads, and for which the rural electricies paid the government $38,844,795 in fiscal 1955.

Ellis declares, as set out in the Congressional Record, that the cost of this program of "misinformation" runs into "many millions of dollars a year."

COLOR TV "NOT YET"

SAYS PAUL HIRTZ of HIRTZ-TV SALES SERVICE PHONE 2550

COLOR TV has received so much publicity and has offered so little to the public that we think it time to point out some of the reasons for saying "NOT YET."

Would you advise buying a light weight auto with no tires only tubes to run upon, even if a FREE brush were included to sweep the roads clean of pebbles and glass. After attending four Color TV schools I can say, color receivers are in a very similar state of development.

When a single gun color picture tube is available and production can be accomplished by a number of major producers, when the controls can be set and adjustments can be made by the set owners.

When the cost of color sets is in line with the number of programs available; When the installation and service problems are solved; then will we no longer say "NOT YET."

Being in the service business "up to our ears" so to speak, and selling major brands of black and white television we are alarmed at the number of manufacturers who are sacrificing quality in new sets, to make excessive profits.

Anyone buying a television today must if he wishes to stay on speaking terms with his service man, and avoid what seems to be higher repair bills, purchase a set not stripped of the basic elements, not made of inferior parts. The Virginia Electronics Association is talking steps to protect the public from unethical manufacturers who seem to be more prominent today than ever. We believe the service industry is doing a fine job in spite of the difficulties they face.

Guard Against Fire in the Home

WHERE THERE'S SMOKE there's fire, but when smoke starts billowing at home or at work it's a little late to start reading up on how to fight a fire. Putting one out is very much like dosing a sick person. A tablespoon of a certain medicine may cure a stomachache but not give a bit of relief for a sore tooth. It all smolders down to this. After calling the fire department, if the fire is still small and you want to fight it yourself, know the cause, the approved cure and apply it.

There are three classes of fire and each calls for a different extinguishing method. The first class is started from inflammable liquids like oil, fat, paraffin and paint. Many of these originate in the kitchen from fat on the range, in the broiler or skillet or from lighting paraffin used in making jam and jelly. You have a good extinguisher right on the kitchen shelf . . . that box of baking soda. A handful of soda tossed over a small starting fire will knock it cold by releasing carbon dioxide gas which helps smother the flames. In fact, one of the most effective commercial dry chemical extinguishers is charged 97 percent with baking soda.

The second type fire is from common combustibles like wood, paper and textiles. Water here is the cure.

The third type . . . on electrical fire . . . poses special problems because it must be fought with agencies that are non-conductors if the fire fighter doesn't want to be suddenly knocked into the next world. Such a fire is best left to the experts.

The well protected home therefore should have two types of extinguishers to lick the various types of fires that might break out. A portable extinguisher that squirts plain water, such as a strategically placed hose, and an extinguisher that squirts a dry smothering chemical or an easily reached box of baking soda.

William And Mary Alumni Gather For Charter Day

Norfolk area alumni of the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg gathered for their annual Charter Day banquet on Monday, Feb. 18.

The dinner, jointly sponsored by the Norfolk and Virginia Beach chapters of the Society of the Alumni of the College of William and Mary, was held at Pine Tree Inn. A social and conversational hour began at 8:30 p.m., followed by a steak dinner at 7:30 p.m.

The main speaker of the evening was Dr. Charles F. Marsh, Dean of the Faculty at the Williamsburg College. Dr. Marsh's topic was "The William and Mary Faculty: Past, Present, and Future."

Dr. Marsh has been with the William and Mary faculty since 1930 and, in addition to his duties at the College, was active in many community projects. He was also the author of a number of articles, books, and reports on taxation, the Virginia economy, and other economic and other economic topics. He was editor and co-author of "The Hampton Roads - Peninsula Area In The Second World War."

The banquet was in honor of the 264th anniversary of the granting of the Charter of the College of William and Mary issued in 1693 by King William III and Queen Mary II.

Phony Correspondence Schools Prey on Veterans, Housewives

The people most likely to fall for phony lures of good pay and rewarding careers offered through "quick and easy" correspondence study are youngsters straight out of high school, ex G.I.s, housewives straining to make ends meet, and those stuck in low-paying jobs who want to get out of their rut and into something better, according to the editors of Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine.

That many of these schools are shady has been obvious to the Federal Trade Commission for more than 30 years. Salesmen from the gyp schools promise the prospective student anything in order to sign him up, and pocket the tuition money.

Here is some of the sales talk you should watch out for: Suggesting that you may win a scholarship; promising that you will get a good paying job if you complete the course; bragging about the staff of the school, when actually one man and a few clerks run it; asserting that anyone can master the course; when the study material may be over the heads of many people; alleging that tools needed for the course are free, when in truth they must be paid for.

There are many legitimate correspondence schools, and you can check to see if the school you are interested in is reputable. Contact the FTC to see if the school has ever been in trouble with the government or write the Veterans Administration to find out if the school's course is approved for veterans' training.

The magazine also advises those who wish to study at home to check with high school and university extension divisions for information on free or inexpensive courses.

The MIXING BOWL..
IT'S Fun TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

For the very latest in food fads and fables... for practical, down-to-earth recipes that please both palate and pocketbook, read the "Mixing Bowl" by Lucile Clark each Thursday in the Sun-News.

Revolutionary New Mix Makes A Lucious, Low-Calorie Topping

It was so nice attending the Press Luncheon & Fashion Show recently with Peggy Kohl, Product Publicist for General Foods, as hostess.

Last week I gave you a tiny peek into this DREAM. I enjoyed having a part in it.

Do you believe in dreams? You don't? Well - I'm sure you'll change your mind when you get acquainted with this new and exciting topping that is now in our food stores - If you'll try some you'll find, it is easy to prepare.

Inexpensive to use Low in calories - only 15 per tablespoon Stores well before mixing (Keeps on food shelf.)

Store well after mixing, never weeps, keeps in refrigerator for 3 days.

Good as an ingredient - for Banarian pies, refrigerator desserts, salads dressings.

Versatile - freezes well, combines well with other flavors, tops hot beverages.

Perfect topping - gives everyday desserts party look & taste. Yes - and it tastes wonderful - try this Dream Whip and you'll agree, I'm sure.

Now a little bit about a lush low - calorie dessert - I prepared the other day. Its another one of the good things General Foods has for you. D - Zeta Pudding. My bit after a dish of chocolate D-Zeta topped with Dream Whip. No fooling - it was just as good as it could be and satisfied that yearning I had been having for weeks - Haven't you said time & time again "I want something good but can't decide what it is?" If that yearning was for chocolate - as was mine - you won't have to wonder any longer - Try it - and decide for yourself.

If you are a weight - watcher here are a couple of suggestions for low - calorie salads.

Cottage Cheese King
Season cottage cheese with salt, pepper finely chopped chives & parsley - mix well & spoon into ring mold - Chill - Invert onto Salad greens - Fill center with cucumber & tomato slices.

Cooked Vegetable Salad
Tender chopped Spinach, string beans and cooked carrots topped with slices of hard - cooked egg and sprinkled with salad & pepper - is a popular one.

A dressing for fruit salad that is enjoyed at our house is made by combine the juice of:
1 lemon.
1 lime
1 orange grated rind of lemon
1 egg
¼ cup of sugar
Dash of salt
Combine & cook over medium heat - stirring constantly - until comes to a boil - boil 1 minute Remove from heat - Cool. Dream Whip I'm sure would be mighty good fold into this dressing for some types of salad.

Strawberry Hurry-up Pie
Bake a 9 inch pie shell by your favorite pastry recipe - Cool.
Dissolve 1 pkg - strawberry Jello in 1 cup boiling water, dash salt When thoroughly dissolved add 1-16 oz ounce pkg unthawed frozen strawberries (sweetened & sliced) As you add them to hot mixture use fork to break apart. Mixture will quickly thicken - continue to stir & when all berries are broken apart & mixture is partially set - pour into the cooled pie shell. Chill until thoroughly firm. Serve with - of course, Dream Whip - of course.
Bye-Now

FORT STORY TELLINGS

ENGINE TESTS

Testing of a new type of marine engine began this week at Fort Story.

Project officer, Major Herman Nadler, estimates that it will take some six months to give 1,000 hours of operational tests to a new type of Packard diesel engine designed for the Army's Landing Craft Mechanized (LCM). The LCM is a flat-bottomed craft which lands cargo over a bow ramp after partial beaching.

Two of the small vessels will be used in the tests, one powered by a conventional engine of the type now in use; the other by the new design, which utilized aluminum to make it lighter. Including a 1,000 pound reduction gear box, the new engine weighs approximately 3,300 pounds — more than 1,000 pounds lighter than the engines now in use.

In addition, Nadler said, a 21-inch pitch propeller will be used in place of the old 24-inch pitch prop.

The engines will be tested for durability, day and night operation, beaching, retracting power and similar items, he concluded.

CAPEHART HOUSING

Surveyors have started laying off the locations of the new Capehart Housing area, which is to be built at Fort Story.

J. W. Bateson, Company, Inc. of Dallas, Texas was low bidder on the two million dollar project which calls for construction of 150 family housing units — each with three bedrooms — on this site.

Current activity is being planned in the area next to the present parade field.

OFFICERS OPEN

Lieutenant Colonel Charles E. A. Morgan was named new president of the Board of Governors of the Fort Story Officers Open Mess last week. The group which Morgan heads will formulate the policies and activities of the post's Officers Club.

Also named to the Board were Major Michael C. Homa, Major George E. Thibodeau, Captain George W. Schreiner, Captain Edgar V. Friend, First Lieutenant John W. Plummer, First Lieutenant Ivan R. Richardson, Second Lieutenant Richard Kops and Chief Warrant Officer Freeman H. Buteau.

In addition, a new constitution for the Open Mess was adopted.

NEW PATCH

Soldiers at Fort Story are sewing on a new shoulder patch this week. It is the newly-adopted symbol of the Transportation Training Command. Fort Story is a part of the command, which has its headquarters at Fort Eustis.

The new uniform patch is lozenge or diamond shaped with rounded edges. The background is brick red, the color for the Transportation Corps and the figures are gold. The patch shows a torch of knowledge, which is offered in the Transportation Training Command, and superimposed on that is a winged wheel representing transportation.

Nicknamed "the home of the trucks that swim," Fort Story conducts all of the Army's initial amphibious truck training.

HONOR PARADE

Two special honors were presented at Fort Story last week. Known as an "NCO Parade," the view was conducted by the post's non-commissioned officers.

Master Sergeant Leonard E. Williams of the 564th Transportation Platoon was presented with a Certificate of Achievement for the outstanding performance of his duties as maintenance sergeant with the gigantic BARC's (Barge, Amphibious, Resupply, Cargo) which has unit operated in Far North operations last summer. For the past three years, Army Transportation Corps troops — in cooperation with the Military Sea Transport Service — have carried supplies and equipment to the vital radar sites and military installations near the Arctic Circle. The BARC's, world's largest "swimming trucks" weigh approximately 85 tons and are capable of carrying up to 100 tons of cargo on both land and water. Sgt. Williams was honored for his outstanding work in keeping the four mammoths operating in all types of terrain and weather.

A special plaque was awarded to the 14th Transportation Battalion for its outstanding performance during the last Red Cross blood drive. The units 322 enlisted men and 16 officers volunteered "en masse" when the Bloodmobile visited the post's service club.

In all 440 prospective donors appeared. 208 were accepted which topped the post record of 211 set a year ago.

BARC'S TO SHIPYARD

Traffic was momentarily halted in Newport News last week when drivers were confronted with some of the most unusual vehicles they had faced. Two BARC's from Fort Story (the only four currently in use by the Army) were towed up from the James River and moved into a parking area by the Horne Brothers Shipyard. There they will undergo overhaul and general repairs before operations in the Far North this summer.

Originally designed for use at Inchon, Korea, where the tide rises and falls 30 feet in a matter of six hours, the BARC's were not completed before the end of the Korean War. They have proved their worth, however, in amphibious operations — particularly in the Pacific Bay area of the Far North where the tidal action is much the same as at Inchon. The 36.00 X-41 three, 9 1/2 feet in diameter, exert 45 pounds pressure per square inch of ground and can move over marshy areas which would bog down conventional vehicles. The mammoth vehicles are amphibious, and can operate equally well on land or water.

VISITORS

Major General Rush B. Lincoln, Jr., commanding general of the Transportation Training Command is visiting Fort Story today (February 21).

Following his regular briefing on the post's recent activities, General Lincoln will present an award to the 461st Transportation Amphibious Truck Company. The unit was judged to have the "Best Mess" for the TTC last month. Captain N. R. Thompson is commanding officer of the 461st. Second Lieutenant Larry Koster is unit mess officer, and Sergeant First Class Charlie Jackson is the 461's mess sergeant.

Major General Palmer W. Edwards of Fort Meade, Maryland, Second Regional Commander of the Anti-Aircraft Artillery, will visit Fort Story on February 26. General Edwards, whose region includes all the AAA defenses on the east coast, will visit the NIKKE guided missile site located on this Cape Henry post.

Eight retired officers were the guests of the post last week in a periodical ceremony honoring the men and their years of military service. The men, retired Army officers who reside in this area, joined key post officers in luncheon at the Fort Story Officers Club. They then toured the guided missile installations here and viewed the newly-enlarged post exchange.

ROA

Application has been made for the formation of a chapter of the Reserve Officers Association at Fort Story, and a membership drive has been opened.

A sufficient number of applications to form a chapter of a chapter have been received, he said. However, more membership applications are now being accepted.

HOME DEMONSTRATION WEEK — Virginia's home demonstration club members will join those throughout the nation in the observance of the 12th National Home Demonstration Week, April 28 to May 4, says Miss Maude Wallace, assistant director of the Agricultural Extension Service, VPI.

"Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World" is the theme which will again be used. Miss Wallace says the annual event affords a special time to acquaint the public with what home demonstration work is and what it offers, and to recognize more than a half-million volunteer leaders who help with the program.

Plans for special programs, exhibits, etc., will be announced soon.

A two-inch square of charcoal or an open jelly glass of charcoal sticks placed in the refrigerator will absorb all food odors, keeping the refrigerator sweet and clean-smelling.

At BPW Meei

Mrs. Pat Kennedy, Health and Safety Chairman of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Princess Anne County, presented a most interesting program to club members at the February meeting held at the Pine Tree Inn on February 11.

Miss Mamie Stinnett, Health Nurse for the City of Virginia Beach, in a talk on Polio and the Salk Vaccine, stressed the importance of adult inoculation, along with a resume of the work the Health Department is doing in administering the vaccine.

Miss Harriet Allstock, Superintendent of the Virginia Beach Hospital and a member of the club, spoke briefly on Heart Disease, and showed a film sponsored by the American Heart Association, which portrayed the importance of regular physical check-ups in detecting heart trouble, and steps taken by doctors in such check-ups.

Preceding the program a short business meeting was conducted by the president, Miss Ruth Newell; at which time the members voted to donate $25 dollars to The Future Business Leaders of America Club of Princess Anne High School to defray expenses of delegates to their state convention in the spring. The youth club at the local school is being sponsored by the BPW Club.

Fifth freedom: Two Fords

Who says you have to be independently wealthy to enjoy the fun and independence of two Fords?

Fact is, you can own two Fords for the price of one expensive car. And Ford has featured this year that even have the higher-priced cars taking notes.

Take styling: No matter which of Ford's 20 new models you choose, you'll get a car that's completely new, with the stunning Sculptured Look that gives Ford the Mark of Tomorrow.

No other car on the American Road can touch a Ford. Proof? A stock model '57 Ford averaged 106.16 mph for 50,000 miles at Bonneville, Utah.

Choice? Ford gives you your choice of not one, but two big-car sizes. There's the Custom and Custom 300 Series, over sixteen handsome feet of car. Meeting Dean Hess Inspiring Experience for Rock Hudson

The big, handsome young actor plays Col. Dean Hess, the famous flying parson, in "Battle Hymn," a Universal-International picture in Technicolor and Cinemascope which opens February 24 at the Beach Theatre.

Rock is a man who thinks of his life in terms of milestones. His marriage to Phyllis Gates is the brightest, but career-wise there are two others which are equally significant.

The first happened in Portland, Ore., in a heavy rain facing a minor player in "Bend of the River" with James Stewart. Rock had been sent north for the world premiere featuring personal appearances by Stewart, Julie Adams and other members of the cast. Suddenly he found himself on a giant grandstand in the middle of a heavy rain facing a drenched audience of 10,000 people who had gathered in the streets in front of and adjacent to the Broadway Theatre. There was tremendous applause, whistling, stamping.

Rock didn't know it then but that night a star was born. Studio executives present for the premiere festivities were amazed to see the public reaction to a young man who had appeared in only five pictures. The wheels began turning at U-I to build a ladder to the stars for Hudson.

The second milestone came with Rock's casting in "Magnificent Obsession" opposite Jane Wyman. Fifteen years earlier the same story had established Robert Taylor as Hollywood's ranking dramatic leading man. It made Hudson one of the top ten box office stars.

The third beacon shining on the path of Hudson's success is "Battle Hymn" and for the unusual reason that Rock has been intimately associated with the character he portrayed.

Col. Hess came to Hollywood as technical adviser on the exciting story of his life and became very close friends with Hudson.

TWO of the most important issues in the 85th Congress are independent, one upon the other. Likely the most important from both a social and political standpoint, is the passage of a more or less liberal civil rights law, particularly as it affects the right to vote.

Certainly the southern representatives in the Senate will filibuster this civil rights bill. But both Democrats and Republicans are looking at the record of the last election and can plainly see what happened to the negro vote in both the North and South. It went to the Republican party, or rather to President Eisenhower, for the first time in more than 35 years. As a result, there is in both parties a slight majority which really wants to vote for some form of a civil rights measure. Dependent upon passage of this civil rights legislation is the vital and important school construction bill.

If civil rights passes, then there is an excellent chance that the school construction bill along lines proposed by the President will get through, that is, if civil rights passes first. If it doesn't then the filibusterers will seek to attach some sort of a civil right amendment onto the school bill, as was done in the last Congress and which likely will again defeat the school measure.

At this writing, it appears that the President's Middle East "Doctrine" will pass the Congress, despite the "bull-in-a-China shop" tactics of Secretary of State Dulles. Many members of the Congress, including both Democrats and Republicans find it hard to reconcile Dulles' statements today that the President's blank check Middle East legislation is today vital to the nation's safety, the safety of the Middle East, nations, when in November both Dulles and the President were saying to the people that things were never better in that section of the world, and that no American soldier would ever be committed to settle the Egyptian or any other question in the Middle East. What is paradoxical about the Congressional attitude, is that there has been little fuss raised about the President's urgent plea that he be given a blank check to use United States manpower in that area. What has raised all the fuss is over the question of money, a mere $200 million, whereas the Congress has heretofore voted much, much more in foreign aid without balking an eye.

With some few exceptions, on the Democratic side, the Senators take the view expressed by former President Truman - give the President the power and authority he asks, and then ask some very pointed questions. One outstanding exception is Senator J. W. Fulbright, of Arkansas, one of the best informed men in the Senate on foreign affairs, a long time member and third ranking Democrat on the Foreign Relations Committee. The Arkansas Senator has directly challenged either the necessity or wisdom of the President's so-called doctrine.

Other important legislation which will see some acrimonious debate will be over the policies of the Atomic Energy Commission which seek to turn over atomic power to private industry.

New Summer Uniforms To Be Worn by Reserves

The Portsmouth-Norfolk and Virginia Beach units of the 1st Depot Supply Battalion, the local Marine Corps Reserve ground organization, will be sporting tropical worsted khaki summer uniforms this summer, it was announced by Lt. Col. L. L. Rostov, of the 7400 block of Mill Brook Road, who is the commanding officer of the Marine Reserve Battalion.

Hitherto only the regular members of the Marine Corps were issued the summer uniform of tropical worsted material, while the Reserve Marines wore khaki uniforms of a cotton material.

A further uniform change is also being made in that the local Marine Reserves will also be issued the "baracks hat" which is the hat with the bill. Normally Reserves were issued only the "over-seas" type cap.

Colonel Rostov stated that this uniform change will bring the Reserve Marines in line with the regulars insofar as uniforms issues are concerned and will also tend to "add to the appearance" of Marine Reserves. "Although," added Colonel Rostov, "our local Marine Reserves are highly satisfactory in their general overall appearance at the present time."

The new uniforms are currently being issued and it is expected that all members of the battalion will have their new uniforms within the next 30 days.

Norfolk Naval Supply Center Gets New Data Transceiver

A new data transceiver at the Norfolk Naval Supply Center's Aviation Supply Depot slashes aeronautical supply total processing time to a fraction of the former mail and dispatch method.

Linked the high-speed electronic communication network are 14 aviation field activities from coast to coast. Each activity is connected through the transceiver network headquarters, the Aviation Supply Office in Philadelphia.

The Center's transceiver went into official operation last week. "The data transceiver network is a forward step in aviation supply support," a spokesman at the Center said this week. "Supply must keep pace with new Navy's ever increasing importance in this nuclear and guided missile age."

The data transceiver network cuts aeronautics' supply total processing time. The machine can transmit 11 fully-punched 80-column cards a minute between neighboring activities or those thousands of miles apart.

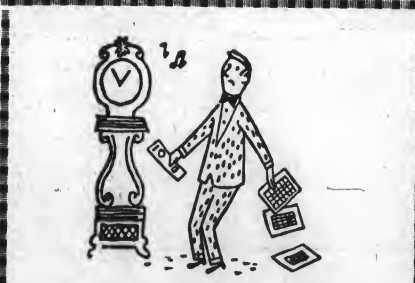

The data transceiver operates by electronic impulses sent over a telephone line leased from the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

The machine features both card-to-card and voice transmission. The operator puts punched cards into the machine's hopper. At a given signal from ASD, she presses a key and transmission begins. The sending machine transmits electronic impulses from the punched cards. The receiving machine reproduces identical cards from these impulses.

The same procedure is reversed when requisitions are intended for ASD Norfolk action. The sender transmits to ASD Norfolk via the relay station at ASD. At ASD the cards are placed in the ASD Norfolk machine and transmitted.

A direct telephone line from each field activity to ASD permits voice communication during certain hours. Through ASD, ASD

Notes From Your County Agent

FIRST BLUE MOLD WARNING RECEIVED FROM SOUTH

The season's first warnings of tobacco blue mold are now being received from Florida and Georgia, says E. B. Fenne, plant pathologist at VPI.

The disease, which when not controlled can devastate the tobacco crop, developed in both new and old beds during the period from January 21 to February 16 in several Georgia counties.

In Florida, blue mold was found early this month in a new bed of cigar-wrappers tobacco sowed December 31. The disease apparently had been present since the middle of January.

Virginia growers have done a fairly good job of controlling blue mold the past few years, and the advice to them again is to "get ready," and to keep an eye on their southern neighbors.

Fenne also said a parasitic weed new to the western hemisphere has been reported recently in South Carolina. It is "striga," and is potentially a threat to other areas where it occurs in South Carolina. It has drastically reduced corn yields and in some cases destroyed crabgrass.

ALFALFA ACREAGE CONTINUES INCREASE

"Alfalfa acreage continues to increase rapidly in Virginia," says J. P. Shoulters, associate agronomist at VPI.

This was an increase of 20,000 acres from 1955 and an increase of 115,000 acres since 1950. Shoulders says no other perennial forage crop gives as high yields and is as tolerant of drought as alfalfa. It is no longer thought of as a hay crop alone, but is used for silage and grazing as well.

It is alfalfa seedling time now in Virginia. Specifically, in Tidewater and eastern Virginia, make spring seedlings during February and up to March 15. In middle and southern Piedmont, make spring seedlings during February and March. In northern Piedmont and western Virginia, seed during March and up to April 15.

Shoulders says alfalfa is the most exacting forage crop grown in the state in its lime and fertilizer requirements, and in soil drainage needs. However, there are usually some soils adapted to alfalfa production on most farms in Virginia. Here are some suggestions to help obtain a better stand and a more productive crop:

Choose a deep, well-drained soil. Test soil for lime. Use liberal amounts of fertilizer when seeding. Prepare a good seedbed. Seed an adapted variety, such as Certified Williamsburg, Certified Atlantic, Certified Buffalo, Certified Narragansett, Kansas Common, or Oklahoma Approved.

Inoculate the seed. Use a good seedling method. And seed at the proper time. Detailed suggestions are included in Circular 665, "Alfalfa Seeding." Ask your county agent, or write the VPI Agricultural Extension Service, Blacksburg, for a free copy.

BABY BEEF SHOWS SET FOR SPRING

Over 700 baby beefs are being fed and groomed by Virginia 4-H club members for a series of shows and sales this spring.

Ardon N. Huff, 4-H club livestock specialist at VPI, says purebred heifer shows, and hog and lamb shows and sales, will be held in conjunction with some of the events. The purebred heifers will not be sold, but will go back into the club member's herds.

Here is the schedule of baby beef shows and sales and other livestock events as noted:

April 10, Richmond, purebred heifers and market hogs also; April 11, Fredericksburg; April 17, Bristol, heifers also; April 19, Roanoke, open class cattle and market hogs also, heifer show on April 18; April 23, Charlottesville; April 24, Orange; April 30, Smithfield; May 1, Suffolk; May 2, Portsmouth, heifers also; May 2, Front Royal; May 3, Danville, heifers also; May 9, Franklin; and May 10, Petersburg.

County agents can give details on time and place.

EXPOSITION PLANS PROGRESS AT VPI

The 1957 exposition for the fourth annual student agricultural exposition at VPI, April 25-27.

Beverly Driver, VPI forestry student from Timberlake, director of the exposition, says the event will open at 1 p. m. April 25 with the viewing of exhibits in War Memorial building, and will close with the awards banquet at 6:30 p. m. April 27, when the "queen" of the exposition will be crowned.

The program will include a convocation, commercial and educational exhibits, the "little international" livestock show, a dairy show, a livestock sale, several judging contests, square dancing, and several novelty contests.

Four-H, FFA, and other groups throughout the state are planning field trips to the exposition. Programs and additional information are available from Beverly Driver, Box 7B, Virginia Tech Station, Blacksburg.

4-H Achievements Outlined As National Observance Nears

Four-H club officials at VPI are indulging in a little stock-taking these days. The occasion? The advent of National 4-H Club Week, March 2-9.

Purpose of the observance, explains Dr. W. E. Skelton, state 4-H agent, is to provide a special occasion for evaluating achievements and making plans, to inform the public of the value of 4-H training, to interest other young people in enrolling in 4-H work, and to recognize the important part played by local leaders.

In all the states and territories the club members are planning exhibits, reports, and special programs for the observance, which this year has as its theme "Improving Family and Community Living."

In Virginia, Dr. Skelton notes a record membership of 67,345 are indulging in a little stock-taking these days. The occasion? The advent of National 4-H Club Week, March 2-9.

There are now 2,156 clubs in all the counties of the state. In 1956 club members conducted 106,842 projects. The eight most popular were clothing, foods, electric, safety, garden, livestock, home grounds beautification, and health. Nineteen counties had more than 1,000 members last year. Top was Franklin with 2,385 white members and 318 Negroes.

Dr. Skelton explains the 4-H program is a part of the national educational system of Agricultural Extension Service work in which the United States Department of Agriculture, the state land-grant colleges, and the counties share.

The 4-H club idea has spread around the world, the plan having been adapted to suit varying needs and conditions in some 40 different countries.

More information on 4-H club work and on National 4-H Club Week is available from any county agent, or from the state 4-H office, VPI, Blacksburg.

New Donor of Awards in 4-H Dairy Program

CHICAGO (Special) The Oliver Corporation will officially support 4-H Club work this year as new donor of awards to qualified 4-H Club members participating in the National 4-H Dairy program, announced Guy L. Noble, director of the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work. The arrangement stems from Oliver's long-time interest in 4-H youth, and particularly in the dairy projects, Noble revealed.

Alva W. Phelps, president of Oliver Corporation, is personally acquainted with the remarkable achievements of 4-Hers who have won top honors in the dairy program. While participating in the National 4-H Club Congress and the annual 4-H Dairy Conference in Chicago, Mr. Phelps has had many firsthand opportunities to know 4-H boys and girls.

In accepting the awards sponsorship of this important youth program for Oliver Mr. Phelps said, "We must not relax our farm research effort for a single moment particularly where it contributes to the health and vigor of our people. We must speed the job of putting our research findings into practice. This is where 4-H comes into the picture. We think there is no faster or easier way to spread farm research than through 4-H Club work."

The National 4-H Dairy program is designed to teach boys and girls modern dairy practices recommended by the State Extension Services and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Last year nearly 135,000 boys and girls enrolled in the 4-H Dairy program. It is expected that the number will be increased in 1957, according to Mr. Noble. The 4-H Club members from 48 states have an opportunity to compete for county, state and national awards. Next fall six national winners will be named by the Extension Service to receive a $400 college scholarship, along with state winners who will attend the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago as guest of the Oliver Corporation. Four winners in each county are eligible for gold-filled medals of honor.

Two Information Booths Will Be Established by C. of C. at Beach

In the regular monthly meeting of The Board of Directors of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce on February 21st, the recommendations of a report on the two proposed information booths were adopted. Mr. T. G. Adams, who presented the report, stated the plan called for one booth at the southwest corner of 33rd Street and Pacific Avenue (this property loaned through the courtesy of Mr. Dan Dalis), the second booth to be located on 17th Street extended in front of the water tower, (this property belongs to the City of Virginia Beach.) Recommendation was that the booths be opened from May 30th, 1957, to September 15, 1957, seven days a week, 10 AM to 6 PM. These official Virginia Beach Booths were proposed to facilitate handling of the heavy tourist influx anticipated for the Jamestown Festival and the many events in this immediate area.

The Board of Directors saluted Mr. R. Lee Page as having been chosen 1956's First Citizen of the Year at Virginia Beach. Mr. Page was one of the directors of the Chamber, a past president of the Chamber, and is now Chairman of the Beautification Committee

In which post he has been highly lauded.

Other business included The Chamber's sponsoring a former resolution to have the Bay Bridge Tunnel follow The North-South Route with the approach as close to Virginia Beach as practicable.

The treasurer, Mr. James Kenton, presented the Chamber's proposed budget for 1957 in the amount of $25,500, which was approved by the Board.

Representatives of The Virginia Beach Art Association appeared before the Board of Directors to review the plans for the 1957 Boardwalk Art Show and to make a bid for the Community's Co-operation. This committee included Mrs. John H. Doyle Jr., President of the Art Association, Mrs. T. F. James, General Chairman of the Boardwalk Art Show, Mrs. H. B. Price Jr., co-chairman of the Boardwalk Art Show, Alice Granberry Parker, Publicity Director, Kenneth Harris represented the out of town artists.

Fraternal Order Of Police Congratulated For Welcome Signs

The newly erected welcome sign on the Atlantic Parkway just at the entrance of the city limits of Virginia Beach is receiving compliments from every corner and congratulations should be directed to the Virginia Beach Lodge Seven of the Fraternal Order of Police, who erected the attractive sign.

The illuminated sign is of solid steel construction and was built at a cost of approximately $250. Sergeant C. R. "Mickey" Bailey served as chairman of the sign committee for the lodge.

In addition to the huge "Welcome to Our City" lettering the sign also contains the emblems and locations of meeting places of eight different civic organizations.

According to E. A. Culverhouse, president of the POP Lodge, many letters of commendation and approval have been received by the police organization for erecting the sign. Culverhouse also revealed plans to erect similar signs on 31st Street and still later another sign at the city's limit on 17th Street.

The Virginia Beach City Council took note of the new sign at its meeting on February 21, and passed the following resolution:

WHEREAS, The Fraternal Order of the City of Virginia Beach, Virginia, has through its generosity, without any cost to the city organizations, erected an iron structure to hold the signs and emblems of the various civic organizations in the city; and

WHEREAS, it also plans to erect a similar structure at other entrances to Virginia Beach on Seventeenth Street and Thirty-First Street;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the council of the City of Virginia Beach do hereby extend its thanks and appreciation to the Fraternal Order of the Police Chapter Number 7 of Virginia Beach for this great improvement to the appearance of the entrances to the city, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the said Chapter and spread upon the Minute Book of the city.

Andersen Wins Art Award

Leif W. Andersen, Jr., of New York City, the son of Mrs. Leif W. Andersen of Virginia Beach, has been awarded the S. J. Wallace Truman Prize for landscape painting by artists under 35 years of age, according to word received here.

The award was made at the 132nd Annual Exhibition of the National Academy of Design held February 21 at the Academy Galleries in New York. The award is a $500 cash prize.

More than 200 items, the contributions of both members and non-members were included in the exhibition. The selection of the prize-winners was made by a jury of awards of which Leon Krill was the chairman for paintings in oil and Paul Marshall the chairman for sculpture. Their well-known championship of art's traditional values guarantees that standards of skill and common sense are observed rather than emphasis on experimentation.

Whereas the teachers of our children are this year observing the Centennial of the National Education Association, and

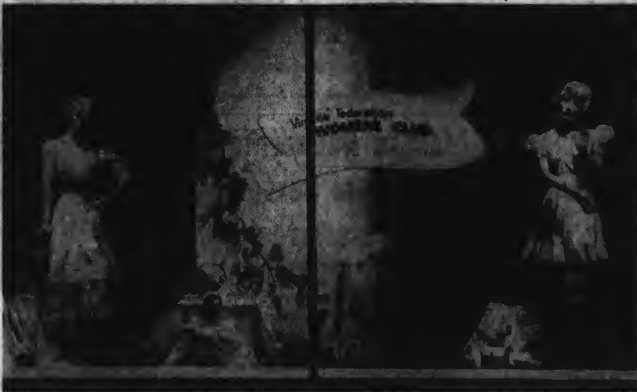

Whereas adequate vision is a primary requirement for children to achieve in school and obtain full benefit of the talent and time of teachers, and

Whereas our teachers and their organizations merit all the honor and consideration that appreciative parents and other citizens can give them,

THEREFORE be it resolved that I, Frank Dusich, Mayor of Virginia Beach, join with the Tidewater Council of Optometry in dedicating Save Your Vision Week, March 3-9, to the National Education Association and the teachers of our City.

Chinese Corner Change Delayed

PRINCESS ANNE—A move to have Chinese Corner on Virginia Beach boulevard named Oddie Corner after Elias Codd of Norfolk was stalled here Monday, at least temporarily.

Edwin Kellam, a Norfolk attorney, appeared before the county's Board of Supervisors today to formally request that the corner's designation be changed. He presented letters from several prominent Norfolk citizens saying that Codd, a Norfolk destination salesman and noted West Bond salesman, was worthy of the honor. Codd is the owner of the northwest corner of the intersection.

On a motion made by Supervisor James G. Darden, of London Bridge, the board tabled the matter for additional study.

P. A. Teachers Get Pay Raise

PRINCESS ANNE—Teachers' salaries were raised $150 annually by action of the Princess Anne County School Board Tuesday.

The new scale for the 1957 school term beginning July 1 will be $3,100 for degree teachers, compared to $2,950 in 1956. The maximum pay is $4,600, reached by the annual increment of $100.

The school board also discussed the $2,700,000 annual budget for the forthcoming year, which was approved earlier this week by the County Board of Supervisors.

Supt. Frank W. Cox told the board that both the Larrymore and Woodstock Elementary Schools in Kempsville District, were under construction and should be ready for occupancy by the Sept. 1957 term.

The board approved 21 teacher appointments, including five new teachers to handle increased enrollments at Thalia School.

Girl Scout Dinner Features Mexico

Joyce Flissler To Appear At Cavalier

Joyce Flissler, violinist, will appear at the Cavalier Hotel at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday, March 5th, in the last concert of the Virginia Beach Concert Association series.

Miss Flissler's New York debut in 1951 as the winner of the Naumbers Memorial Award was one of the season's outstanding recitals. The New York Tribune wrote: "She is a brilliant, disciplined, extremely musical violinist... (she played) with every sign of musical comprehension and authority." She has since toured this country, Mexico, Brazil, Trinidad and recently returned from a tour of France under the auspices of the Jeunesses Musicales.

Miss Flissler, a native New Yorker and graduate of the Juillard School of Music, has an extensive record of past performances. After her debut at the National Gallery of Art, Paul Hume, the distinguished Washington, D.C. musical critic wrote: "Joyce Flissler belongs on our busiest and best concert stages. There is nothing she lacks as of the present moment to stand ahead of any other woman violinist, nor are there too many men who play better than she."

One look at the program will convince the concert goer he will have an exciting evening - Bach, Beethoven and - "Jitterbugs."

National Save Your Vision Week

National Save Your Vision Week will be celebrated March 3-9, with the Tidewater Council of Optometry sponsoring the observance in this area.

"Adequate Vision for School Achievement" will be the slogan in honor of the centennial of the National Education Association, an organization of more than 600,000 American teachers.

Optometrists in this state are scheduled to appear before Parents-Teachers Associations and other audiences to explain the connection between "eyes and learning." In many communities throughout the country, school children will have their vision

Amphib SeaBees Plan 15th Birthday Celebration

LITTLE CREEK — Amphibious Construction Battalion Two, stationed at the Little Creek Naval Amphibious Base, is planning a celebration in honor of the 15th anniversary of the Navy's Construction Battalions on March 5.

Amphibious Construction Battalions were created to give direct support to amphibious landings. They are the specialized offspring of the highly effective Mobile Construction Battalions which won worldwide fame as the "fighting Seabees" of World War II and the Korean conflict.

ACB Two, which is commanded by Cmdr. L. O. Nrdyke, CEC, is one of two Amphibious Construction Battalions now active in the Navy. Consisting of more than 400 officers and men who operate 250 pieces of rolling stock and heavy machinery, it has participated in virtually every amphibious operation made by the Atlantic Amphibious Forces since the battalion was formed.

The original Seabees were composed of typical American workers representing sixty trades and professions. They became known as the "Can Do" sailors, a title deriving from their laconic response to requests for the "impossible."

In the Pacific campaigns of World War II, the Seabees landed in the first assault waves, and were the last to leave the beach.

A favorite pastime of the Seabees was to spend their off-duty time in the front lines "helping the Marines."

The Seabees record led Gen. Douglas MacArthur to comment: "The only thing wrong with the Seabees is that there isn't enough of them."

Amphibious Construction Battalion Two will celebrate the anniversary with a party at the Gator Club at the Little Creek Amphibious Base on the night of March 5.

Miss Janet L. Stuart Named to Dean's List

Miss Janet L. Stuart, daughter of Capt. (USN) and Mrs. William A. Stuart of 302 52nd Street, is named to the Dean's List for the first semester at Mary Washington College.

Tidewater Area Camping Chairman, Mrs. Beasley Walker, spoke briefly on the changes and improvements at Camp Mooka. This year the camping periods will be over on visitors' Sunday and the campers will be able to return home with their parents.

Mrs. Robert McGlanaghan of Norfolk gave an interesting talk and showed color slides taken on her trip to the dedication of the Western Hemisphere Girl Scout Cabana in Mexico. Mrs. McGlanaghan and her family were warmly received by Lady Baden-Powell, founder of the Girl Scout World Association and the Chief World Guide. A display of Mrs. McGlanaghan's many souvenirs of Mexico was most colorful and interesting.

Other special guests for the evening included Mrs. Hope Kellam, Mrs. Georgia Harris, Mrs. Lynn Clark and many patient husbands.

Mr. Glenn Dill, a veteran of every dinner meeting, was absent due to illness and greatly missed by his friends.

$5,411,918 Budget Approved By PA County Board of Supervisors

Amphib SeaBees Plan 15th Birthday Celebration

A budget of $5,411,918 for 1957-58 was approved on the reading by the Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors Monday with the county's school operation being by far the largest item in the budget.

Faced with the possibility of losing 13.5 square miles to the City of Norfolk through annexation, the Board approved the overall sum which is slightly more than $350,000 over the past year's budget.

The school phase of the budget calls for a total of $2,795,094 and of this amount more than $2,000,000 is earmarked for instructional costs in the school system.

The budget message from Richard J. Webbon, executive secretary, notes:

"There will be no increases in the tax levies for the fiscal year 1957-58, except in the Seaboard District which must incur an increase of twenty cents per $100 of assessed value for the construction of the Court House School."

Tax rates for the other districts will remain the same, except for the East Ocean View Sanitation District's which decreases from $7.30 to $7.10.

The increase in this year's budget, according to Giles G. Dodd, comptroller, is reflected in the increase in the school operating fund which is up more than $500,000 over last year.

Webbon said in his message that Frank W. Cox, division superintendent of schools, had been "most helpful" in curtailing expenses and deferring capital outlays. The $2,795,094 school operating budget will be met through the $3 rate new in effect, Webbon said.

The executive secretary's message said that in considering the problems of the next fiscal year he had been required to make to Rudee Inlet at Virginia Beach, that the Princess Anne Water and Sanitation Authority be directed to undertake a study to determine the installation of a county-wide sewerage system and that the monthly payrolls to be increased in the county as soon as such a system could be completed, worked into the normal work of the comptroller's office.

Two Youths Held In Princess Anne Robbery Cases

PRINCESS ANNE — Assistant Judge Robert L. Simpson Monday day in Princess Anne Court held Gene Raymond Worthington, 18, and Ernest Carlton Holland, 19, for grand jury action on two charges each of grand larceny and another charge of armed robbery.

Both youths gave their addresses as Carolanne Farms in Princess Anne County. Both pleaded guilty, and bond was set at $1,000 for each of the grand larceny charges, and $5,000 for the armed robbery charge.

Woodhouse is a parole violator and is not eligible for bond, according to Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney J. Peter Holland.

Also held for grand jury action were seven other youths, Dennis Paulson, 18, and Berkey Anderson, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, and 24, all of whom were charged with grand larceny.

Delimma Of Modern Housewife Resolved By Mechanical Servant Such As Electric Housewares

Without any doubt, the life of the average housewife today is vastly more complicated than of her mother and grandmother before her. Today's housewife is at the mercy of a paradoxical way of life which places an ever growing burden on her time.

The pressure is constantly upon her to devote more and more time to the Parent-Teachers organizations and other civic activities such as fund raising drives. At the same time, her husband and family, with constantly increasing leisure time, on their hands, expect her to spend more of her time with them.

Out of this tug of war have come many interesting solutions. Among the most popular of these has been the use of increasing numbers of electric housewares which perform as veritable mechanical servants.

Whereas mother and grandmother spent many long weary hours, with the many household duties, today's homemaker is able to do her housework with the aid of the more than 30 electric housewares and still find time to keep herself and her home impeccably groomed and have time for her civic duties, entertainment of her friends and time to enjoy her family.

Woman hours saved in the kitchen leaves more time for the children and to attend church and community functions. It also makes more time available in the evenings for visitors and family activities.

The housewife's daily breakfasts are a simple routine of quickly squeezing juice with her electric juicer while a perfect cup of coffee is brewing from freshly ground coffee in a percolator or drip-type coffee maker. Bread is toasting to that just right degree of crispness preferred by the family while she is preparing a substantial dish of bacon and eggs in her electric skillet. The end result - a piping-hot breakfast in a matter of minutes.

A quick, nourishing lunch is easily fixed up on the sandwich grill, or on the waffle iron, for the children. At the same time Mother can whip up cookies or a delicious cake using her food mixer.

It is the time-saving and versatile electric housewares items that are the key to the modern housewife's new found freedom. Her blender will puree food for the baby, chop nuts and fruits and even mix cocktails in less time than ever before.

Her skillet will cook, bake and saute foods. The electric roaster will roast a medium size turkey, bake pies, cakes or rolls and cook vegetables which are kept piping hot at the table on the electric trivet.

Her family also benefits because she can serve them tasty roasts and steaks during the hottest weather using a broiler. A delightful meal - picnic style - can be served in the garden.

The modern housewife today has over 30 servants at her beck and call. Servants not only to cook but to keep her looking pretty. She now has time to keep her hair and clothing impeccable. Just as important, the labor saved leaves her feeling fit and able to join in the festive activities at any time during the day or evening.

Impromptu get-togethers are the fashion today, and the hostess who has friends drop in unexpectedly is never at a loss to whip together a delightful snack or even a full dinner. With all this extra activity, she can still find time to join in the fun.

The popularity of electric housewares is well deserved particularly when you consider the time and work they save.

That is why electric housewares make such wonderful gifts. Since newlyweds can use a whole wardrobe of electric housewares to start married life, they are ideal wedding gifts. Even couples who have been married for some time will appreciate any of the basic items which they do not possess as an anniversary gift.

Mother's Day, Father's Day, birthdays are all ideal opportunities to give someone you want to remember a suitable electric houseware gift that they will enjoy for many years to come. And friends or relatives who are going back to school or taking a trip will appreciate receiving one of these thoughtful reminders. Here is the basic list of electric housewares items. How many of them do you have?

Bed Covering, Blender, Bottle Warmer, Broiler, Clock, Coffee Grinder, Coffee Maker, Corn Popper, Deep Fat Fryer, Egg Cooker, Fan, Food Mixer, Hair Drier, Heating Pad, Hot Plate, Ice Cream Freezer, Ice Crusher, Iron, Juice Extractor, Knife Sharpener, Massager, Meat Grinder, Portable Heater, Roaster, Sandwich Grill, Shaver, Skillet, Toaster, Vaporizer, Vibrator, Waffle Iron.

County Budget Appears Sound

In this period of inflation and the high cost of all goods and services the Princess Anne County operating budget for 1957-58 which was passed on first reading by the Board of Supervisors last Monday appears sound and conservative. The overall figure of the budget is $5,411,918.

In a fast growing area such as Princess Anne County the proposed budget is far from being excessive. It represents an increase of slightly more than $350,000 over last year's budget.

As might be expected the school system cost is the largest single item in the proposed budget. This figure is set at $2,795,000.

The new and higher budget should also make sense to the taxpayer since it does not call for any increase in taxes, except in the Seaboard district where a small increase is proposed to pay for the cost of construction of the new Courthouse School. In the East Ocean View Sanitation District there is a decrease in the tax rate.

It would appear that much thought went into the preparation of the new budget. In his budget message, Richard J. Webbon, the executive secretary, pointed out the improvements in all departments of the county government. We believe the increase is a modest one in view of the rapid growth and expansion of the county.

North-South Route Gains Ground

The controversy raging over the routing of the proposed Chesapeake Bay bridge-tunnel crossing was again in the news this week, even though indirectly.

In a speech made to the Civilian Club in Norfolk Tuesday, Richard S. Holland, vice-chairman of the Chesapeake Bay Ferry Commission and the representative from Princess Anne County on that body, told the club members that the Commission should have an east-west ferry in operation between the Lower Peninsula and the Eastern Shore by 1958. He pointed out, however, that this depended on many factors.

Holland told the club that the "north-south" ferry route is the bread and butter for traffic crossing Virginia. He said an east-west ferry would be operated, but that it was estimated that it would lose $200,000 a year.

The Commission's Vice-Chairman was one of the early advocates of a north-south bridge-tunnel project across Chesapeake Bay. He warned early of the impending controversy over the routing of such a crossing. His warnings apparently went unheeded until a move was made by Peninsula interests to have the crossing an east-west route. Since that time a great deal of support has been given the north-south routing of the bridge-tunnel.

Holland has reiterated that final approval would depend largely on the engineering and traffic survey which is still in progress. He suggested that a north-south routing would enter this area near Chesapeake Beach in Princess Anne County.

This newspaper urges everyone to lend their effort and support to the north-south crossing since we believe that it would serve the best interests of the majority of persons and is the most logical routing of such a crossing of Chesapeake Bay.

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING

The "Cost" of Tight Money

Representative Wright Patman, as head of a subcommittee of the Joint Congressional Economic Committee, has been conducting this week what has become over the years a solemn, more or less regularly recurring, ritual on his part. While Mr. Patman makes it a practice to go into this ancient act of his every time money becomes tight, there is no record that he has ever thought it worth while to conduct one of his inquiries at a time when money was abnormally cheap, with the object of finding out why it was so cheap and what the possible consequences of such conditions were. We know, of course, from bitter experience that cheap money can do far more damage than tight money — the difference, so far as the politician and the business man are concerned, being that, unlike tight money, cheap money provides its own anesthetic for its victims in the form of inflation.

For example, Mr. Patman and his colleague on the subcommittee, Senator O'Mahoney of Wyoming, are greatly disturbed because tight money is making it more costly for municipalities to borrow money to build schools. No one, certainly, would, if it were avoidable, advocate a policy that tended to obstruct the nation's school-building program. But in discussing that subject it seems pertinent to consider at least two points that these members of the subcommittee have rather conveniently ignored. One of these is the fact that the cost of financing municipal projects starts out with a great initial advantage over financing of any other kind — namely, the advantage of tax exemption. In the second place, the only alternative that these committee members seem to have to offer in this situation is cheap money — an alternative that, if experience tells us anything, tells us that it would add many times as much to the cost as tight money.

For example, let us take the case of a school building costing roughly $100,000. The addition of a full 1 per cent to the interest rate on which such a building was financed would add but $1,000 to the cost. But in the period 1947-53, a period notoriously easy money, prices advanced more than 19 per cent. Roughly speaking, in other words, a school building that would have cost $100,000 to build in 1947 would cost $119,000 in 1951.

Wives Can Help Husbands Stay Alive

American men are literally killing themselves to produce "a better world" for their wives to live in — alone. To prove this statement, Hannah Les of Philadelphia, in an article in the March Reader's Digest condensed from her book, "Help Your Husband Stay Alive," cites these insurance company statistics:—

There are 7,000,000 widows in the country. Seventeen men die in their 40's for every 10 women. Eighteen men die in their 50's for every 10 women.

American women, who would prefer to have their husbands to the mink stole his overwork ears, can do more than a whole battery of psychiatrists to save their lives, Miss Les asserts in offering these suggestions.

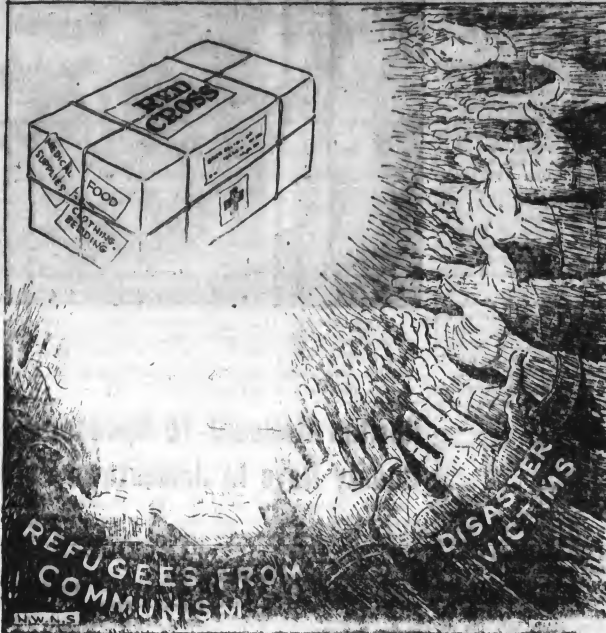

Help him relax. Make him happy to be a good father and husband. Find out why and try to do something about it. If your husband is growing away from you, broaden your interests and match his strides. At the University of Michigan, examination of 500 executives revealed more than half suffered diseases of which they were unaware which needed immediate attention. So make medical check-up appointments for him. If he needs more sleep, reduce his social engagements; if he is overweight, plan attractive low calorie meals.

Encourage walking, swimming, gardening, golf in moderation and other forms of light exercise for the sedentary man but don't expect a tired man to shovel now or do anything that makes him more tired.

Offer him love and the approval and admiration which too few get on their job. "There are a hundred different ways a man's wife can contribute to his happiness and well being if she once starts thinking about it," Miss Les concludes. "And the fine thing about this is that most of them are also ways of contributing to her own."

DEBT TO THE PAST
In the ancient mystical letters of the Ephesians, wrote Marcus Aurelius, "there was an item that one should always have in mind some one of the ancient worthies."

At a Kiwanis International convention in Portland, Oregon, one of the speakers was a Canadian who spoke in the course of his address of the permanence and power of principles and ideals. "Aaron dies and Moses passes," he declared, "but the ark of the covenant remains, untouched by the elements of time."

In the realm of mechanics, it is true that application, elaboration and else men are under debt to a young man who watched his mother's kettle boil and discovered the power of steam. No present-day Franklin conducts electricity down a kite string, but the world is indebted to the great man who demonstrated the force of electricity.

In the realm of the spirit, the "cloud of witnesses" of which the apostle writes, has left us imperishable example of faith and consecration. And as we follow the example left us, we ourselves shall leave "footprints on the sands of time."

Broiled "Roast" Beef For 2 Solves Leftover Problem

By Nancy Carter

Families of two always have a problem of how to have the king of meats, roast ribs of beef, without being faced with leftovers for a week after. Here's a wonderful solution. Just broil the roast! We have done many tests on this method of cooking and all taste-testers agree the meat is superb.

Broiling roast has two advantages. First, you can save cooking time. Where oven broiling would take about two hours, broiling takes only about one hour. Second, there is no great problem of leftovers. Just enough meat for a second excellent meal of cold roast beef or roast beef sandwiches, favorites with everyone.

HOW TO BROIL A ROAST

Buy a top quality 1-rib beef roast cut 2 to 2½ inches thick. This will weigh about 3 pounds. Quality beef is most important. This beef will be clear red in color with a liberal amount of white fat or "marbling". In your supermarket, look for beef with the government grade, U. S. Choice. Also look for the supermarket's own brand for that is your assurance of quality and money back guarantee of satisfaction.

Slash the fat edges at 1-inch intervals and broil exactly as you would a steak. Place meat on broiler rack so surface of meat is 5 inches from the source of heat. Allow 50 to 60 minutes for rare to medium rare, turning meat once during the broiling period. Carve the meat just as a roast. Have one meal hot and serve cold roast beef — few nights later.

FREE BEEF BOOKLET

If beef cookery is a problem, perhaps you would like to send for my free Beef Handbook which tells which cuts to buy, the correct cooking methods and cooking times, plus some of our best liked beef dishes. Just write to me: Nancy Carter, P. O. Box 4358, Atlanta, Ga. Just mention "Beef Handbook".

'The Founders' Army Reserve To Be Produced Pre-Camp Meet At Jamestown At Fort Story

The veteran production staff that has piloted "The Common Glory" for most of its 10 years will produce "The Founders." Paul Green's new historical drama of the Jamestown settlement.

Howard Scammon, assistant professor of fine arts at the College of William and Mary, will direct the new outdoor drama written especially for presentation during the Jamestown Festival. Scammon has been associated with "The Common Glory," Green's symphonic drama of the Revolutionary War, for 10 years, and has directed it for the past six summer-long seasons.

Scammon is the associate director of the William and Mary Theatre and also the director for the Restoration Players of Colonial Williamsburg, Inc.

The appointment of Scammon as director of "The Founders" was announced this week by the Jamestown Corporation, the non-profit organization that will sponsor the production. The new drama will be presented in "The Cove," a rustic amphitheatre now under construction in Matoaka Park on the campus of the College of William and Mary.

"The Founders" will open May 13, the 350th anniversary of the landing at Jamestown, and will be presented every afternoon, except Mondays, through October 19. During the summer months "The Common Glory" will be given for the 11th straight season in Matoaka Lake Amphitheatre. The Jamestown Corporation also has named Anthony Manz as associate director and stage manager for "The Founders." A graduate of William and Mary, Manz has served on the production staff of "The Common Glory" for the past 10 seasons.

Memorial Gift Living Tribute

A memorial gift to the American Cancer Society is a thoughtful gift—a living memorial. This tribute to friends and to loved ones means others are helped. These contributions support an increasingly large proportion of the American Cancer Society's program of research, education, and service. Each gift helps to educate the public concerning the need for early detection, supports service programs for those stricken with the disease, and gives material aid to cancer research programs in laboratories and hospitals.

In the plan for memorial giving, an attractive and dignified memorial card is sent the family of the deceased bearing the name of the donor and the name of the person honored. The donor receives an official receipt.

Your memorial gift may be mailed to the Princess Anne Unit of the American Cancer Society, 18th Street and Arple Avenue, Virginia Beach, Virginia. When sending this memorial, please include (1) the name of the individual in whose memory the gift is made; (2) the full name and address of person or persons to whom memorial card is to be mailed; and (3) your name and address, or you may call the Unit office at Virginia Beach 4575 for further information.

The Princess Anne Unit of the Cancer Society has available forms which may be used in the remittance of memorials and they may be picked up at the above address, or you may call the Unit office at Virginia Beach 4575 for further information.

Cub Scout Pack 60 Celebrates 47th Birthday

by Kay Daughite Sewall
On the evening of Wednesday, February 20, Cdr. David S. Bill, Jr., introduced a new boy to Cub Scout Pack 60, at their monthly meeting at the First Presbyterian Church.

By pure coincidence, the lad, whose name is James Newton Williams, couldn't have become a bobcat at a more auspicious time. For this was the occasion of the Cub's birthday party, which celebrated in bang-up style.

Pack meetings usually start at 7:30 p.m. This started at 6:30, with a banquet. Each of the 7 dens had its own banquet table. Fried chicken was the main dish, and all food was provided by mothers of the boys. Good food, too.

Someone volunteered the information that there were 226 present, an estimate which seems more than reasonable. Not only the Cub, but their mothers, fathers, sisters, brothers, and friends made up the guest list.

Each table had its own elaborate and individual decorations, the handiwork of the boys, with the aid of their own Den Mothers. They were varied, and festive. The judges must have had a hard time deciding which was "the best," but the award finally went to Den 1, which seemed to catch hold most accurately of the 47th anniversary theme.

Eight putty-nosed, putty-eared grape fruit-head kings in purple crowns and robes represented the 8 boys in the den. One king sat on a paper throne. A placard proclaimed, "King for a Night!" Den Mothers who must have had a hand in executing this project were Mrs. Hugh Lynn Cayce and Mrs. Ray Fronnberger.

Den 6 also worked primarily on the Cub theme. Down its table were spaced 7 platforms, with stage sets of modelling clay, and lively little figures of pipestems and paper. These stages demonstrated Den 6's major activities of the past 6 months—a loving tribute to their own personal experience in Cub Scouting.

Other dens celebrated not only the Cub's birthday, but those of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington as well. Den 7 had made a wonderful little George Washington on top of a cake, with Mount Vernon in cardboard over to the side. Den 3 honored Lincoln with ingenious log cabins and big altitudes of Lincoln's head, accented with bonafide Lincoln pennies.

Den 5 glorified not only the birthdays of these two eminent Americans, but also that of den member Peter Holland. Den 4 made dramatic use of miniature cherry trees. Den 2 brought in reminders of the 360th anniversary of the landing at Cape Henry. Patriotism was rampant.

Big surprise of the evening was the young and talented magician, Chuck Windley of Norfolk. He held his audience (including the parents) spellbound with his tricks and fast talking. He was introduced by Cubmaster Julian Burke.

Cdr. David S. Bill, a working Den 6 father, distributed the February awards with due ceremony. He struck a chord when he mentioned the fact that boys who achieve awards owe much to the aid of their parents. His own son, Windy, got his Wolf badge. "I can testify," said the Comm-der, "to the help his mother has given him."

In Den 1, got dawns on Wolf badges went to Robert Greenberg, Peter de Witt, Jeffrey Groves, Martin Salas, Gregory Cayce, Ken Fronnberger, Wolf, to Robert Webster; Service Star, to Philip Schwab.

In Den 2, Service Star plus gold and silver arrows on Wolf, to Jimmy Stivers; to Tommy Rice, silver arrow on Wolf.

In Den 3, Jim Hooper got his Bear badge; Peter Holland, Service Star; Juddy Burke, silver arrow on Wolf. In Den 4, Ashley House and Chris Goodard, gold arrows on Wolf and Lion; Chris Hudgens and Rick Denchey, silver arrows on Bear.

In Den 5, Windy Bill got his Wolf; Ricky Berquist, silver arrow on Wolf. In Den 6, Ashley House and Chris Goodard, gold arrows on Bear; Donald Parker, gold arrow on Wolf.

VEPCO Board Recommends Common Stock Split

The Virginia Electric and Power Company Board of Directors, meeting in Richmond, recommended to the stockholders for their approval a split-up of the Common Stock on a 2 for 1 basis. The Directors also approved a plan to sell additional Common Stock in June to raise about $22,000,000 and declared dividends on the Common and Preferred stock.

Donald C. Barnes, Chairman of the Board of the Company, said that the object of the Common Stock split was to broaden public interest in the stock and to increase the number of stockholders. Barnes said the split was recommended to the stockholders for their approval at the Annual Meeting on April 17, 1957 and was also subject to approval by regulatory commissions.

If the proposal is approved by the stockholders and authorized by the regulatory commissions it is expected that the Charter amendment necessary to accomplish the 2 for 1 split will become effective at the close of business on April 26, 1957. In that event, stockholders of record on that date will be entitled to one additional share for each share held and certificates for the additional shares will be mailed about May 1, 1957.

Other matters including certain other amendments to the Charter will also be submitted to the Annual Stockholders' Meeting on April 17 and detailed information will be contained in the proxy solicitation material to be mailed to stockholders about the middle of March.

Barnes said that to finance the $70,000,000 construction program for 1957, approved at the meeting it would be necessary to obtain about $42,000,000 this year from the sale of additional securities. The Directors approved, in principle, a plan to sell Common Stock in June to obtain about $22,000,000. It is proposed to sell the additional Common Stock through competitive bidding to underwriters who will make a public offering. In the fall the remainder of the funds is expected to be obtained from the sale of debt securities. The amount and kind of securities sold will depend on conditions at the time.

The Directors also declared a quarterly dividend of 45¢ per share on the Common Stock.

Quarterly dividends declared on the four series of Preferred Stock were: $1.25 per share on the $5 Dividend Preferred; $1.01 per share on the $4.04 Dividend Preferred; $1.05 per share on the $4.20 Dividend Preferred; and $1.03 per share on the $4.12 Dividend Preferred Stock. All the dividends are payable March 20, 1957 to shareholders of record at the close of business February 28, 1957.

Clarence J. Robinson of Alexandria, Virginia, was elected a Director of Virginia Electric and Power Company at a meeting of the Board in Richmond.

In announcing this election Donald C. Barnes, Chairman of the Board of the Company, said that Robinson succeeds Gardner I. Boothe, also of Alexandria, who resigned because of health.

Robinson, who attended the University of Virginia, is active in Alexandria civic and business affairs. He is President and a Director of First and Citizens National Bank of Alexandria, largest national bank in northern Virginia; and is one of the principal owners, President and Director of the Robinson Terminal Warehouse Corporation, which he established in 1939. Robinson is a veteran of the first World War.

He is a former president of the Alexandria Hospital and Alexandria Chamber of Commerce and is also a former vice chairman of the Virginia State Port Authority. Robinson is a vestryman of historic Christ Episcopal Church, is on the board and a member of the executive committee of the Episcopal schools for the Diocese of Virginia and is a member of the Virginia Foundation for Independent Colleges.

Boothe has served on the Vepco Board since 1944.

The Virginia Electric and Power Company Board of Directors, meeting in Richmond today, approved a record breaking construction budget for 1957 totalling $70,000,000. The Directors also authorized the installation of a 150,000 kilowatt steam generating addition to the Chesterfield Power Station near Richmond.

Erwin H. Will, President of the Company, said that the $70,000,000 budget was the largest in the Company's history and was about 12% above the previous high of $62,300,000 spent on new facilities in 1954. Will said that the facilities would be required to supply increased demands. The new generator at the Chesterfield Station is scheduled for completion in the Spring of 1960 and upon completion will increase the capacity of that station to 350,000 kilowatts.

The Vepco President added that this 150,000 kilowatt addition at Chesterfield together with other additions now under construction on the Vepco system which were scheduled for completion in 1957, 1958 and 1959 totalled 760,000 kilowatts. This will bring Vepco's system capacity to 1,900,000 kilowatts in 1960 as compared with present capacity of 1,150,000 kilowatts. Vepco had only 432,000 kilowatts of generating capacity in 1945.

The $70,000,000 construction program for 1957, according to Will, includes $35,000,000 for new generating facilities; $30,200,000 for the electric transmission and distribution system; $2,400,000 for service buildings, shops and store-rooms, including equipment; and $2,400,000 for mains and service facilities for gas operations.

Will said that almost $19,000,000 of the $35,000,000 to be spent on generating facilities would be spent in completing the initial 150,000 kilowatt generating unit at the new Yorktown Power Station and for work on a second 150,000 kilowatt unit at this station which is located adjacent to the new American Oil Company Refinery. This initial unit is scheduled to be in operation in the Summer of 1957 and when the second unit is completed in 1958 it is estimated that around $49,000,000 will have been spent at this location.

Work on the 150,000 kilowatt addition to the Breno power station, near Charlottesville, will require $12,500,000. This addition, which should be completed in 1958 will have a total cost of about $23,000,000 and will bring the installed capacity at Breno to 240,000 kilowatts.

At the Portsmouth power station, where the capacity is now 180,000 kilowatts, a 150,000 kilowatt generating unit is under construction which will be in operation in 1959. About $2,672,000 will be spent this year on this addition which will cost about $22,000,000 when completed.

Another $1,500,000 will be needed to complete, by Spring of this year, the 230,000 volt transmission line connecting the Possum Point power station, near Quantico, and the Chesterfield power station, near Richmond. This 93-mile line, according to the Vepco President, will operate at nearly twice the voltage of any line presently on Vepco's system and its total cost will run about $4,500,000.

A new 115,000 volt line from Breno Power Station, near Charlottesville, via Dooms to Staunton will call for $918,000 in 1957. This line is scheduled for completion in the Fall of 1957 at a total cost of about $1,000,000.

The System Repair and Maintenance Shop with Storerooms to be built in Richmond will call for $800,000. This facility scheduled for completion in 1958, will cost about $1,207,000.

The remaining $29,000,000 expected to be spent for other electric lines, substations, service facilities, storerooms, buildings and equipment is allocated approximately as follows: more than $6,600,000 will be spent in the Alexandria-Arlington-Fairfax area; $5,400,000 in the Norfolk-Portsmouth-Suffolk area; $4,600,000 in the Richmond area; $3,100,000 in the Charlottesville-Waynesboro-Staunton area; $2,300,000 in the Newport News-Hampton-Warwick-Williamsburg area; $2,000,000 in the South Boston, Altavista, Farmville and Crewe areas; $1,500,000 in the North Carolina area of operations; $1,300,000 in the Petersburg-Hopewell area; $1,100,000 in the Clifton Forge-Covington area; and $1,000,000 in the Fredericksburg and Northern Neck areas.

Of the $2,400,000 to be spent on Vepco's gas system, about $1,400,000 will be spent in the Norfolk area and $1,000,000 in the Newport News-Hampton-Warwick area.

Treasury Asks Congress for More Interest on Savings Bonds

The Treasury announced today that it has requested the Congress to enact legislation which will permit an increase in the interest rate on new sales of United States Savings Bonds.

The Treasury's request to the Congress called attention to the important role that the Savings Bonds program has played in our national life over the last 22 years, serving to encourage thrift and to place the Government's finances on a sound basis. Today about 40 million persons own more than $41 billion of Series E and H Savings Bonds.

Identical proposed bills were transmitted to the Senate and the House of Representatives today which would give the Treasury the same flexibility with regard to interest rates on Savings Bonds that it has on other types of Treasury bonds. Passage of the legislation will permit the Treasury to go forward with plans to offer improved interest rate terms on all Series E and H bonds sold on or after February 1, 1957.

If the proposed legislation is passed, the Treasury plans to increase to 3-1/4 percent the interest rate on new E bonds held to maturity, in place of the present 3 percent. The issue price and face value of the new E bond will be unchanged but the present 9 years and 8 months maturity will be shortened to 8 years and 11 months. Terms of any extension privilege for the new bonds will be determined later.

Also, redemption values of the new bond for the early years will be increased to provide a substantially higher yield to owners who find it necessary to redeem their bonds before maturity. The return on the new bond, if held 3 years, would be 3 percent, compared with 2-1/4 percent at present.

However, present owners of bonds will generally find it advantageous to continue holding them. For example, at $100 E bond has a redemption value of $79.20 when held two and a half years. That bond will earn $20.80 more to reach its full $100 value at first maturity, and this $20.80 is slightly more than 3-1/4 percent on $79.20 for the remaining period of 7 years 2 months, compounded semi-annually.

People holding bonds which have reached maturity and are being retained under the ten-year extension privilege will also find it to their advantage to continue holding them. Such bonds reaching the extension period since May 1952 are already paying a full 3 percent interest compounded semi-annually and are redeemable on demand, and bonds of an earlier period show a still greater return.

The Treasury also plans to offer, effective February 1, 1957, a revised 10-year Series H bond with yields generally comparable to the new E bond and returning 3-1/4 percent if held to maturity.

The new H bond, like the present bond, would pay interest by check each six months in contrast to the appreciation-type E bond.

On passage of the legislation all bonds dated February, 1957, or thereafter would bear the new terms automatically. Existing stocks of bonds in the hands of the Treasury's more than 30,000 E bond issuing agents would be used until supplies of the new bonds are available. Since the issue date on the bond would determine its terms, no purchaser who received an old form of bond dated February, 1957, or thereafter need feel that he should exchange it for a new bond when it is available — although he may if he wishes.

The E and H Savings Bonds rank among the best investments in the world for the average saver. The man who buys a Savings Bond has something that other bonds do not offer — complete freedom from market fluctuations. He also has something many other forms of saving do not have — a guaranteed interest rate over a period of years. He has the unusual protection of safety against the physical loss or destruction of his securities; a million separate bonds have been replaced by the Treasury over the years.

Series E bonds have acquired greater attractiveness in recent years because of the country's substantial success in curbing inflation. Government fiscal and monetary policies will continue to be directed toward the twin goals of economic growth and stability in the value of the dollar.

Because of the more attractive features of the new Series E and H bonds, the limit on bonds which may be purchased by one individual in any one year is being reduced from $20,000 to $10,000 face amount for each series. The Treasury is withdrawing the present investment-type Series J and K bonds from sale, effective April 30, 1957. Both of these decisions underline the Treasury's desire to emphasize the Savings Bond as a security designed for millions of average individual American sav-

Every Savings Bond you paid $75 for 10 years ago

Is worth $100 today... will be worth $134.68 in 10 years more.

Part of every American's savings belongs in U. S. Savings Bonds

If you hold U. S. Series E Savings Bonds that mature this month you can give yourself a pat on the back for the wise buy you made. For every three dollars you invested in 1947, you have four dollars now. (And, had you spent that money 10 years ago, chances are whatever you bought would have been long since worn out.)

Today you can be even smarter. All you do is just hold onto those Bonds. Keep them for another ten years and you'll get $1.80 for every dollar you put into them. For example, a Bond you bought for $37.50 will pay you back $67.34! And the best part of it is you don't have to do anything but keep your Bonds. No papers to sign. Not even a visit to the bank is necessary.

Remember this, too! Savings Bonds are one of the safest investments you can make. Your principal is guaranteed safe up to any amount—and your rate of interest is guaranteed sure—by the United States Government.

So keep the Savings Bonds you have now and add to them either through Payroll Savings or by buying Bonds where you regularly bank.

'Barrets of Wimpole' Street' to Play at Beach

One of the world's great love stories is brought to the screen in "The Barrets of Wimpole Street," with a cast headed by Jennifer Jones and John Gielgud and co-starring Bill Travers and Virginia McKenna.

Based on the Rudolf Besler stage play in which Katherine Cornell scored one of her greatest successes, the M-G-M picture was filmed in England in CinemaScope and color under the direction of Sidney Franklin, the director who gave the screen such memorable pictures as "Mrs. Miniver" and "The Good Earth." It was produced by Sam Zimbalist.

"The Barrets of Wimpole Street" tells the story of two famous literary figures, Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning, whose love affair was forbidden by Elizabeth's tyrannical father but who succeeded in achieving their happiness despite the determination of Edward Moulton-Barrett to separate them.

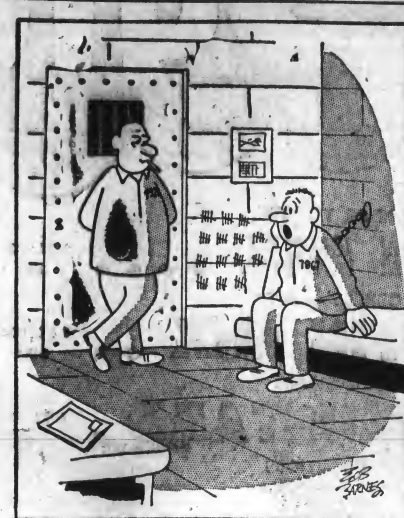

Jennifer Jones, in 1956 voted by the nation's moviegoers as the most popular actress on the screen, follows her hits in "The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit" and "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing" with the part of Elizabeth Barrett, whose love for the poet Robert Browning refused to be denied.

The latter role is played by Bill Travers, handsome British star who won himself a legion of American fans as the result of his role opposite Ava Gardner in "Bhowani Junction."

John Gielgud, one of the greatest actors on the contemporary stage, portrays the dominating father, with Virginia McKenna, who from England, making her first appearance in a Hollywood produced film in the role of Elizabeth's impulsive younger sister.

There are scenes, laughter and moving dramatic episodes in "The Barrets of Wimpole Street," and it is primarily a story of a love that won out over all obstacles.

Basketball Tournament Under Way at Princess Anne High School

Beginning on Feb. 27, there will be a basketball tournament for the sixth grade from six different schools in Princess Anne County. The tournament will continue through March 2nd, at 8:00 P. M. in the gym of the Princess Anne High School.

The six school teams which will participate in the three day meet are: Princess Anne, Kempville, Ocean, Credes, Princess Anne Court House, and Virginia Beach. All these teams are playing good ball and by tournament time, they will have played each other at least twice.

Coch. Frear, Chairman of the eighth grade tournament, said, "Out of all the teams, Kempville and Ocean seem to be the best and they have had the best season."

The reasons for this tournament is three-fold: (1) to see who will play basketball for Princess Anne High School in future years to come; (2) to give more grade school students interested in becoming basketball players; (3) to give more grade school students interested in becoming basketball players.

Coch. Frear said that he was looking forward to having a good time with the boys in the tournament.

The teams must report to the tournament manager, Coach Frear, upon arrival at the site to receive dressing room assignments, towels, and other necessities.

Admission to all students, both grade and high school, will be taken from the gate receipts. Profits or losses will be prorated equally among the participating schools.

The schedule of events is as follows: Thursday, Feb. 28th: Game 1 at 7:00 P. M.; Game 2 at 8:00 P. M.
Friday, March 1st: Game 3 at 3:30 P. M.; Game 4 at 4:30 P. M.; Saturday, March 2nd: Game 5 at 7:00 P. M.; Game 6 at 8:00 P. M.

AAA Asks Parents To Aid Schools

The AAA safety poster theme for March is "Play Away From Traffic," and the Tidewater Automobile Association is asking parents to cooperate in the drive to find safe play areas for children.

"Playing in or near streets is ranked as the single most dangerous practice for children," Mr. John B. Day, Vice President, said. "Last year, approximately 1,000 boys and girls under 15 years old were struck and killed by automobiles, thousands more were injured, the motor club official, said. "Many of these deaths and injuries resulted from children playing in or running into the street. Our safety education program for March will be aimed at eliminating this practice by teaching children the many dangers involved."

Spearheading the safety lessons will be an eye-catching poster drawn for the AAA National Safety Poster Contest last year by Nick Nicholas, a senior at Cass Technical High School, Detroit, Michigan. The poster was a first prize winner in the contest and was selected by a board of prominent artists and educators to be distributed to class rooms throughout the country by affiliated AAA motor clubs.

Mr. Day asked parents to join in the effort by requesting the safety rule, "Play Away From Traffic," at home, and to help their children select safe places in which to play.

March of Dimes Drive

The March of Dimes spearheaded by Miss O. F. Daugherty and Mr. W. J. Watson was well supported by the student body. To date a total of $450.50 has been raised. Interest in the Drive was greatly fostered by the posting of a thermometer graph in the main corridor showing the progress of each class toward reaching its quota.

Two Costume Balls Celebrated at Virginia Beach

Two costume balls were celebrated at Virginia Beach last week. The first event was the second Artists and Models Ball, held in the Cavalier Club Ballroom on Friday under the auspices of the Virginia Beach Art Assn. with the purpose of raising funds to build a permanent art center at the beach.

The theme was Mexico, with emphasis on bull fighting. Fifty tables were decorated with red and white cloths, each with a Mexican donkey cart centerpiece filled with flowers. Mrs. Braden Vahdeventer Jr., was in charge of the decorating with Mrs. F. A. Van Patten of the Va. Beach Garden Club assisting with the flowers.

Joel Carlson of WTAR-TV, and Comdr. Wynn V. Whidden judged the costumes.

Mrs. Earle C. Van Buskirk, Mrs. Lawrence Tucker, Mrs. James Parsons, Mrs. Howard Eager and Mrs. M. B. Walker wore authentic and elaborate costumes from Mexico and Spain, but the prize winners were those who dreamed up their own costumes. The best man's costume went to Comdr. Robert Crutchfield as the Mad Hatter. Mrs. Lawrence B. Wades Jr. won the award for the best woman's costume. She wore a matador's outfit picked up in a pawn shop in Spain.

Mrs. Alice G. Parker came as a bull in a china shop. She made her own pink mask and had broken paper plates attached to her dinner dress.

Ball number two was Saturday evening at the Princess Anne Country Club. This was a Mardi Grass Ball with J. Owen Campbell as its Queen and J. Peter Holland III, as the King. The major domo was Comdr. W. V. Whidden. Mrs. Vivian B. Hodson Jr. was the court jester. Mrs. R. Dawson Taylor was the princess. Mrs. Cecil Carpenter wore a large brassy sniffer with water inside and a real live gold fish on her head, the effect was sensational on the dance floor.

Mrs. Peter Holland III came as Carmen Miranda with a basket of artificial fruit attached to her head.

One table came as a royal flush. All wore black, with huge painted explanatory cards. Ward Cole was the ace. Nere Day the king. Mrs. Ward Cole the queen. Mrs. Day the jack. Mrs. Donald Clark the 10. Mr. and Mrs. Goodwyn Jordan the jokers, and Mrs. W. V. Whidden was the full house.

Mrs. T. N. P. Johnson, a member of the Princess Anne House Committee served as chairman.

The MIXING BOWL..

IT'S Fun TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

For the very latest in food fads and foibles... for practical, down-to-earth recipes that please both palate and pocketbook, read the "Mixing Bowl" by Lucile Clark each Thursday in the Sun-News.

The apple is the apple of any good cook's eye - for more reasons than one!

If there was ever a busy food it's this bouncy, tasty fruit which can land its zesty flavor to every meal of the day - from apple-juice breakfast eye-opener to the mid-night snacks of juicy crisp apples with crackers & cheese - and by the way - one of my favorites is a lush butter cream & a juicy firm apple - mighty good combination. I think in winter are hundreds of mouth-melting possibilities - in-cold fresh apple dishes - apple pies - tarts, strudels, dumplings, fritters, candies, sauces, jams & pickles.

Moreover, the modern homemaker knows that the apple is as good for the family's "department of the interior" as it is delightful to the palate. In addition to providing essential vitamins & minerals, the pectin in which apples are so rich, aids digestion. And a fresh apple eaten raw has a fine detergent effect on the teeth.

There are almost as many kinds of apples as there are luscious ways of serving the fruit. Among popular varieties available, thanks to today's efficient storage, are Winesap, Golden Delicious, Yorks. These are found all winter & far into the spring - with crispness & juiciness unimpaired.

The well-loved eating apple, the rosy pink or golden delicious is in fine supply. Ripe Beauty, the beauty that wears its red with touch of gold, is the most popular baker on the market. McIntosh & Baldwins are also in good supply. Apple Cultivation apparently started with the beginning of agriculture in Europe.

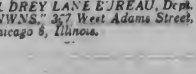

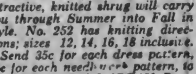

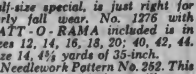

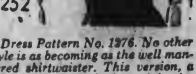

The Writer Theophrastus mentions them growing in Greece in the 4th Century B.C. Paris, that impetuous lover of Greek Mythology, indirectly started the Trojan War by giving the symbolic golden apple to Aphrodite instead of to Hera or Athena, the other two goddesses who wanted it.

The United Fresh Fruit & Vegetable Association suggests these interesting ways to serve the delicious, healthful apple.

SPRING MAKES THE DIFFERENCE

As you gaze at this scene of snow, ice, and leafless trees, your mind may skip ahead and picture green grass, abundant foliage, and a rippling stream. The very thought brings happiness. Spring makes the difference.

As grass, trees, and streams are fettered by winter, so some lives are bound by doubt, unbelief, lack of faith, and false ideas. When they come in contact with the Church, the love of God sets them free. They see new beauty in everything about them, and others see new beauty in their lives. As spring brings all nature to new life, so God's love makes human beings happier, gives them life more abundant.

No matter how strong the fetters which bind you, freedom can be yours through the Church and the message it brings to all. Why not accept that freedom today?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALONE FOR THE CHURCH

Let us think for the building of the Church, its character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. — Rev. J. H. H. H.

NEWS FOR VETERANS

The risk of sudden death at surgery has been reduced through the development of a new instrument by scientists and doctors at the Hines, Ill., Veterans Administration Hospital.

Called a "Cardiac Monitor," the transistorized device permits continuous and instantaneous monitoring of the heartbeat during surgery and for use during non-surgical emergencies.

The meter warns the doctor that the heart is not working properly and that remedial steps are indicated.

Standard electrocardiograph electrodes are strapped on the forearms of the patient. These pick up the cardiac impulse and feed it into the machine. This impulse is amplified by the transistor circuit and indicated on a meter.

Controls consist of amplitude and fidelity knobs. A phone jack is provided should it be desirable to feed the heartbeat into a recording device or headphones.

The use of transistors and small batteries makes the unit portable. It is housed in a 6x5x4 inch aluminum case that is equipped with a carrying handle. The total weight is 3 pounds. The power supply consists of four standard-sized flashlight batteries.

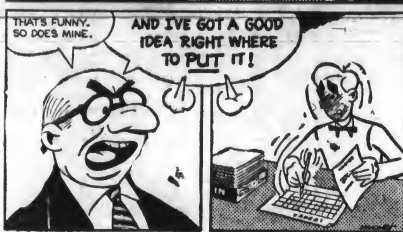

The monitor has been successfully tested at Hines Hospital. It has provided an immediate diagnosis of irregular heart action and may anticipate stoppage of the heart. It has even been able to provide monitoring of the heart rate during profound shock when the patient was clinically pulseless, VA said.

Q—My husband, a World War I veteran, died after January 1, 1957, of a service-connected illness. Would I have a chance of receiving death compensation payments under the new Survivors' Benefits Act?

A—You would not have a choice. Families of veterans who die of service-connected conditions after January 1, 1957, are eligible only for Indemnity Compensation payments under the new Survivors' Benefits Act.

FORT STORY TELLINGS

CHARITY CHECKS

FORT STORY, Va. — Donations have been mailed to the local chapters of a number of charitable organizations, according to Major Herman Nadler, chairman of the Fort Story United Charity Drive.

The organizations include the United Cerebral Palsy, American Red Cross, March of Dimes, Heart Association, Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, Tuberculosis and Health Association, the American Cancer Society and Youth Aid, Inc. A check was also sent to the Crusade for Freedom.

A special $500 check is due to be presented to the Virginia Beach Rescue Squad, Captain William McDonnell will receive the check on behalf of the Squad.

A Norfolk native has been named new secretary of the Fort Story Non-Commissioned Officers Club, replacing Master Sergeant Jack Keeney of Charleston, West Virginia, who has moved over to the Officer's Club.

Master Sergeant Robert N. Thompson, 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul N. Thompson of the 1000 block of Warwick Avenue, was assigned to the NCO Club from the job of post personnel sergeant which he held here since March of 1955.

A graduate of Norview High School in 1947, the year he joined the Army, Thompson was assigned to Fort Story once before in 1952 and 1953. Before entering the service, he was a stock clerk for an A&P store in Ocean View.

Keeney, who built the NCO Club into a $125,000 a year operation, is now manager of the Fort Story Officers Open Mess. He is also secretary of the 24-member Tidewater Chapter of the Club Manager's Association of America.

CIVILIAN PERSONNEL

Only two civilian vacancies remain to be filled by this Army Transportation Corps post's civilian personnel division.

When Operation Teammate—the Army plan which put civilians into many formerly military slots—opened here in 1955, a high of 48 vacancies was reached at one point. Since then, the unfilled vacancies have steadily decreased. Now only two positions, both highly technical, remain uncommitted.

In charge of the Fort Story civilian personnel office is attractive, petite Mrs. Doris Blomme, a career civil servant of a dozen years' standing. Mrs. Blomme manages Fort Story's work force of nearly 400 employees with a staff of one, her secretary, Miss Audrey Taylor.

According to Mrs. Blomme, turnover at Fort Story has dropped to an extraordinarily minute four per cent. She estimates that approximately 60 per cent of the Army civilians have been here more than five years.

L. B. Epps, Fort Eustis civilian personnel chief for the entire Army Transportation Training Command—which includes Fort Story—pointed out that her record at Fort Story is especially favorable when compared Army-wide or even with his own operation. "She's doing far better than we are," he said.

The uncommitted vacancies are for a high-level civil engineer and for a guided missile control system installer and repairer.

Mrs. Blomme was employed in civilian personnel by the Army Engineer Corps in Wilmington, North Carolina before transferring to Fort Story in April of 1952. She expects an assignment in Europe in the near future.

BARC'S TO SHIPYARD

The fourth BARC, the gigantic amphibians stationed at Fort Story, has entered Horne Brothers Shipyards at Newport News.

The BARC (Barge, Amphibious, Resupply, Cargo) weighs 98 tons and is capable of carrying up to 100 tons of cargo on both land and water. The only four of these—the world's largest "trucks that swim"—are based at Fort Story and are in the shipyards for overhaul and general repairs before operations in the Far North this summer. This year will mark the third consecutive time that Army Transportation Corps troops—in cooperation with the Military Sea Transport Service—has carried supplies and equipment to the vital radar sites and military installations near the Arctic Circle.

The first two BARC's went to Newport News for repairs approximately two weeks ago. The third entered earlier last week and the final vehicle came up the bank from the James River last Friday (February 22).

DRAMA HERE

A jury chosen from soldiers in the audience will decide the fate of the defendant in the courtroom drama "The Night of January 16" which will be presented by the Virginia Beach Little Theater Group in the service club tomorrow night (March 1).

Curtain time will be 8:30 p. m. for the drama, which depicts a murder trial. A jury, chosen from the audience as it enters, will decide the guilt or innocence of the person on trial. The play has been playing in Virginia Beach and Princess Anne this week.

Mrs. Joe LaGrella is Karen Andre, the defendant in the trial. Others in the cast are Lon Backman, G. Richard Minnick, Bruce McGuire, Jack Garrison, Billie Atwill, Allen Trier, David Alfred, Ann McNamara, Anne Henry, Bill Britton, Neal Thomas, Jack Postell, Del Northrup, Helen Ertman, Vivian Roberts, Louise Jesse, Judith Spindler and Rosemary Minnick.

Cavalier Garden Club Meet Hears Mrs. Mabel Davis

The Cavalier Garden Club held its regular monthly meeting at the Princess Anne Country Club on Feb. 20th, Mrs. E. A. Hofmeister presiding.

Mrs. Mabel Davis was the speaker before a very appreciative and responsive audience. She delighted the members by her lovely and unusual arrangements in which she used fresh flowers and material and dried flowers, roots, branches and briar vines. Mrs. Davis is a member of Cape Henry by the Sea garden club and is well known as a lecturer and demonstrator of Virginia and Tidewater Federation.

Awards for arrangements were given as follows: A gold seal to Mrs. Walton Saunders, a blue seal to Mrs. C. M. Rau and Mrs. Mahone Tarrall, two reds to Mrs. Fred Barham and one to Mrs. B. K. Lindeman, a yellow to Mrs. Kermit Robinson, Mrs. R. P. Maul and Mrs. Mason Johnson. The judges were members of the Junior Virginia Beach Garden Club.
